NATIONAL MOVE LAUNCHED FOR VETERANS' CUT

FURTHER REDUCTION IN U. S. COST STUDIED

Economy League Will Join in Fight at Congress Inquiry.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Business groups and chambers of commerce throughout the country are being circularized by the United States Chamber of Commerce to support its drive for a $400,000,000 cut in veterans' costs, as the opening wedge for Federal economies doubling that amount.

A revised report of the chamber's committee on Federal expenditures, itemizing veterans' benefits it seeks to curtail, yesterday was mailed to members bodies. Business men were urged to get behind the chamber's campaign.

The special committee will meet again within the next 30 days, and new Federal savings bringing Federal economies to $800,000,000 will be considered.

Expense Cuts Studied.

Members of the chamber's Washington staff are busy gathering data for this second meeting. Personnel costs, public works, construction projects and activities "improperly" competitive with business are being studied as potential timber.

Meanwhile, the National Economy League, whose drive for Federal expense cutting parallels the chamber's campaign, prepared to open Washington offices. Aubrey E. Taylor, former Washington newspaper man, is information director.

Both chamber and league will launch their fight to shave veterans' costs before the special joint congressional committee, which late this month will open its inquiry into soldiers' relief legislation.

Arraigned against them, in defense of existing benefits, will be the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, while the Disabled American Veterans will concentrate on defense of service connected disabilities.

Investigation Is Cited.

Attention was called to the congressional investigation in the chamber's statement mailed out yesterday.

"The existence of this committee," read the report, "in our judgment, offers an opportunity for business organizations of the country and others who are interested to press for definitive action in the coming session of Congress in the matter of such economies, and in particular to assist in establishing a more satisfactory national policy."

The chamber's committee estimates that at least $400,000,000 in savings could be realized by denying compensation for disabilities not clearly proved to be service connected, by denying hospitalization for disabilities not attributable to service, by

St. Marys Holdup Suspect Gives Up

Accused of Robbing Man in Attack Which Was First of Series.

Leonardtown, Md., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Elmer Buckler tonight surrendered to Sheriff Richard T. Hammett to answer to charges of assaulting and robbing Richard H. Sears at Helen, Md., on September 30.

William Owens, another of the trio named in the warrant, was taken into custody ten days ago and released on bail furnished by his mother, Mrs. Lena Owens, of Mechanicsville, who also posted bond for Buckler tonight. The third person wanted has not been apprehended.

The warrant was sworn out by Sears before Magistrate John R. Dorsey on October 5. The attack was the first of a series of robberies and holdups in southern Maryland last month, but authorities did not connect Buckler and Owens with the other robberies. Authorities said they have a confession from Owens in which he said he "wanted to show how tough he was."

Greek Towns Rocked By Violent Earthquake

Athens, Greece (Wednesday), Nov. 2 (A.P.).—A violent earthquake was felt today throughout the Chalcidice. Several buildings collapsed and the people fled into the open country.

The severest shocks were felt near Polygyros, Stageira, Travoniki and Ierissos. Saloniki and vicinity also were severely shaken.

Glass Flays Hoover; Mills Defends Acts

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mills said last night, in replying to a radio address by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, that the administration's efforts to block the depression had been "constructive, coherent and well cushioned to protect the American people."

Speaking over the same broadcasting chain as had the Virginia Democrat, Mills said he had not doubted that Glass would disavow the legislative proposals of the Democratic House, but he said Franklin D. Roosevelt had not taken his place alongside the senator.

"He would not disavow the record," Mills said, referring to the Democratic nominee. "Would he had the senator's courage."

Explaining his prompt reply to the senator, of plans for which Glass had spoken in concluding his address, Mills said it made no difference whether he spoke immediately while the issues were fresh or waited until later.

"I have to disagree with most of the senator's promises," the Secretary said, "and all of his conclusions."

Regarding Senator Glass' assertion that the administration encouraged the sale of foreign securities in this country, Mills said there was no evidence to this effect, that the Federal Government could not prohibit the Senator Says President Backed Inflation Measures.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Glass, of Virginia, last night said that President Hoover submitted to the last Congress "inflationary proposals that would have rocked the foundations of our banking system."

In his first speech of the campaign, released by the Democratic national committee in advance of its delivery over the radio, the former Secretary of the Treasury and second ranking Democrat on the Senate banking committee, assailed the Hoover administration and urged the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Presidency.

He denied statements of President Hoover and his supporters that economic troubles had their origin in Europe, and the Republican assertion that Democrats impeded administration efforts to balance the budget and improve business. In addition, he said President Hoover is claiming credit for measures that could have been enacted only with Democratic cooperation.

Of the inflationary proposals which he attributed to the President, he said that if they had been enacted they would "not only have tempted foreign raids on our gold reserves but would have incited a dangerous domestic demand for redemption."

"Had these proposals been adopted,"

BURKE STARTS DRIVE TO BALK CRIME SPREAD

Squad Picked to Assist in Safeguarding All Business Firms.

WINTER RISE FEARED IN THEFT ATTEMPTS

Banks Will Be Inspected to Insure Protection From Would-Be Robbers.

Expressing the opinion that criminal operations may increase this winter, Assistant Superintendent of Police Frank S. W. Burke, in charge of the Detective Bureau, yesterday organized a squad of 39 picked men to contact all business houses and banks in the city and inform them how to safeguard against robbery.

In a letter to the presidents of banking houses, Inspector Burke introduced Detective Sergts. Frank O. Brass and Floyd Truscott, who were detailed to explain protective measures. Other members of the picked squad will make a survey of all business houses and, in the company of the proprietor, will determine if the premises are reasonably secure against burglary.

Among the factors of safety which will be considered is the disposition of money during and after business hours. Police will recommend that only a small amount of money be kept in the cash register of a business house, especially during evening business hours. An inspection of the doors, windows, transoms, trap doors and safes will be made in cooperation with the proprietors of the business establishments.

Reports Will Be Made.

Police will urge proprietors to notify them whenever they are approached by individuals endeavoring to dispose of articles at prices suspiciously lower than regular wholesale quotations.

A report of the survey will be submitted to Inspector Burke each Sunday morning under the following classifications: (a) Business places reasonably secure against burglary. Those equipped with burglar alarms, and watchmen employed on the premises, or considered reasonably secure in all other respects; and (b) business places with apparent weakness of protection against burglary with recommendations for improvements advised.

The police detail was divided so that the men will operate in every section of the city. Two privates, commanded by a sergeant, will make the survey in the outlying sections and more men will be detailed to the downtown areas.

In the letter to banking houses Inspector Burke asked for their cooperation to the end that, "if humanly possible," bank robberies be prevented.

Letter Sent to Banks.

The letter follows, in part: "Briefly, in the past year there have been two banks held up during the regu-

Prince Frederick Physician Killed

Dr. Edward Quarles, 57, prominent physician of Prince Frederick, Md., was fatally injured early yesterday when he walked into the side of a heavy truck, operated by John L. Corr, 42, of Richmond, Va., at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue during a heavy downpour of rain.

Taken to Emergency Hospital for treatment of a fractured skull, jaw and leg, Dr. Quarles died several hours after arrival. Corr is being held pending a coroner's inquest at 11 a. m. today.

The doctor lived in Island Creek, Md., but had offices in Prince Frederick. He was staying at the Willard Hotel while visiting the city. He is survived by his wife and a brother, John Quarles, of Washington.

SCORES HURT IN LONDON RIOTING AS POLICE FIGHT HORDES OF IDLE, TURNED AWAY FROM COMMONS

This photograph shows the famous Strand of London, which, with Trafalgar Square, Pall Mall, Whitehall and other well known places, was the scene of vicious street fighting yesterday between crowds of hunger marchers and police. Swinging truncheons and rearing horses caused hurts to scores.

Many Are Seized After 3 Hours Of Fighting.

Trafalgar Square Is Vortex of Battle; Cars Stopped.

London, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Thousands of rioting unemployed men and women and their sympathizers fought a series of savage battles with mounted and foot police for more than three hours tonight in many of the chief streets of London.

The sharpest fighting occurred when strong groups of mounted men charged mobs in Trafalgar Square, Pall Mall, The Strand, Whitehall and Victoria Embankment. Many persons were arrested and scores were injured.

The rioters had been chased away from Trafalgar Square, the vortex of the fighting, by the time the theaters let out, but groups of theatergoers in silk hats and tail coats had to call for police protection from angry detachments of snarling men.

Permission Is Denied.

The riots were the bitter conclusion of six days of uneasiness in London resulting from columns of hunger marchers converging on the capital from all parts of the island to protest against the method in which the government dole is administered.

The hunger marchers sought to present their case at the bar of the House of Commons. In obedience to the tradition that petitions must be presented by a member of the House, permission was denied them, and thereupon they announced that they would force their way into tonight's session.

They failed to accomplish this aim. The police, swinging their batons and riding into barrages of stones and bottles, broke up processions organized in different parts of the city. But first of all the authorities moved against the demonstration by arresting Walter Hannington, Communist leader of the hunger marchers, who was charged with inciting the London police to mutiny.

Go Toward Parliament.

After the processions had been broken up, the jobless started drifting toward Parliament in small groups.

By 7:30 p. m., when the marchers had expected to reach the Parliament buildings, spectators anxious for a thrill, thronged all nearby streets. Strong police forces guarde dthe entrances to Parliament and mingled with the crowds. Nearby, at Scotland Yard, other detachments were held in readiness.

By 8 o'colck the huge press of spectators overflowed into the streets, blocking traffic and pushing dangerously near to the massive iron gates leading into Parliament.

Then the mounted police filed silently out of Scotland Yard, converging on the square from three different directions. The crowd booed and cat-called.

Speedily Clear Streets.

The mounted men quickly cleared the streets surrounding Parliament, and strong detachments of foot police held back the throngs in White-

HOOVER APPROVES CAMPAIGN WIND-UP

Will Leave Tomorrow to Go to Midwest Again; Trip to California Due.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Rested after his arduous one-day trip along the North Atlantic seaboard, President Hoover approved plans yesterday for the whirlwind finish of the Republican national campaign late this week in the pivotal Middle Western States.

Leaving Washington tomorrow afternoon, he will deliver a series of platform addresses through Indiana and Illinois Friday before stopping at Springfield for a major address Friday afternoon. Friday night he will speak from St. Louis over a Nation-wide radio hookup.

Beyond St. Louis, tentative plans call for a swing through Wisconsin to Minneapolis and St. Paul for an address Saturday night and thence a hurried trip to Palo Alto, Calif., where the President and Mrs. Hoover would arrive next Tuesday in time to vote at their accustomed home precinct polling place on Stanford University campus.

Definite announcement concerning the West Coast trip, however, is not expected until later in the week, as railroad men still are working out details of the itinerary.

Meanwhile, the President will address his home State tonight over a special telephone set-up from the White House to a Los Angeles broadcasting station. His address will be part of State-wide ceremonies in observance of California Day.

Present plans for the California trip also call for a brief stop along the route Monday night for a national broadcast appeal to voters everywhere to go to the polls on elec-

CROWDS BRAVE RAIN TO SEE ROOSEVELT

Thousands in Half a Dozen Towns Cheer Him on Way to Albany.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt returned to the executive mansion about 10 o'clock tonight after his campaign trip through New England. The governor motored from Hartford, Conn., without going to Hyde Park, where he originally planned to spend the night.

Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, the governor's daughter, rode with him into Albany. A supper was waiting for them when they reached the executive mansion.

Past thousands of rain-drenched Massachusetts and Rhode Island Democrats, Gov. Roosevelt sped through the heart of industrial New England today on the last lap of his automobile tour of the Northeastern States.

In half a dozen towns and cities men and women stood by the thousands in a driving rainstorm to watch the automobile of the Democratic presidential candidate splash through the slippery streets on his return from Boston.

One of the most striking demonstrations came at Worcester, where in Salem Square hundreds of men and women huddled under umbrellas to cheer for the candidate while the wind swept a pelting rain in to drench them from the waist down.

The nominee spoke a few words into the microphone of a loud speaker that was handed to him through the window of his closed car. He told them that the demonstrations he had witnessed had convinced him that the Democrats would carry Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Providence turned out thousands. The rain already had begun to fall

Heirlooms of Adm. Dewey Are Awarded to His Son

Compromise Settlement of Controversy Over Division of Estate in Will Is Believed Indicated by Action in Court.

Many of the priceless heirlooms of Admiral George Dewey, hero of Manila Bay, have been awarded to his son, George Goodwin Dewey, of Chicago, it was learned in the District Supreme Court yesterday when Justice Oscar R. Luhring ordered them surrendered to him.

At the same time attorneys representing persons who are contesting the last will of Mrs. Mildred McLean Dewey refused to discuss other details of a settlement of the controversy. Mr. Dewey, a stepson of Mrs. Dewey, was cut off in the last will of his stepmother.

The Dewey Loving Cup, given to the admiral after his exploits at Manila Bay by 70,000 Amercians; special commendations of Congress, foreign decorations and cups and badges were given the son of the admiral. All the articles had been in the possessions of the National Savings & Trust Co. and Frederick Stohlman, collectors of the estate.

The action in awarding the mementos to Dewey indicated that the settlement that had been hoped for had been effected. All of the articles were in the estate left by Mrs. Dewey, and the awarding of a part of her estate without opposition indicated that attorneys had completed a compromise between litigants.

Among the articles awarded to Mr. Dewey were: A joint resolution of Congress, signed by President McKinley, Vice President Hobart and Speaker Thomas B. Reed; the Commodore's pennant, flown at the Battle of Manila Bay on the flagship Olympia; 13 spears; a shield with 16 Philippine weapons; a loving cup presented by the Piccadilly Club; a tankard presented by the Japanese government; repousse punch bowl, ladle and base, presented by the citizens of St. Louis; a covered silver loving cup made from a bag of money melted at the Battle of Manila; a large urn-shaped vase presented to Admiral Dewey by citizens of Savannah, Ga.; a large number of photographs and books of the hero of Manila Bay.

'PRETTY BOY' FLOYD ROBS HIS HOME BANK

Sallisaw, Okla., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, notorious outlaw, paid a visit to his old home town with two members of his gang today and robbed the Sallisaw State Bank of $2,530.

Half a dozen citizens, some of whom went to school with Floyd, identified him and said he was accompanied by his lieutenant, George Birdwell, and another man.

Bob Riggs, the assistant cashier, was kidnaped and tossed from the robbers' car as it roared past the edge of town, heading presumably for one of "Pretty Boy's" mountain hideaways.

A posse, led by Sheriff George Cheek, went in pursuit, but apparently the robbers' trail had vanished tonight in the rough country near the Oklahoma-Arkansas border.

The men had a submachine gun, but did not fire it. One of them guarded the door of the bank and corralled every passerby while his comrades cleaned out the tills and vault.

When the man identified as Birdwell barked out an order to Bob Fitzsimmons, a farmer, Floyd said, "Don't hurt Bob, he's my friend."

Revolt on Manchukuo Spreads; Many Killed

Harbin, Manchuria, (Wednesday), Nov. 2 (A.P.).—Two of the bloodiest battles in the recent Manchurian campaign were fought Sunday and Monday along the Tsitsihar-Koshan Railway, Japanese military leaders in Harbin were informed today. These battles indicated that the revolt against the Japanese and against the new State of Manchukuo had spread to the east, involving thousands of fresh warriors.

The Japanese lost at least 33 killed and 44 wounded in pitched battles Sunday and Monday at Laha and Taianchen, north and northeast of Tsitsihar. They asserted the Chinese casualties exceeded 1,000.

(Associated Press.)

The Weather Bureau last night issued the following storm warning:

"Advisory, 9 p. m.—Tropical disturbance probably of moderate intensity moving westward over Caribbean Sea with center some distance southwest of Puerto Rico."

Five Lashes Are Given To 3 Alleged Floggers

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 1 (U.P.). One man indicted as ringleader of a group responsible for wholesale floggings in Jacksonville in recent months gained freedom on $5,000 bond today.

W. A. Jackson, a railroad machinist, made his bond after spending the night in jail, where he and two others were given five lashes each by a kangaroo court that tried them on the charge of breaking into jail. A virtual reign of terror, with flogging of 24 persons, has been reported.

MACHADO TRIUMPHS IN CUBA; 3 ARE SLAIN

Slim Vote Is Recorded, With President's Liberals Sweeping Election.

Havana, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—A slim vote marked today's Cuban elections, in which President Machado's Liberal party apparently won another sweeping victory.

The voters selected half the House of Representatives, two senators and provincial and municipal officers.

Three persons were killed during the day. They were Isidro Aguiar, a Liberal, and Tranquilino Gonzalez, a Conservative, victims of a clash at Rodas, Santa Clara Province, and an unidentified Liberal, who was slain at Nueva Paz, Havana Province.

Returns were meager tonight, but the reports already received showed that the Liberals were sweeping local offices. Conservative candidates in several municipalities in Havana Province withdrew, charging that soldiers guarding the polls were indulging in coercion.

ACCORD IS REACHED BY CAROL AND HELEN

Settlement to Allow Her to Visit Roumania and to See Son Abroad.

Bucharest, Roumania, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Negotiations to settle the troubled relations between King Carol and his divorced wife, Princess Helen, were completed today.

The former queen gave a formal audience to Premier Juliu Maniu and Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu, and at its conclusion the government issued a communique in which Helen was referred to as "her majesty."

It was privately reported that the government had agreed to permit Helen to visit Roumania whenever she desires providing she gave notice of her plans in order that a residence might be arranged for her.

Prince Michael, it was understood, will be allowed to visit his mother abroad one month during each vacation period, but they must spend this time in Switzerland. The government also is understood to have consented to pay Helen 15,000,000 lei (about $90,000) due her from the sale of her Castle Mamala, on the Black Sea.

Fire at Czech Legation Laid to Short Circuit

Fire in the elevator shaft at the Czechoslovakian Legation, 2349 Massachusetts avenue northwest, yesterday afternoon caused much excitement and did considerable damage before it was extinguished.

A short circuit is believed to have caused the fire, which was not discovered until smoke had begun to spread through the four-story white stone building. The amount of damage caused by smoke and water was not determined.

Scottsboro Case Picketing At Court Will Be Prevented

(United Press.)

Police last night said they would not permit picketing of the United States Supreme Court next Monday morning, when the famous Scottsboro decision may be handed down.

William L. Patterson, secretary of the International Labor Defense, issued a statement yesterday saying representatives of organizations totaling more than a million members would march in a picket line before the court building on Monday.

"We are prepared to call out between 65 and 75 police to prevent such a demonstration," Capt. Gnash, of the Capitol police, said last night. "We simply won't permit it."

Patterson charged in his statement that the Supreme Court has withheld the decision in the Scottsboro case, in which several Negroes were sentenced to death for an alleged attack upon two white women in Alabama, because of "political expediency."

Detectives were scattered throughout the Supreme Courtroom in October when the case was being heard, following reports that radical elements planned demonstrations.

3 Jobless Men Killed When Ruins Collapse

Pittsburgh, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Three men, including a father and son, were killed today when the fire-swept ruins of the old Eureka Hotel, in Homestead, a suburb, collapsed as they were gathering wood from the debris. The dead are Peter Ratkiewicz, 60; his son, Adam, 28, and August Brazenski, 25.

Only shell-like walls remained standing on the hotel site after fire destroyed the three-story frame structure, a Homestead landmark, last night. A dozen men, unemployed, began cutting away the timbers for use as firewood. One man removed a beam supporting upper framework of the ruins, causing it to collapse.

Posse in Swamp Kills Man Who Shot Foreman

Mullins, S. C., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Surrounded in a swamp by several hundred armed men, Henry Campbell, Negro, was shot to death near here today after he had shot and seriously wounded H. L. Tolbert, of Athens, Ga., a road construction foreman.

Itinerant Peddlers . . .

Many well-meaning people think that they are relieving unemployment problems when they buy from the army of peddlers who knock at their doors . . . On the contrary, they are jeopardizing the employment of fellow citizens, who work in local retail stores, and injuring the local merchant who provides so many community benefits. Invariably, too, the purchaser receives less value for his money when he buys unknown brands from irresponsible peddlers . . . Do your buying at home—in your retail store!

VOTE REGISTRATION BREAKS ALL MARKS

47,000,000 Persons Qualified to Cast Ballot in Next Tuesday's Election.

(Associated Press.)

Forty-seven million persons have qualified to vote in next Tuesday's general elections, exceeding by four and a half millions the record-shattering registration of 1928.

A State-by-State survey by the Associated Press shows exactly 46,965,230 persons eligible to participate in the 1932 presidential balloting. This compares with a national registration of 42,387,254 for the Hoover-Smith contest four years ago and is an increase of 10,165,561 over the actual vote cast in that peak year of ballot marking.

The unprecedented determination of voters of both sexes to take part in next week's ballot march is indicated in virtually every State.

Only Six States Lower.

While registration had to be estimated in many States because of the lack of an official central statistical collection agency, the figures reveal decreases only in six States—Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Pennsylvania and Texas—and the same estimate as in 1928 for Minnesota and Wyoming.

Excepting Pennsylvania, all States with large electoral votes show higher registrations.

Segregation of eligible voters according to parties was not possible in most States, although in Pennsylvania the Democratic registration fell off, while the Republican figure established a new high. Women registration there accounted for the entire 50,000 decrease.

On the other hand, in President Hoover's home State of California, the Republicans gained only 29,000 while the Democrats rolled up an increase of 570,000.

40,000,000 Votes Seen.

All of those entitled to vote will not do so, of course. A study of previous elections reveals a normal stay-at-home vote of 15 per cent.

If the 15 per cent normal basis is used, the actual vote next week would be close to 40,000,000, or 39,920,445, an increase of more than 3,000,000 over 1928.

However, William Tyler Page, former clerk of the House and an authority on elections, believes the stay-at-homes this year will exceed those of 1928, and the actual vote may be smaller, despite the rise in registration.

On the other hand, other preelection prognosticators, including Simon Michelet, Washington attorney and head of the National Get-Out-the-Vote Club, believe the nonvoters will be fewer this year. Some of these calculations estimate a vote as high as 45,000,000, and base their opinions on what they term a big "protest" vote on account of economic conditions.

Rise in Women Voters.

Four years ago the election experts attributed the large registration to the injection of prohibition and religious questions into the campaign. They also held the radio partly responsible for the great outpourings of voters because of the millions reached by the candidates' oratory who previously had had no such opportunity. The radio has been utilized to an even greater extent this year.

Ruth Taunton, secretary of the National Woman's Party, believes women will cast their largest vote since adoption of woman suffrage. She bases her prediction on three factors, namely, the natural growth through twelve years of political activity, the growth "forced by the efforts of many to destroy the economic independence of women in the name of the depression," and the belief that women "are feeling keenly the economic pinch, just as men."

Some of the State registration figures will be slightly higher than those listed to date, as in some States, like New Jersey and Maine, registration is permitted up to and including election day.

Some of the larger increases in registration are in Wisconsin, where officials estimated the gain at 620,000; California, 575,000; Ohio, 500,000; New York, 340,000 and Indiana, 325,000.

Registration by States

Intimidation Inquiry By Congress Is Urged

(Associated Press.)

Congressional investigation of "intimidation" of voters was called for last night by Senator William H. King, of Utah, who advocated legislation "to prevent its recurrence."

In a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, he said the campaign "of coercion, which is being conducted by the Hoover administration through various industrialists and predatory interests who have been beneficiaries of the present Republican regime, is the most cowardly and despicable weapon that ever has been resorted to in American politics."

DRIVE SET TO BALK CRIME SPREAD HERE

lar business hours of the day, two others robbed after gaining entrance by burglary during the hours the banks were closed, and one attempt at bank holdup during the daylight hours, which was frustrated by the use of tear gas.

"This bureau has conducted exhaustive investigations with reference to these crimes, and we feel morally certain that we have had persons under arrest who were involved in the crimes. However, they could not be positively identified by victims and witnesses, therefore were released. These cases are still under energetic, active investigation, and we hope to bring them to a proper conclusion.

"At this particular time, because of economic conditions, we feel satisfied that there will be other attempts at the commission of this class of crime, and it is urged that you will assist us in the prevention of further crimes of this character by a thorough examination of your bank property to ascertain if it is secure against entry during the hours which the bank is closed, and by equipping your bank or banks with devices such as tear gas and alarm systems."

In a note at the end of the letter, banks were urged to mail Christmas savings checks in plain business envelopes so that mail box thieves can not distinguish them as checks.

Immediate response to the letter was received through the District Bankers Association who invited Inspector Burke to address the association at its luncheon at 1 o'clock today at the Willard Hotel.

Kentucky's Vote Decree Faces Another Attack

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Another effort to force the Secretary of State to hold District congressional elections was made today after the court of appeals handed down a decision declining to interfere with the election of Kentucky's nine members of Congress from the State at large next Tuesday.

Frank B. Russell, a Republican State at large nominee, filed suit in Franklin Circuit Court demanding a mandatory injunction to compel the Secretary of State to certify him as the Republican nominee in the Third (Louisville) District.

Mrs. Longworth Breaks Rule; Speaks at Rally

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth broke her life-long rule and made a political speech at a rally of Republican women here today. She explained, "I was so carried away with the enthusiasm and spirit of the meeting that I just had to talk."

Here are the 31 words that comprised her speech: "The Democrats can't get away with blaming the depression on President Hoover. Because the people are realizing this and waking up to that fact, President Hoover will be reelected November 8."

GLASS ATTACKS PRESIDENT

he said, "they would have made millions of dollars of foreign securities with which this country was deluged by administration connivance a basis for tremendous credit expansion."

Referring to President Hoover's statement that the United States was within two weeks of being driven off the gold standard last winter he said that if this was true, administration leaders "were guilty of amazing dishonesty" in failing "so to advise the banks and private investors." During the period from January 1 to June 30, he said, the Treasury with the President's approval, sold $3,709,213,430 of Treasury notes and certificates of indebtedness redeemable in gold.

Asserting President Hoover has "converted the Treasury at Washington into a national pawnshop," Glass said that while the "expedients" adopted with the intent of improving business were "bad" they are "not as vicious as originally proposed by the administration."

Turning to President Hoover's contention that business collapse was "superinduced by economic convulsions abroad," the Virginian declared the reverse was true. He said:

"I assert that the improvidence, if not the direct profligacy, of incompetent Republican administrations at Washington is measurably responsible for the deplorable situation in which we find ourselves today."

The senator, reviewing events leading up to the business slump, said an era of cheap money was started during the Harding administration and expensive Governmental activities expanded. Without precedent or authority, he said, the State Department took upon itself to pass upon loans to foreign nations and later made a "childish" differentiation between the terms "approved" and "unobjected."

Is Described as Junk.

Great banking institutions, he continued, by "high pressure" methods and with salesmen "not too scrupulous to invoke the moral obligation thus incurred by the State Department were enabled to sell these high-interest bearing but now worthless foreign securities in competition with our own State and municipal, industrial and commercial securities." He continued:

"Undeniably, they filled the portfolios of interior banks, sometimes by coercion, with this immobile junk, so that when the crash came these banks were in a state of paralysis, utterly unable to respond to the legitimate requirements of their respective communities. There resulted an era of bank failures unprecedented since the foundation of the republic, unapproached by financial collapse in any other nation on the globe.

"The State Department at Washington may deny its culpability until its spokesmen are black in the face, but the record explicitly condemns them.

Stimson Is Attacked.

"The official explanation given to the Senate of the United States was so manifestly puerile and untrue that, by unanimous vote, regardless of party division, that body rejected it and warned the State Department to desist from this dangerous and ruinous usurpation of authority. Secretary Stimson treated the unanimously expressed sense of the United States Senate with a contempt that entitled him to impeachment. He persisted in his denial that the State Department was doing the very things which the record shows it was doing."

Going to banking practices, Glass said it was asserted on reliable authority that "our Reserve Banks indorsed millions of dollars of acceptances for foreign banks," which he termed "a thing unprecedented."

The facilities of the Federal Reserve Banks were "misused" in defiance of the text and spirit of the law, he said, through huge loans to banks, which were reloaned "to brokers for stock gambling purposes."

Assails Tariff Act.

"The Smoot-Hawley-Grundy tariff act constitutes moral insensibility as well as economic insanity," he said. "It will take its place in history as a legislative and administrative enormity, purchased from the Government at Washington by the contributors to Mr. Hoover's campaign fund. Equally with the frightful financial debacle, this measure is responsible for unemployment. Along with that intolerable legislative atrocity known as the Farm Board act, these measures have reduced the American farmer to the point of penury.

"Thus, I have traced, with unerring accuracy I think, the causes of the panic and the inevitable consequences. These were not caused by the World War or by European disturbances, as alleged by Mr. Hoover. We had in 1922 largely gone through the processes of liquidation and of deflation in financial, commercial and industrial enterprise. The country was prepared to go forward in an orderly fashion, when the speculators seized the reins and, under the stimulating influence and applause of Republican administrations at Washington, embarked us on a career of adventure and inordinate inflation that carried us over the precipice. The World War had no more to do with this, nor Europe either, than the wars of the Phenicians or the conquest of Gaul by Caesar. It was caused by the combination of factors which I have recited in the course of this address."

Glass next turned to an analysis of remedial steps taken by the administration. He said President Hoover was "pathetic and importunate in his plea for 'nonpartisan cooperation' in the effort to rescue business after he could no longer escape the conclusion that something needed to be done." Mr. Hoover, he added, "seemed utterly ignorant of the stupendous disaster which had overtaken the country."

First of all, Glass continued, the President applied "psychological poultices," summoned industrial leaders to the White House and "exacted * * * an explicit agreement not to curtail employment or reduce wages." Glass went on to comment:

"The simplest person on earth should have known that men would not be employed if their services were not needed, and that wages would not remain unmolested if there was no market for the products of field and factories."

Cites Debt Moratorium.

The senator also applied the term "psychological poultice" to the reparations and war debt moratorium and the antihoarding campaign. Next, he said, came the National Credit Corporation with the White House announcing that Eastern bankers had agreed to use $500,000,000 "to acquire the frozen assets of threatened banks."

It has since been disclosed, Glass said, that at a meeting of the bankers in Secretary Mellon's apartment, attended by Mr. Hoover, the bankers "were definitely promised that a Government agency would take over the acquired assets" of the corporation.

"This meant, in plain terms, that this 'burden' of these generous Eastern bankers was to be unloaded on the shoulders of the taxpayers of the United States," said Glass.

Says Provision Unsound.

Glass said the bill establishing the Reconstruction Corporation, as sent to Congress by the administration "was saturated with unsound and dangerous provisions." He added there was not a safeguard in the bill as finally enacted that was not "written into it by a Democrat or Progressive Republican" after it came from the Treasury. The same thing was true, he said, of the Glass-Steagall bill, which he supported at the President's request, meanwhile stating "the facts to the Congress and the country." He said the effect of the measure had been "insignificant."

Glass turned to the Wagner relief bill and said it was "amazing" to those who prefer to respect the President of the United States that he should parade over the country and pretend that he and his party only are entitled to praise for this yet undemonstrated relief act."

Glass went on to deny charges which he attributed to President Hoover and his spokesmen that Democrats in Congress had obstructed the administration's plans for balancing the budget and reducing Government expenditures.

He denied assertions that the Democratic party was responsible for the Patman bonus bill, saying it would have been defeated in the House but for the fact that 60 Republicans voted for it. An "overwhelming majority of Democratic senators," he said, defeated the measure in that branch of Congress.

After quoting Republican statements that if the Democrats are successful in the coming election the business interests of the country will be menaced, he said that his party "could not do worse" than the present administration if it tried.

Fires Attack at Mills.

Informed that Secretary Mills planned to reply to his speech with a radio address last night, Senator Glass distributed an addition to the text of his remarks stating:

"I am advised that President Hoover's Secretary of the Treasury today obtained an advance copy of my speech by some means which it does not concern me to explain, but which involves a breach of confidence disdained by every honorable newspaperman in the Nation.

"I am also told Mr. Mills, having procured a copy of my speech in this way, is to answer me on the radio tonight. If that is his conception of courage and courtesy in debate, I am glad it is his and not mine.

"Had Secretary Mills desired a debate with me in the open, where each could give and take blow for blow, he would have experienced no difficulty in getting accommodated; but if he prefers the backstairs method of controversy he is at liberty to make that choice.

"I prefer to keep my rapier clean and play the game as gentlemen in their code of ethics require. I thank all who have been patient enough to hear me tonight."

New York Slum Eradication and Toll-Bridge Projects Are Included.

(Associated Press.)

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday authorized loans totaling $9,845,000 for seven self-liquidating projects and one emergency relief loan of $264,575.

The latter sum was advanced to Michigan for use in a number of counties, cities and townships. The self-liquidating loans were for projects in various parts of the country, with one housing corporation in New York obtaining $3,957,000 and the New York bridge authority $3,460,000.

Other loans included $70,000 for extension of a water works at Hamburg, N. Y.; $62,500 for water works in the Madison Heights, Va., Sanitary District; $630,000 for a sewage system at Bowling Green, Ky.; $250,000 for a water reservoir at Hobart, Okla., and $1,476,000 to the Maverick County Water Control District No. 1, of Eagle Pass, Tex.

The self-liquidating projects were estimated by the commission to provide more than 6,000 jobs for varying periods. Besides these places others will be created through manufacture of materials needed for the projects.

To Be Built in Bronx.

The New York housing project loan was the first made by the corporation under the slum eradication section of the amended reconstruction act. This section provides that State and city-regulated projects may obtain money from the corporation for building low rental apartments.

The apartment group is to be constructed in the Bronx. It will house 1,581 families in buildings four to six stories high. There will be a 2½-acre playground for children in the center of the settlement. Rents in the group must not exceed $11 per room per month and all details of the New York housing law must be regarded.

The loan authorized yesterday which will become available when a few changes are made in the application to the New York Housing Commission is for two-thirds of the estimated total cost of the project.

The project will employ an average of 700 men for eleven months.

4,800-Foot Toll Bridge.

The loan to the New York bridge authority is to be used to build a 4,800-foot toll bridge over the Hudson River at Catskill, N. Y. The loan is contingent on action of the New York State Legislature authorizing the bridge.

The Eagle Pass project will provide for completion of a 92-mile canal diverting water from the Rio Grande River. For 12 miles the canal will parallel the river, irrigating 15,000 acres of land. At the end of the 12-mile stretch the water is divided, half of it running through a hydroelectric power house and the remainder continuing in the canal to irrigate 45,000 acres below the power house.

The loan agreement provides for repair of damage done to the canal, and power house by a flood in September and for construction designed to prevent future damage.

Labor Party Gains In English Voting

Victories in Industrial Areas Won in Municipal Elections.

London, Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Early returns from today's municipal elections showed slight gains for the Labor party, especially in industrial areas. Labor won a big victory in Oldham, gaining six council seats from Conservatives, but lost heavily in Plymouth where Conservatives won six Laborite council seats and the Liberals two.

Final results were expected to show little change in control of town councils. Results so far show the Conservatives gained 33 seats and lost 44; Labor, 65 gained, 44 lost; Liberals, 13 gained, 11 lost; Independents, 5 gained, 13 lost.

Elections were held in 300 cities and towns of England and Wales, and were considered important in showing the trend since the sweeping victory of the Nationalist government last year. Candidates for 266 of the 839 council seats at stake were unopposed. Of that number 211 were Conservatives, Liberals or Independents and 55 Laborites.

BAKER IS CONFIDENT OF DEMOCRATIC WIN

Declares Roosevelt Will Revive High Wilson Tradition.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Newton D. Baker expressed tonight the "serene confidence" that if Gov. Roosevelt is elected President he will gather around him "the brains and characters that were praised in the great days of the high Wilson tradition."

The Secretary of War of the Wilson administration, before a cheering, horn-tooting crowd estimated by police at 5,000, speaking in a packed Brooklyn hall, called for a "change" by the election of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

"I do not believe it possible," he said, "for Mr. Hoover and his associates, having proclaimed their idolatry of high tariffs, to face a world which is in the process of liquidation and reorganization with any hopefulness of their ultimate achievement. * * *

"And I have a serene confidence when the 8th of November shall have come and gone, and when the country will realize that Franklin Roosevelt and Garner have been chosen, as it will realize that there will gather around them in Washington the brains and the characters that were praised in the great days of the high Wilson tradition, that constructive measures will be fabricated for the benefit and relief of this country; that both at home and abroad a more liberal and a more saving policy will be adopted, and that the country will at last be blessed in this reordered world with a better hope of its own ultimate future."

Interest Boosted In Condemnation

Letts Rules Government Must Pay 6 Per Cent Instead of 4.

Making a legal distinction between "judgments" and "awards," Justice F. Dickinson Letts, in District Supreme Court, yesterday ruled that the Government would have to pay 6 per cent interest on condemnation funds, instead of the 4 per cent that has been paid since Comptroller General J. Raymond McCarl ruled it legal.

Justice Letts said provisions of the acts governing the two made judgments against the Government payable at a rate of 4 per cent, with a rate of 6 per cent applicable to awards made in condemnation cases.

The case is important to hundreds of Washingtonians whose property has been taken over by the Government. Parts of their awards were paid in advance, and the balance, which caused the ruling, will now bring 6 per cent instead of 4 per cent.

Harold MacGrath Rites Are Held in Syracuse

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Harold MacGrath, the novelist, was buried today. At St. Paul's Episcopal Church, where services were held before burial at Oakwood Cemetery, a continuous line of hundreds of men and women filed by the bier where the writer lay in state.

The Rev. Dr. Henry H. Hadley, rector of St. Paul's, officiated at the church services. "Abide With Me" and "Onward Christian Soldiers," two hymns that were the author's favorites, were played by the church organist.

HOOVER DEFENDED IN MILLS ADDRESS

sale of these securities when they are permissible under State laws, and that foreign loans constituted less than 2 per cent of total loans and investments of banks that had failed.

He denied that the Federal Reserve Board had fostered a cheap money policy, declaring that the board began to raise rediscount rates of member institutions as far back as January, 1928, this policy reaching its maximum level in August, 1929, when the Federal Reserve Bank of New York had a rediscount rate of 6 per cent.

Mills said President Hoover had obtained from a Congress "not friendly" more important legislation than any President in history.

The record shows, Mills asserted, that the Democratic policy committee formed by members from both legislative bodies offered no program throughout the session and the only program emanating from this source was that of the Democratic House which, he said, "the senator tonight disowned."

The Secretary said Glass had ignored in discussing the decline in wages the fact that "for the first time in the history of depressions wages were not the first to fall." He said wages had not come down until after the cost of living had fallen, and credited Mr. Hoover with keeping labor troubles at a minimum.

Referring to Senator Glass' criticism of loans to Europe, Mills said the "panic" which swept this country after Great Britain left the gold standard was sufficient basis for efforts to avoid the European collapse.

2 LETICIA DISPUTE DELEGATES ARRIVE

Dr. Guzman Will Represent Colombia as Peru Sends Dr. Maurtua.

Special delegates have been sent to the United States by Peru and Colombia in connection with the dispute now deadlocking the two countries over the occupation of Leticia by Peruvian colonists.

Dr. Victor M. Maurtua, former Peruvian Minister to Brazil and secretary of the American Academy of International Law, has arrived here on special mission at the behest of President Sanchez Cerra. At the same time President Olaya of Colombia has entrusted Dr. Pomponio Guzman, former minister of foreign affairs and minister of finances, with the delicate task of maintaining a press bureau here to disseminate information regarding the controversy.

Dr. Maurtua, who was the Peruvian delegate to the Pan-American conference on conciliation and arbitration here four years ago, was in Europe when the President of Peru requested him to come to the United States in connection with the Leticia controversy. The Peruvian diplomat is one of the best known international jurists and will probably endeavor to settle the conflict now imminent between the two countries by arbitration.

Enjoys Full Confidence.

Politically, the president and his delegate are on the opposite sides of the fence, but it is deemed significant of the attitude of the Peruvian government that they should have overlooked personal differences in order to secure the most effective representation here at the present time. Dr. Maurtua will work in conjunction with Ambassador Freyre Santander, who enjoys the confidence of the president completely in the present crisis.

In a letter to The Washington Post last Sunday Ambassador Freyre made a comprehensive explanation of the situation from the Peruvian point of view. Dr. Maurtua has already seen Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin-American relations, but announced he had merely discussed the historical outlines of the problem with him. Further conferences are planned from which a definite procedure in connection with Leticia will be derived.

Dr. Guzman, who is staying at the Mayflower Hotel, declared he will be in a position to furnish any information with regard to Leticia.

Dr. Guzman's Statement.

He said yesterday:

"My government has sent me to the United States on a special diplomatic mission as member of the commission of foreign affairs of the House of Representatives of my country. My mission is to inform the American public of the situation created by the violent occupation of Leticia by a group of rebel Peruvians. The Colombian government and the Colombian people, notwithstanding their habitual peaceful character, will oblige the respect of the public treaties existing between Colombia and Peru and they will admit of no postponement of the reestablishing of Colombian authorities in the Amazon territory. The action of the Colombian government will be taken irrespective of whether the invaders of Leticia call themselves 'Apristas,' 'Communistas' or 'Sanchez Serristas.'

"This is a case in which not only the continent of America but all humanity is also concerned. The civilized world can not look on without protest while a group of Peruvians commit assault and robbery against the Colombian sovereignty and afterward appeal to the noble principle of conciliation of nations to retain what they stole."

Bank SaysFinances Unhurt by Politics

Indorsement by Both Parties of Sound Money Principle Commended.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—The National City Bank of New York threw the spotlight of its researches on politics, in its monthly economic survey today, and found that there is "no basis for prejudgment or anxiety."

The review observed that in campaign speeches, the history of the depression and the record of each party has been raked over in a manner sometimes disturbing, but, it added, this raking over tended to "obscure the important fact that both parties have taken the conservative side of the major issues."

"What the country needs from both parties is determination to preserve sound principles in public finance," said the review. "The central element in such a program must be the balancing of budgets through reduction of expenditure."

What was seen as the "most notable aspect" of the present election campaign was "the indorsement by both candidates and party platforms of principles of economy and sound money. They are alike in recognizing the importance of balancing the budget, and there is no agitation of the money question among the leaders of chief influence within either party."

Italy Plans Amnesty Move.

Rome, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—The forthcoming government decree providing amnesty for thousands of prisoners and political expatriates will apply to persons sentenced to terms under five years, it was learned today. Many anti-Fascists expatriated because of their political beliefs will benefit, therefore, because such expatriation is punished with terms below five years. The amnesty decree's terms will be the broadest yet put forward by the Fascist regime.

Publisher Is Dead at 80.

tion day. Radio time for this brief presidential address already has been assigned.

After the regular Tuesday Cabinet meeting yesterday, the President denied himself to all callers and left his private office in the Executive wing for the Lincoln study in the White House proper. There he plotted out the last dozen speeches of his campaign.

Some of those who have been close advisers of the President on his previous campaign tours forecast yesterday he would continue his vigorous attack upon Gov. Roosevelt's policies, along the general lines of the Madison Square Garden address Monday night.

Hundreds of telegrams of congratulation reached the White House yesterday, and this widespread applause was supplemented by the claims of Republican campaign managers in the Eastern headquarters that the President now has his opponent definitely on the defensive in the entire Northeast quarter of the country.

Unofficial tabulations indicating a tremendous increase in the national registrations also were hailed as an encouraging omen by the Republican managers. The greatly increased registration should more than offset the abnormal protest vote indicated by the national straw votes, these partisans declared.

Big Hoover Gains Seen.

Democrats and Republicans alike agree that the President has gained millions of votes since he made his first personal appeal in the campaign at Des Moines five weeks ago yesterday. It is acknowledged on all sides, also, that the successive addresses in the President's campaign have been consistently more effective as a Republican accounting in the administration of the depression.

Strategists on the Democratic side frankly acknowledge this effective building up of the Republican case, but declare it has not attained anything like the proportions of the Nation-wide ground swell envisioned during the last ten days by the Republican managers.

On the Republican side, however, the campaign managers counter that this week's presidential swing will bring the decisive climax in many States still regarded as doubtful last week.

Apart from the conflicting claims of the rival managers, it is certain that this final week will witness the most exciting campaign windup since the historic gold fight of 1896.

CROWDS BRAVE RAIN TO SEE ROOSEVELT

there but despite the dampness they applauded vigorously at the appearance of Mr. Roosevelt. Confetti, ticker tape and bits of paper came tumbling down to settle in wet dabs upon the street below.

The procession halted in front of the City Hall, where a huge crowd had congregated and a microphone was handed in to the candidate. He said his visit into New England had assured him that Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island would be found in the Democratic columns next week, and that he was going to continue his trip through Connecticut.

The sky was overcast when he left Boston and Mr. Roosevelt exchanged the open car in which he traveled yesterday for a closed one. The route of the candidate to Providence, Woonsocket, Worcester, Springfield, Manchester, Hartford, Winsted, Canaan and Hyde Park took his machine past numerous colorful glimpses of New England and its industrial region.

4,000 More Needy and Ill Youngsters Get Treatment.

"Durirng the first nine months of this year, we have admitted 4,000 more patients to Children's Hospital than were admitted in the entire twelve months of 1931," said Miss Mattie M. Gibson, superintendent of the hospital, in making out a report to the Community Chest for use in the coming campaign.

"These 4,000 more children needing hospital care," continued Miss Gibson, "are in many cases direct results of the unemployment situation. With family incomes reduced to a minimum or cut out altogether, the problem of undernourishment becomes serious and opens the door to many other physical disorders."

Stating that without increased funds with which to carry on, childhood suffering in Washington would reach an appalling figure, Miss Gibson mentioned that only 15 per cent of the families sending children to Children's Hospital are able to pay for their care. The 85 per cent depends upon Community Chest funds to supply their children with needed medical and hospital service.

The children themselves, who leave the hospital, are the best testimonials of the value of this institution to the community. While being cared for they are well fed and when the time comes for them to go back to their homes they are in far better physical condition than they perhaps have ever known in their short lives.

Acecrding to Miss Edith Torkington, assistant superintendent of nurses, "no sick child is ever refused attention at Children's Hospital," and from the enthusiastic reception given Miss Torkington by the children, as she made her daily rounds, it was plain to see the kind of attention they had been having.

One little boy, from a family where poverty had taken its ruthless toll in health and happiness, proudly waved a long strip of brightly-colored yarns which he was knitting into a couch cover. "Look, Miss Torkington, I'm 'most done!" he cried jubilantly, and the nurse had to stop and admire the work. Afterward she explained about his case.

"We are keeping George here much longer than would be necessary if he had the right sort of home to go back to," she said, "because we know he will get good food while he is with us. Before he came here, he had not had half enough to eat and there was no one but an older brother to look after him all day. He was cold, hungry, and wretched when he came to us, just as so many children are these days."

During the first nine months of 1932 Children's Hospital has treated 4,000 more little tots, like the one shown above, than were treated during all of 1931.

In the colored wards, an even more noticeable example of what the Children's Hospital is doing for child welfare was presented. As Miss Torkington expressed it, "few of these children have much chance in the world, even to get the bare necessities of life. They come here and the longer they stay, the happier they become, for they have never been so comfortable before. They take their hospital treatment as if it were a real vacation."

About that time, Miss Gibson came into the wards, and she, too, was accorded a rousing reception by the youngsters. When she was back in her office again, she said, "If the Community Chest had never done anything more than supply the money to save these little children and add health and comfort to their lives, it would deserve the people's wholehearted support. Wholesome, active childhood is a city's best asset, and we do hope the citizens of Washington will help us continue our work by giving their bit to the Chest campaign."

Foreign News in Brief

Paris, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—A slight operation was performed yesterday on Mrs. Gene Tunney, wife of the former heavyweight champion, to facilitate healing of the wound left by her recent mastoid operation, which had been closing somewhat too slowly. She returned to her hotel today and it was said that her condition was excellent.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Santiago Hueyo, 25-year-old son of the minister of finance, returned here today after fruitless efforts to rescue his chum, Abel Ayerza, son of a wealthy ranch owner's widow, from kidnapers.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Congress has adjourned until December 8, ending a session of eleven months, during which much important legislation was enacted and approval of the draft of a new constitution was voted.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Nov. 1 (A.P.). Martinez Mera, the Liberal candidate for president in the two-day-long election, was apparently assured of victory today, although some remote areas will not be heard from for several days. It appeared Mera had carried all the major districts of the Nation except the northern provinces, which went to Manuel Sotomayor Luna, Conservative candidate and former Ambassador to Chile.

Moscow, Nov. 1 (U.P.).—The Soviet capital is in a fever of activity this week, preparing for the most elaborate celebration in the history of the new regime—the fifteenth anniversary of the revolution, Monday, November 7. Electricians, sign painters, artists and sculptors clambered over house fronts. They filled the public squares in a campaign to complete ambitious decorative schemes.

Istanbul, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—The first holdup of a bank by bandits in modern Turkey was reported today when two masked men armed with revolvers, held the staff of the Ottoman Bank at Brusa and escaped with $2,000.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Nov. 1 (A.P.). Miss Violet Ohlsen and Miss Marian Gillespie, American girls, arrived from New York today to explore the eastern Ecuadorean jungles.

Buildings Blown Into Bay By High Wind in New York

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—High wind and heavy rain swept through the metropolitan area today, centering on the Long Island summer colony of Broad Channel, where three bungalows and fifteen other buildings were blown down, some of them into Jamaica Bay.

Many of the buildings at Broad Channel were unoccupied, so the injured list was relatively small. Alfred Pearce, owner of a bungalow that collapsed into the water, was hurt by falling timbers, but was able to reach the second floor and rescue his two sons.

Some of the sheds that were blown into the water floated.

The wind shifted suddenly and a high tide swept in. Several buildings on stilts went off their base and settled into the water. Queens police received many telephone calls saying large numbers of persons had been trapped in the water. Police launches and Coast Guards immediately put out to the rescue, but found they were not needed. A police amphibian also surveyed the scene.

A Broad Channel real estate man who said he counted 75 damaged houses, estimated the loss at $100,000.

Meanwhile, the storm was playing less spectacular tricks on other parts of Long Island, and in the city.

In Brooklyn police counted more than 100 trees that have been blown down. One fell on the roof of a house. Another house collapsed after the foundation had been undermined by the incessant rain.

Far Rockaway reported a coal dock torn loose and floating in the bay. A man working on a sloop was blown out into the bay and forced to swim back.

During the height of the storm, the wind was measured at the Empire State Building tower at between 75 and 95 miles an hour.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—A ten-minute gale which followed heavy rain today blew down a 75-foot smokestack on the factory of the Adelphia Cleaners and Dyers.

Electric and telephone wires were dragged down by the falling stack. The factory roof caught fire, but the flames were extinguished quickly.

Thirty employes were in the factory at the time, and fled in orderly fashion.

Roofs were torn off houses, two guard houses in Fairmount Park were blown over, one with a guard inside it, while Frankford Creek overflowed its banks and spread into nearby mill yards.

STORM DAMAGE TOLL IS HEAVY IN FAIRFAX

Telephone Wires Are Blown Down in Many Places; Wind Milder Here.

A rough November with spitting rain and snarling wind ushered itself in yesterday.

In Washington, the month entered in a downpour of rain which started at 10 o'clock Monday night and continuel until the late morning yesterday, when skies cleared and a strong wind sent the temperature dropping.

The storm's damage in the city was negligible, but in a small area in nearby Virginia it struck more viciously. Residents in the vicinity of Balleys Crossroads, in Fairfax County, described the disturbance as "a small cyclone."

There, thousands of dollars of property was damaged by the strong wind. Two plate-glass windows and several small windows were blown in at the store of Irvin Payne. Rain damaged stock within the store.

Many trees in Fairfax were blown down and telephone wires were down in many places. Rapid repair work, however, soon had telephone service in order.

Many culverts were washed out by creeks which were at the highest levels in many years. The sudden fall of rain was responsible for the filling of the dam of the Alexandria Water Works. For the first time in four years, the complete face of the dam was covered with an overflowing rush of water.

The tardiness of the rain, or rather of the low pressure area which brought it, in reaching Washington, cost the month of October, 1932, a precipitation record. Had the rain come a few hours earlier, the mark standing since October, 1885, would have been smashed.

The rain of Monday and yesterday totaled 1.80 inches, according to the Weather Bureau, and had it all fallen in the month of October a new total of 9.20 inches would have been recorded. However, October's total reached 7.40 inches, so the 1885 mark of 8.69 inches still stands.

HENRY D. MALONE DEAD.

Former Law College President was Native of Capital.

Henry Dennison Malone, 60, former professor at Shenandoah Valley and New York Military Academies, died yesterday in his home at 302 Indiana avenue.

Mr. Malone was a native of Washington. He was a graduate of Georgetown University and in 1888 was admitted to the District Bar. Formerly president of the American Law and Counsellor College of this city, Mr. Malone conducted a law practice in New York City for some time.

He is survived by a sister, Miss Sarah I. Malone, of Washington.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock from the W. W. Chambers Funeral Home, Fourteenth and Chapin streets northwest. Following mass at 10 o'clock in St. Aloysius Church, interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemtery.

MRS. FENTON'S FUNERAL.

TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—A protest was made today by the Tampa Times to the Postmaster General at Washington against the refusal of Tampa postal authorities to give out for publication figures of business done by the postoffice during October. The authorities were quoted by the Times as saying that early in October orders came from Washington "not to give out such data until further orders."

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—The Indian's tomahawk has become a can opener and he'll wield it this winter to route his most vicious enemy—hunger. John T. Montgomery, national director of Indian agricultural work, describes as almost incredible the larders of the Five Civilized Tribes which are stacked high with good things to eat. The food was grown and canned by families who not so long ago stared at starvation.

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Mayor Eddie McCloskey announced today that Pelham D. Glassford, resigned head of the Washington police, will be offered the post of Chief of police of Johnstown. McCloskey made his statement after he listened to recommendations of E. P. Goodrich, an efficiency engineer. Goodrich, completing three months' work, advocated Glassford's appointment. The power of appointment lies wholly with the mayor.

Chicago, Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Howard Bonham, who missed going to the electric chair by the narrowest of margins seven times in less than a year, escaped execution once and for all today. The governor commuted his sentence to 99 years' imprisonment. "Ninety-nine years is a long time," Bonham commented. He was sentenced to death for killing a restaurant owner, and later received seven stays of execution.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—The State of Georgia got out the pruning knife today and trimmed its expenditures to fit the economic trends of the times. A reduction of 14 per cent in all appropriations was ordered by the budget bureau, headed by Gov. Richard B Russell, jr. The bureau said indicated revenue amounted to only 86 per cent of the amounts already appropriated for the fiscal year.

Columbus, Ind., Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Two days ago John A. Jackson, 82, and Johanna Ewing, 77, were married with the usual vows of eternal love. Mrs. Jackson put up with her new husband for 48 hours, decided she could endure him no longer, then came to court for a divorce. She won on charges of cruel and inhuman treatment

RITES FOR MRS. SEIDEL.

Funeral Services for Auto Victim Will Be Conducted Today.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Seidel, 55, who was fatally injured when struck by an autombile near her home at 5020 Conduit road northwest, Saturday night will be held this morning at 9:15 o'clock at the residence.

Solemn high requiem mass will be held in St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. She will be buried in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mrs. Seidel was struck as she crossed the road near her home.

SECRET AIM IN VISIT TO MADRID IS DENIED

Herriot Resents Suspicions on French Efforts to Promote Peace.

Madrid, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, gave his word of honor to foreign journalists today there were no hidden motives attached to his visit to the Spanish capital.

In answer to a direct question about reports that there were reasons for his trip other than a simple good will tour, the premier replied:

"You have my word of honor, and my word of honor is my word of honor."

He refrained, however, from direct comment about reports he is seeking an alliance with Spain.

The premier lost his customary geniality when he complained that other countries were unjust toward France's aims.

"I am a worker for peace as the entire world knows, and this is my whole aim," he said.

He refused to name the countries against which he complained, but he vigorously protested foreign misunderstanding. He said that France was trying to sponsor disarmament for the benefit of the world, asserting that the recent French plan which has been forwarded to the disarmament conference in Geneva was his third effort, but even yet doubts existed regarding French sincerity.

The strike of law students at Madrid University against M. Herriot's visit melted away today and most of them went back to classes.

President Alcala Zamora decorated his French guest with the highest order of the new republic, the Order of the Republic, at a State banquet which had some of the pomp of the old monarchy.

Belin Appointed Envoy to Warsaw

Willys' Successor Talks With President; Will Leave Soon.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday announced the appointment of F. Lammot Belin, of Waverly, Pa., and Washington, as Ambassador to Poland. The new envoy, who called at the White House to confer with the Chief Executive a short time after the appointment, told newspapermen he probably would leave for Warsaw about November 15.

The post became vacant last summer through the resignation of John N. Willys, who returned to this country to look after his business interests.

Belin was a career man in the foreign service for many years, but he resigned over a year ago and his appointment to the Warsaw post is a political one.

MOVE FOR VETERANS SAVING IS EXTENDED

limiting Government insurance to purposes for which it was undertaken, by placing compensation paid dependents on a basis of necessity and service connected disability or death, by returning disabled emergency officers to a disability compensation status, and by cutting veterans administration costs.

The report mailed out yesterday seeks to justify the chamber's veterans stand as follows:

"The principle that all men who have been disabled in defense of the country, with consequent decrease in earning power, and the dependents of those who lost their lives while in that service, should be generously compensated, is accepted without question as the least that can be done by a grateful Nation. This is a just obligation that must and will be met.

"Aid to those who have served in the armed forces of the Nation and incurred no disability in such service is an entirely different matter, whether this aid take the form of money grants or hospitalization. Such veterans should exert no special claim upon their Government."

Veterans economies sought by the chamber were itemized as follows: Spanish-American War pensions, $112,843,000; compensation for presumptive disabilities, $75,000,000; allowances for nonservice connected disabilities, $104,278,000; emergency officers' retirement pay, $6,798,000; hospitalization, $40,000,000; hospital construction, $5,000,000; reinstatement of military and Navy insurance, $40,000,000; administration, $20,000,000; total, $403,919,000.

BRIDGE TEST IS LED BY BURNSTINE TEAM

Wipes Out Advantage Held by Sims Foursome in Vanderbilt Cup Play.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—David Burnstine and his bridge team led P. Hal Sims' foursome by 225 points at the end of the first half of the final in the Vanderbilt Cup tournament tonight.

The Sims quartet rolled up the large margin of 1,535 points on 15 boards in the afternoon session. On 15 more boards tonight, however, Burnstine's side scored a plus of 1,760 points to forge ahead.

Thirty more boards will be played in one session tomorrow evening to decide possession of the big silver trophy which betokens team-of-four supremacy.

With just two teams left out of a record field of 24 which started last Wednesday, the tournament was moved from the grand ballroom to a private suite at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Each match was played in a separate room and the doors were locked against kibitzers. Only Lieut. Alfred Gruenther, of West Point, the referee, saw the playing.

Largest Point Swing.

North.
S.—A J 9 2
H.—Q 8
D.—K 9 3
C.—J 10 9 2

West.	East.
S.—K 7 6 5 4	S.—Blank
H.—A 5	H.—J 9 7 2
D.—Q J 10 8	D.—7 6 2
C.—8 7	C.—A K Q 5 4 3

South.
S.—Q 10 8 3
H.—K 10 6 4 3
D.—A 5 4
C.—6

East and West were vulnerable. North and South not vulnerable and East dealt.

With Sims and Willard S. Karn, North and South, and Charles Lochridge and Richard Frey, East and West, the bidding went:

Three passes, North one spade, East two clubs, South two spades, two passes, East three clubs, South three spades and West double. The king of clubs was led and Sims made his contract.

Burnstine Goes Set.

At the other table Burnstine and David Schenken went on to bid four spades, and Waldemar von Zedtwitz and Harold S. Vanderbilt, East and West, put them down two doubled.

This hand furnished an interesting bid by Sims:

North
S.—K 9 8 6 3
H.—A Q 9 7 6 5
D.—A 4
C.—Blank

West	East
S.—5 4	S.—Q J 10 7 2
H.—8	H.—J 10 2
D.—J 10 9 3 2	D.—8 7
C.—Q 10 9 7 2	C.—A 4 3

S.—A
D.—K Q 6 5
C.—K J 8 6 5

North and South were vulnerable, East and West not vulnerable and Sims at North dealt

North bid a heart, East three spades, South four clubs and West four diamonds. Over that Sims then bid five diamonds to leave to Karn the choice of the suit as between clubs and hearts. After East's pass South bid six hearts.

The little slam was made with the loss of only a spade trick after a queen of spades opening lead.

The finals are being played under the new rules in effect today, but with grand slams barred.

Church Bicentennial Program Set Tonight

A celebration in honor of George Washington will be given at Carroll Hall, 924 G street northwest, tonight, under the auspices of St. Patrick's Sodality and the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The speakers will include Dr. H. L. Kraskin, the Rev. Joseph D. Amon, Dr. John K. Cartwright and John M. Gibbs. Miss Jennie Glennan, organist of St. Patrick's Church, assisted by the St. John's Military Corps Band, will furnish special music.

Idea of 'Friendly Counter' Well Repays Capital Banker

John Poole Now Holds Patents on It All Over World.

(Associated Press.)

John Poole, Washington bank president, has learned much about the experiences of the man who had such a good idea the world beat a path to his door.

Poole simply wanted to make his bank more friendly looking. As a result, he holds patents all over the world on the idea he evolved.

Day after day this one-time president of Rotary Interantional, sat and watched his bank's customers standing outside a teller's "cage," leaning forward in a strained manner, to transact business through a glass or wicket that seemed to annoy them.

He even noticed the roving eye of the next in line watch the transaction with a natural curiosity.

"That's bad," he decided. "I'll design a new counter."

So after banking hours he turned architect and carpenter.

For experimenting he had soft wood and small nails delivered to a back office where he could tinker and rip pieces apart easily. Sometimes dinner was forgotten and sometimes he hammered fingers instead of nail heads.

But the result is a banking innovation on which the patent has just been upheld by a Georgia district court, in which his new company filed suit against an Atlanta bank. The suit charged the defendant with using Poole's idea without paying his fee.

Before the case came to trial the bank agreed to a charge of infringement and a court judgment with cents, and amicably turned around and bought a license under the patent.

Poole's idea is simple. His banking floor, and those of the 180 licensees using his counters, look very much like any continuous ticket counter. But there's more than meets the eye.

On the customer's side, at about the level a standing person writes, is a ledge partially covered by another ledge, a little higher, which extends back to the teller on the other side. It forms a sort of roof over the teller's desk, concealing his business and any packages of money he may have at hand.

JOHN POOLE.

At the level of the shoulders above the ledges are four thin decorative metal bars. The teller can see the entire floor and the customers can see all the tellers.

"We thought we were just building a friendly atmosphere," Mr. Poole says, "but we discovered many other advantages. Customers don't have to raise their voices any more. They feel freer because the teller is seen better.

"The customer second in line can't see the name on the first man's book nor the amount of his deposit. The minute the customer comes in he can pick out a teller who isn't busy.

"The old cage took an average of six feet for a teller. This one only takes four feet. That's a tremendous advantage for a bank that wants to put in more tellers without buying more floor space."

"The counter is also a deterrent to robber attack," he says.

"The robber can't go up to a little closed cage and force one man to pass out money or put up his hands. If he did the whole banking floor would see it."

When the counter first went up in the Federal-American National Bank, of which Poole is president, the news traveled fast and his friends insisted that he patent his idea. Now patents have been taken out in fourteen foreign countries.

hall, the Embankment and other streets. Up to this time everything was good-natured—both on the part of the crowds and on the part of the police.

Slowly the sturdy bobbies edged the main body down Whitehall, away from the House of Commons and toward Trafalgar Square. On the way they made a baton charge near the Cenotaph, Britain's sacred war memorial, where the crowd attempted to grab up wreaths.

One tow-headed youth, clouted over the head by a mounted man, picked himself up and slugged a patrolman down with a blow to the jaw. He went to jail, fighting all the way down the street.

By the time the crowd has been pushed all the way to Trafalgar Square its good temper was worn out and the mob spirit showed itself.

The police endeavored to keep traffic moving through the square, which is one of London's main centers, but this was impossible. The throngs stopped buses and motorcars, until finally repeated pressure by the mounted men pushed them along the Strand.

The mob was eager to battle with the foot police, but for the most part fled in panic before the mounted men, although now and again attempts were made to pull policemen from their horses. On such occasions riot clubs flashed and the attackers soon desisted.

Police and mob rolled around the square and nearby streets until shortly before 11 o'clock when, with a determined and well organized effort, the mounted and foot men combined swept the square bare, splitting the throngs up into small segments. Some fled up Pall Mall toward Picadilly, others down the Strand. Fearing the possibility of more serious rioting, the police did not allow the demonstrators to return again to the square.

One of the fiercest moments in the entire battle came when the mounted and foot men drove several scores of demonstrators off the lions and the stone base of the Nelson Monument in Trafalgar. Many women had taken refuge there and they were caught in the charge.

In the side fighting in Victoria embankment the mobs pulled destination signs from tramcars and used them as clubs. Numerous attempts to set automobiles afire were made—the favorite method being to throw lighted matches toward gasoline tanks.

Practically every window and light in Villiers street, leading out of Charing Cross, was smashed by missiles of various sorts. For some time there was pandemonium in the charging cross district, where demonstrators cried, "Down with the baby starvers," and hooted and hissed at the police.

It was most difficult to say how many of the rioters really belonged to the hunger marchers. Police said many of them were London rowdies.

Carnival Will Be Given Friday at St. Andrew's

A carnival, which will include a number of unique features, will be held Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the parish house of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, New Hampshire avenue and V street northwest.

The evening of entertainment is being sponsored by the Young People's Society of the church, the officers being: James Benner, president; Mrs. Lee Bowen, vice president, and Miss Mary Newton, secretary. Among the features will be ping-pong exhibition games in which experts of the District will participate. There will be fortune-telling, grab-bags, dancing and a table of attractive novelties. The public is invited.

NEVADA BANKS BUSY MENDING IN HOLIDAY

Governor Flies Here to Ask R. F. C. Loan; Houses to Stay Closed 12 Days.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Reorganization of the twelve banking corporations controlled by the George Wingfield interests was under way today as banks throughout Nevada took advantage of a twelve-day holiday proclaimed by executive order.

In Washington, after a flight there by airplance, Gov. Fred Balzar sought a loan of $2,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, while officials here worked to protect the interests of depositors.

The legal cessation of business was ordered last night by acting Gov. Morley Griswold after an extended conference with State and banking executives.

The First National Bank of Reno was the only local institution not to observe the holiday. A run by depositors threatened for a time this morning, but withdrawals had subsided at noon and there were even reports that several new deposits had been received.

$1,500,000 Ie Received.

Strengthened by the arrival from San Francisco of a $1,500,000 money shipment, The First National, a non-Wingfield institution was "well prepared," its directors anounced, to meet any emergency.

All of the twelve Wingfield banks, located in nine cities and carrying deposits of approximately $15,000,000, were closed today as were several of the fourteen other banks in the State. Among the banks that did not close were two at Las Vegas, center of the Hoover Dam power and irrigation project activities, and two at Ely, heart of Nevada's copper mining industry.

Inability of live stock men, hard hit by the depression and brought during the last three years to meet their obligations, was in large part responsible for the decision to declare the holiday.

Conditions in the live stock industry are such, Gov. Balzar told President Hoover in Washington today, that "it may be necessary to carry some of our citizens over until next spring."

Legislature May Assemble.

The governor, who prepared to return to Nevada tonight, said he informed the President that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had directed an investigation of his requests for a loan of $2,000,000.

Meantime, reports were current here that the calling of a special session of the Nevada legislature will be discussed with Gov. Balzar on his return to the State, as a considerable part of the State's funds, as well as the funds of counties, school districts, municipalities and the State university, are on deposit in the Wingfield banks.

It was pointed out, however, that a legislative session, if one is called, could not be held until late this month and that the proposed reorganization of the Wingfield banks might in the meantime be effected.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Nov. 1.—Fire which started from an overheated flue tonight did damage estimated at $20,000 to the store and home of Mrs. C. Dunne located in the heart of the Leesburg business section. The upper story of the store building is used as an apartment by Mrs. Dunne and her family. The apartment as well as the merchandise in the store on the first floor was badly damaged by fire and water.

After fighting the fire for almost an hour, the fire department succeeded in getting the flames under control. For a time the entire business district was threatened. The fire broke out about 9 o'clock.

ALLIES OF CAPONE SEIZED IN RACKET

Contracting Extortion Laid to Ten Taken in Raid in Chicago Loop.

Chicago, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Two detectives invaded offices of a firm of "consulting engineers" in a Loop skyscraper today and seized 10 men, among them several former associates of the deposed and imprisoned "Scarface" Al Capone.

Police declared the gangsters were preying upon contractors, demanding half of their profits for the "privilege" of operating.

Suspects Arrested.

Those arrested were: Murray Humphries, 29, owner of a cleaning and dyeing business, a recognized leader of the Capone syndicate since its chieftain went to prison, and reputed business manager; William "Klondike" O'Donnell, one of the oldest veterans of the city's protracted "beer wars;" Willis "Three Fingered Jack" White, labor racketeer, once tried for murder and reputed Capone "strong arm" man; Charles Fischetti, Capone's cousin and former chauffeur; Marcus "Steady" Looney, alleged gunman and gangster whose police record reaches back to a horse theft in 1880; William Martin, Joe Marina, 31; John O'Brien, 19; Thomas Cullen, 38, and Sam Alex, the last an alleged pickpocket, all reputed minor hoodlums.

Visit by Detectives.

Detectives William Drury and John Howe went to the office, in the No. 1 North La Salle Building. On the outer door was the name "Charles T. Sullivan, consulting engineer." The detectives marched through an ante room, in which five men lounged, into the office marked "President, private."

There they found White conversing over the telephone with some one in New York. Police ordered the call traced.

"What are you doing here?" Drury demanded.

"Oh, I'm in the transportation business—superintendent of transportation," White replied.

Three Pistols Found.

White's desk, an expensive and massive affair, was unlittered except for a .45 caliber pistol. Two other pistols, the detectives said, were found in the desk drawers.

O'Donnell and Looney were found in another private office and while the detectives were questioning them, Humphries and Fischetti walked in. A search, police said, disclosed a pistol carried in a shoulder strap holster by Humphries.

Chief of Detectives William Schomaker declared the arrests constituted one of the "biggest catches" by police in recent years. All the prisoners were taken to the Detective Bureau for investigation.

Eugene M. Kluge's Funeral Is Today

Retired Interior Decorator Will Be Buried in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Funeral services for Eugene M. Kluge, 76, retired interior decorator, died Monday at his home, 3646 Park place northwest, following a lengthy illness, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Gawler Funeral Home, 1752 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Interment will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mr Kluge had been a resident of Washington for 38 years. He was a native of Denmark and came to this country in his youth. Prior to coming here, Mr. Kluge lived in New York and Pennsylvania.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude L. Kluge; two daughters, Mrs Ethel L. Volland and Miss Henrietta E. Kluge, and three sons, Leroy E., Russell O. and Harold A. Kluge, and seven grandchildren.

Democrats Set Up ContributionBooth

Club Tonight Will Sponsor Boxing Contest at Headquarters.

To accommodate persons who call with contributions, it is announced that a special contribution booth has been established at the Democratic Headquarters at 1320 G street northwest. Miss Henriette worth is in charge of the booth.

As a climax of its "University Rally," the Young Democrats will sponsor a three-round professional boxing contest tonight at the Democratic Headquarters. The organization also announced it will have a box at the "Democratic Victory Ball" Friday night at the Mayflower Hotel.

The War Veterans' Democratic Club will hold its final rally tomorrow night at the headquarters. Music will be furnished by the Military Band of the Veterans' of Foreign Wars. A boxing carnival will be held.

Railway Extension Hearing Is Slated

I. C. C. Will Study Loan for Chesapeake Road on Next Tuesday.

Another skirmish in the battle of the Chesapeake Beach Railway Co. for the extension of its line to the Eastern Shore of Maryland by means of a ferry service is scheduled for next Tuesday when the Interstate Commerce Commission will give a hearing on the company's application for a loan of $900,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The hearing was granted on the request of the Claibore-Annapolis Ferry Co., which has consistently opposed the railway's efforts to establish the ferry service. The right of the railway to extend its lines has already been sustained in the United States Supreme Court.

The result of the hearing will be of particular interest to Washington dealers in Eastern Shore truck and farm produce because the project would mean quicker and more economical transportation to the Washington market.

REPUBLICAN TACTICS HIT AT TAKOMA PARK

Merton L. Corey, Formerly of Farm Board, Speaks at Mass Meeting.

Charging that the Republican party is carrying on a campaign of fear in an effort to elect its ticket, Merton L. Corey, New York lawyer and former member of the Federal Farm Board, last night told a Democratic mass meeting at Takoma Park, Md., that the Democratic leaders who had sufficient vision to create the Federal Reserve system, the Federal Farm Loan system, and the forerunner of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the War Finance Corporation, also have the administrative ability to carry on the relief work.

Mr. Corey was the principal speaker at the rally held under auspices of the Roosevelt-Garner-Tydings-Lewis Club in the Takoma firehouse. Representative David J. Lewis, candidate for reelection; E. Barrett Prettyman, of Chevy Chase, and J. Bond Smith, president of the club, also spoke.

Mr. Corey said that the wild speculation of 1928 and 1929 was encouraged by the Republican administration and declared that the farmer who hears the administration declare that matters might be worse doesn't find it very convincing when he has to go back to the reign of Queen Elizabeth for a decline in the price of wheat equal to present-day levels.

"Admitting that world conditions contributed to this tragic situation, the fact remains that, first, we laid the foundation for retaliatory tariffs throughout the world; second, our relationships encouraged the American people to invest in the securities of weak, irresponsible European nations to whom we refused to extend aid for their political stability; third, that with the collapse in 1929, the Republican party in power waited two years before cooperating in a definite program to relieve unemployment and distress, and fourth, in the major calamity which was visited upon the American farmer, the unsympathetic attitude of this leadership was apparent in its failure to come to the rescue of the hundreds of thousands of those who were faced with foreclosure of their mortgages."

High School Girl, 15, Missing; Hunt Starts

C. Earl Williams, 5828 Colorado avenue northwest, reported to police last night that his daughter, Ernestine, 15, had not been heard from since she left for school yesterday morning.

The girl is a student at Roosevelt High School. The father was worried about his daughter's disappearance, but told police she might have gone to Chicago, where they have relatives.

ALEXANDRIA AUDIT PLAN IS APPROVED

Ten-Year Check on Books of City Will Be Made by Ernst & Ernst.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria City Council yesterday approved the report of its standing committee which recommended the employment of the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst, of New York, Baltimore and Richmond, to conduct an audit of the city's books between September 1, 1922, and August 31, 1932.

The bid of Ernst & Ernst was on a per diem basis, $25 a day for senior accountants and $15 a day for junior accountants, with a maximum charge of $7,500. They also submitted a proposition, which was accepted, to devise and install a modern and up-to-date accounting system, for $1,000, and to extend the audit to December 31, 1933, for $1,000 additional, or a total possible maximum of $9,500.

An audit of the city's books was made in September, 1922, under W. M. Rich as city manager. One of the objects of the forthcoming audit, which is to be completed early in January, is stated by the standing committee to be: "To secure the services of a firm of the highest character and standing, and one of national reputation, whose report will be accepted by financial institutions all over this country so that when it becomes necessary in future years for our city to place another bond issue, the report of the firm making the audit will be accepted at its face value, and our citizens thereby saved further unnecessary expense in connection therewith."

Eight accounting firms were invited to submit bids for the audit.

The civics class of George Mason High School conducted an election yesterday, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Day, in the interest of instruction of future citizens in the rights of suffrage. The work was started last week when a poll tax of 1 penny was assessed, 225 of the 243 students in the school paying the tax. Monday was the final date of registration, each voter showing the tax receipt. The school was divided into four precincts, with a registrar, clerk and judge at each, both major political parties being represented.

The vote yesterday was light, owing to many absentees from school, and the final result was as follows: Roosevelt, 106; Hoover, 73; Thomas, 4, and 16 thrown out as incorrectly marked.

The newly organized Maj. James E. King Camp, Spanish War Veterans, of Alexandria, will be mustered into the Virginia Department of United Spanish War Veterans in the Elks' Hall Saturday, at 7:30 p. m.

Elliott F. Hoffman, clerk of the Corporation Court of Alexandria, has reported that during October he issued 112 county hunting and fishing licenses at $1 each; 100 resident State licenses at $3 each, and 5 nonresident at $15.50 each and 2 nonresident fishing licenses at $5 each. In addition, he collected for the State from taxes on suits, deeds, wills and marriage licenses $635.96. There were 83 marriage licenses issued.

Garrison Promises Early "Black Shirt" Arrests

Tom Garrison, chief deputy sheriff of Prince Georges County, back in office after his arrest and subsequent aquittal on statutory charges, says he knows the leader of southern Maryland's "black shirt gang" and hopes to arrest him today or tomorrow.

Garrison said residents of St. Marys County asked him to initiate his own investigation after local authorities failed to arrest the gangsters who terrorized the county for several days. Garrison also said this gang is responsible for a number of crimes in Prince Georges County.

Cemetery to Plant Memorial Trees

Bicentennial Services at St. Mary's Today to Honor Washington.

A Bicentennial service will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Mount Vernon Memorial highway at St. Mary's Cemetery, in Alexandria, which was the site of the first Catholic church in Virginia, erected in 1795.

Through the cooperation of the Bureau of Public Buildings and Parks three sycamore trees will be planted near the north gate in honor of Gen. Washington, who subscribed toward the building; in honor of Col. John Fitzgerald, his favorite aid de camp, who collected the funds, and in honor of Col. Robert Hooe, Mayor of Alexandria, who donated the acre of ground. The exercises will be under the direction of St. Mary's Cemetery committee, of which the Very Rev. T. A. Rankin is the chairman.

A large, brown sandstone has been secured from the old canal of the Potomac Co., of which Washington and Fitzgerald were directors. On this stone will be placed a bronze marker recording the planting of the trees, and setting forth that the cemetery is the resting place of Michael B. Harlow, the originator of the Mount Vernon Memorial highway idea. It is planned to unveil this marker on the first Sunday of December, the anniversary of the funeral of Col. Fitzgerald, who was buried at Warburton Manor (the present site of Fort Washington), December 4, 1799, ten days before the death of his chief at Mount Vernon.

TEA HOUSE MURDER TRIAL ON TOMORROW

Change of Venue Will Not Be Sought; Simone May Take Stand for State.

A change of venue will not be sought in the Bladensburg tea house shooting trial, tentatively scheduled for tomorrow in Prince Georges County circuit court, it was said yesterday by attorneys representing John Wallace and James Zalenski.

Wallace and Zalenski and Thomas Simone have been indicted for the murder of Grover Amick last year. Wallace and Zalenski pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judges Joseph C. Mattingly and William M. Loker. Simone was not arraigned, and this fact, together with the fact that his attorney has withdrawn from the case, gave rise to rumors he had turned State's evidence. Attorney J. Wilson Ryon and Attorney Paul Mules, of Baltimore, represent Zalenski.

In court yesterday Charles Dustin, of Laurel, pleaded guilty to two indictments charging possession of liquor, and sentence was suspended when State's Attorney Alan Bowie pointed out that he had already spent 125 days in jail awaiting trial. A bad-check indictment against him was nol-prossed when he promised to make the amount good.

Guilty pleas were entered by James Johnson, Cornelius Franklin and Leroy Jackson, all charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods. A trial before the court resulted in a verdict that Harry Fleming was not guilty of nonsupport of his wife.

ARLINGTON G. O. P. INSTRUCTS VOTERS

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Determined that all Republican votes shall count on election day, L. C. MacPherson, county chairman, announced that all voters will be afforded an opportunity to have a "dress rehearsal" for election day at Republican headquarters in the Rucker Building at Clarendon.

A voting booth, identical to those to be used throughout the county on November 8, has been placed in the headquarters. Persons who call there will be given blank ballots and told to step into the screened booth to practice marking their ballots. Chairman MacPherson said this voting service would be continued every day and night at headquarters until midnight before election. He expressed the belief that this practice would prevent many persons from spoiling their ballots on election day.

The Democrats of Arlington County will stage their fifth rally of the campaign under auspices of the county committee at 8 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Cherrydale fireman's hall.

State Senator William A. Wright and Mrs. Alma Partridge, Washington attorney, will be principal speakers.

Edward Douglas White Council, No. 2473, Knights of Columbus, will meet tomorrow night in the new clubhouse at 14 Garrison road, Clarendon. The council will hold memorial exercises.

Leon Arnold, president of the Washington-Maryland and Virginia Coach Co., will be principal speaker at a meeting in Robert E. Lee School tonight.

Those excused were Harry Hoskinson, Thomas C. Oxley, Charles H. Viett, jr., A. Douglas Farquhar, William R. Rabbitt, Walter B. Myers and Guy R. Perry. Those chosen to serve instead were Ambrose B. Reid, Jesse G. Myerly, William D. Clark, Herman H. Ladson, W. Wilson Briggs, William G. McCrossin and Frank Counselman. The term of court begins November 14.

Taxicab Driver Robbed Of $8 and His Vehicle

Stephen R. Butterfield, 27, Takoma Park, Md., taxicab driver, reported to police yesterday that he was held up and robbed by two white men whom he had driven to Fort Myer late Monday night.

He said the men entered his cab at 1609 Fifty-first street northwest, and told him to drive to the Service Department at Fort Myer. On arrival, they pulled a gun, took his money, totaling $8, put him out and drove away in his cab.

Arlington Red Cross To Discuss Roll Call

Plans for the annual Red Cross Roll Call in Arlington County will be discussed at a meeting of the county chapter tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Bertha Kelly, chairman, at Clarendon avenue and Pershing drive, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

The principal speaker will be Henry M. Baker, assistant director of disaster relief for the American Red Cross and a veteran of many national emergencies. Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. W. E. Willis, of the Home Service Bureau, will also speak.

Cross-Blending

WHAT IS IT . . and how does it improve cigarette taste?

YOU'VE heard how fruit of one variety has been crossed with fruit of another to produce a new and more pleasing flavor. The loganberry, for example, is a cross between the raspberry and the blackberry.

Chesterfield's Cross-Blend gets the same result—better taste—by a different method.

It welds together the different kinds of several varieties of tobacco. Many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco, and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco are all merged into one—Chesterfield tobacco.

This welding or Cross-Blending goes beyond ordinary blending or mixing tobaccos together. It actually makes every kind of tobacco in Chesterfield partake of the qualities of every other type.

It's the Cross-Blending of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that gives Chesterfields a distinctive, better taste.

They are milder. They have a flavor and aroma which, we believe, you will like.

PASSING JUDGMENT.

As the campaign approaches its end the voters are bombarded by political speeches in which extravagance begins to take the place of solid reasoning. The speakers, from the presidential candidates down, are evidently more greatly excited than the voters.

Inasmuch as a program of national recovery has been adopted by the joint efforts of the President and Congress, and is now proving its effectiveness by reducing unemployment and encouraging business to go forward, it seems reasonable to presume that the country's best interests would be served by sticking to that program, rather than running the risk of having it interrupted or scrapped. President Hoover, who took the lead in devising this national program, is well qualified to carry it into execution.

It does not seem to be necessary or advisable, in urging that the present administration be continued, that an effort should be made to frighten or intimidate voters by exaggerating the effects of a change of administration. To many listeners it seemed that Mr. Hoover painted entirely too black a picture in his New York speech when he suggested that the American system of social and economic life and the form of government would be imperiled by the election of Gov. Roosevelt. Mr. Hoover feels deeply, and doubtless is profoundly disturbed by the thought that his work may be brushed aside by a change of administration; but his solicitude is well understood by discriminating voters, and they are not made more sympathetic by holding up to them a picture of chaos as an alternative to supporting him.

Over-zealous partisans of the President have ventured to play upon the fears of voters by veiled threats that workingmen will be laid off unless they vote for him. Gov. Roosevelt has been quick to seize upon this mistake of his opponents. Citizens resent any suggestion of intimidation in connection with their right to exercise their judgment freely in deciding how to vote. They do not take kindly to political pressure by employers.

The people are taking a careful measure of candidates. Rosy visions of instantaneous relief from the depression, merely by changing Presidents, do not appeal to voters who have seen Presidents come and go. They know that they must conquer this depression themselves, and that the aid rendered by the Government will be incidental. They have seen that Presidents are limited in authority and can neither hasten the millennium nor plunge the nation into chaos. Voters are fair-minded, in the mass, and give credit to faithful public servants while weighing the capabilities of men who offer themselves as public servants. Violent exaggerations, to say nothing of falsehoods, shatter themselves against the cool common sense of the public.

A mighty nation composed of 47,000,000 registered voters is taking stock of its condition and pondering whether it shall support the national program, to be executed by President Hoover, or sweep the Republican administration out of office and risk a new deal. The immensity of the country and the complexity of the problems involved make all pre-election boasts and prophecies ridiculous. All candidates can afford to confine their discussions to temperate reasoning. The people are competent to pass judgment, and will do so without regard to "frantic boast and foolish word."

POLITICS AND RECOVERY.

One of the most impressive aspects of the current business improvement is the fact that it is taking place in spite of the general election. Ever since Congress adjourned last summer the political cauldrons have been boiling, yet business has made steady gains. It appears that the relief in having passed safely through the last session of Congress is considerably greater than any fears of uncertainty as the result of the November balloting.

Reports from all parts of the country indicate that the improvements which began in August have been sustained and extended in the last two months. Approximately 1,000,000 jobless men have gone back to work. The feeling of panic that was current in May and June has now completely subsided. Confidence is gaining momentum every day, as evidenced by the return of money from hoarding. There is a general belief that if industry and business have a chance to proceed without too much disturbance recovery will continue along the lines it has taken.

When business is ready to expand further a tremendous volume of credit will be available. During the last three months, says the Federal Reserve Board, banks have repaid $203,000,000 on their borrowings from the reserve system and have added $244,000,000 to their excess reserves. Deposits in New York banks are nearly $1,000,000,000 above the low point reached in March. Since July they have increased loans and investments by approximately $700,000,000. But there are still vast sums in the banks seeking profitable employment.

This fact suggests that even though recovery has been substantial this fall, it has nevertheless been retarded by politics. Industry and commerce can not possibly go ahead on a normal basis when there are prospects of major changes in the national policy. This is an inevitable result of any election. When the stagnating influence of politics is considered, the improvement which has been made since early summer becomes even more remarkable.

The large volume of credit that is available for productive enterprises and the steady restoration of purchasing power to workingmen, even under adverse conditions, lead to the belief that recovery will be more rapid as soon as politics have subsided and practical men can plan for the future with reasonable assurance of stability. Business is confident that a foundation for recovery has been laid. Business men want a chance to work out their own programs. The sooner industry can resume its normal activities and workingmen can regain their normal jobs, the sooner will prosperity smile upon this country once more.

CASH ON HAND.

Assurance that business can revive with reasonable promptitude, since confidence has been regained and effective measures taken to supply credit for reconstruction needs, is found in the fact that American citizens have on deposit in the banks throughout the country about $60,000,000,000. For three years most of them have been as chary about spending it as the banks have been with regard to making loans. Depositors now begin to realize that the day of abnormally low prices draws to a close.

A survey just completed by the industrial bureau of the Merchants' Association of New York discloses some interesting figures on bank deposits in the metropolitan retail area. This includes the five boroughs of the city and twenty-three suburban counties within a radius of 60 miles of New York. It is found that the bank deposits in this territory total no less than $16,000,000,000. It shows an immense buying power located within easy reach of the nation's greatest city.

It might seem at first glance that this vast accumulation of wealth largely represents the holdings of the owners of great fortunes. A heavy proportion of the total, however, is held in the personal accounts of nearly 6,000,000 separate depositors. Their accounts average in the neighborhood of $1,000 each. Nearly $5,000,000,000 of the total deposits here considered is in savings banks. In addition there are thousands of savings accounts in the State and national banks and trust companies. This wide distribution of funds is considered the best evidence of buying power. The total of savings accounts in the New York retail trading area is figured at $7,000,000,000.

Many persons living outside New York proper make use of the big banks of the city, nearly three-fourths of the total deposits of the metropolitan area being held in the banks located in New York County. There seems to be no question that it is now this country which "has the cash and has the credit, too."

CITY RELIEF WORK.

According to a comprehensive survey recently made by Fortune it remained for Tulsa, the center of the oil industry in Oklahoma, to perfect the most scientific system of providing food for those of its citizens requiring aid. Needs of various classes were figured out to include balanced diets in all cases, and supplies were bought in quantities that enabled the city to set a record for low costs.

The Tulsa commissary plan to provide food for its unemployed begins with purchases at wholesale prices. Food is concentrated in central storehouses and there divided into three types of rations for children, adolescents and adults. Each ration is put up in a distinctive paper bag for ready distribution. The weekly apportionment for a family contains whole wheat, cornmeal, oatmeal, beans, white potatoes, sweet potatoes, lean and boneless ground meat, sugar, carrots or cabbage, or onions or spinach, turnips, peanut butter, powdered milk, salt pork, cocoa, salt, tomatoes, baking powder, soap and cod-liver oil.

Additions are made when prices permit of fresh fruit, such as grape fruit, pears, apples, etc., while specially numbered rations contain at least a pint of skimmed milk, tomato juice or equivalent, and extra green vegetables. The meat supplied is secured by purchasing whole fat bulls. The meat is boned and ground as needed so that there is practically no waste. To aid in proper preparation of food free cooking demonstrations are given.

In order to care for some 12,000 unemployed Tulsa distributes 2,000 of the weekly rations daily, and the remarkable thing is that the city does this at a cost of 6 cents per day per person. Similar service in Boston costs 30 cents per person, in Denver 50 cents, Fort Worth 36 cents, Chicago 10 cents, and Toledo 7 cents. The cost of rations in the United States Army is 34 cents a day. As the problem of feeding unemployed is one that now concerns every city in the country, investigation of the methods successfully employed by Tulsa should be made by every community that has not worked out a successful system for itself.

MIGRATION TO THE FARM.

Migration of families back to the farm has reached large proportions during the last three years. A report by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimates that farm population will total about 32,000,000 persons at the end of this year. This is approximately equal to the number of people living on farms in 1910, when farm population reached its peak.

In 1931 there was a considerable movement away from the farm as well as to the farm, but the net gains in agricultural population from this source were about 656,000 persons. A similar record is in the making this year. From 1930 to 1932 it is estimated that farm population has increased by 1,500,000 as a result of migration away from industrial centers. People have been driven back to the farm by the depression. When unemployment is prevalent and food is scarce in the cities, a family can nearly always eke out an existence on a farm, even though it may not be a paying proposition.

The statement of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics is in rather sharp disagreement with Gov. Roosevelt's Boston address. Millions of workers have crowded into cities, he said, because agriculture has been permitted "to fall into ruin." The governor continued in this language:

> These men have added to unemployment. They are here because agriculture is prostrate. A restored agriculture will check this migration. It will keep these farmers happily at home. It will leave more jobs for you. It will provide a market for your products.

Apparently the boot is on the other foot. Farmers encounter more drastic competition, aggravating their overproduction problems, because factory workers have been driven back to the farm by industrial stagnation. Some agricultural workmen have gone to the cities, but a much larger number of industrial workers have moved to farms. If any attempt is made to revive agriculture without at the same time reviving industry, more city workers will flock to farms to take advantage of the improved situation. This would, of course, stimulate production and reduce consumption, which would mean a fresh wave of disaster for the farmer.

On the other hand, as industry recovers, a larger market for agricultural products will be created and many industrial workers who have been forced into farming by hard times will return to their jobs, thus relieving competition on the farm.

It is worthy of note that Gov. Roosevelt advocated continued protection for both agriculture and industry at Boston. At Des Moines and Sioux City he said that the industrial tariff would have to be reduced. His prepared address at Boston included only agriculture in the guarantee of protection, but Gov. Roosevelt added industry to the oral version heard over the radio. Apparently he has come to realize that there is no hope of improving the lot of the farmer unless the farmer's chief market—American industrial cities—is also given a chance to recover.

Any comfort that may be gleaned from the thought that election is only a week off is vitiated by the fact that within a little more than a month Congress will be spouting again.

NIP AND TUCK

By CLINTON W. GILBERT, in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

However the national election goes this year, there is likely to be a relatively small popular majority for the winner, and by relatively small I mean small compared to the 7,000,000 by which both Harding and Coolidge won and the 6,000,000 majority by which Hoover won. If the Republicans win it will be by a close vote. In Republican national headquarters they have hard work counting the States that will give the Republican candidate a bare majority of the electoral college, and they do not expect to sweep any of these States by the old-time pluralities. So the Republicans, if they win, will have a small plurality of the popular vote.

And as one goes about the country, in spite of evidences of a swing to the Democrats, one sees no signs of a huge Democratic plurality. Certainly Chairman Farley's prediction of 10,000,000 more Democratic votes than Republican votes will not be realized. Mr. Hoover received 21,000,000 votes in 1928, 6,000,000 more than Gov. Smith did. To produce the 10,000,000 majority that Mr. Farley predicts 8,000,000 persons who voted for Mr. Hoover in 1928 would have to switch over to Mr. Roosevelt this time. Eight out of twenty-one or almost two out of five. That is absurd on its face.

The big popular majorities of the Republicans in the last three elections have been obtained by carrying a few States by a big margin. They have been obtained generally by carrying New York by about 1,000,000, Pennsylvania by 1,000,000, Ohio by 500,000 or more, Illinois by 500,000 to 700,000, Michigan by 400,000 or 500,000, California by 500,000. Those States are not going to swing Democratic by any such figures. And without getting a majority of 5,000,000 in those States it would be impossible for the Democrats to roll up the 10,000,000 that Mr. Farley predicts.

POST HASTE

November 8 will have great influence on many turkey appetites November 24.

Presidents were elected in three Latin-American republics on Sunday and all still expect to take office.

When Premier Herriot made a "friendly gesture" in Madrid the Spanish students thought he was reaching for a gun.

The business story is getting rather monotonous—just one improvement after another.

If 1,000,000 men have gone back to work since Congress adjourned what will be the effect of its return next month?

Wise bonus marchers will hitchhike with the farm army that is to head for Washington—it is to be well grub-staked.

That roar from the West Monday night was due to the double-header presidential that crowded Amos 'n' Andy off the air.

A secret Franco-Japanese pact is rumored to be packed with a big loan for Tokyo and a big munition order for Paris.

A number of grand slams have already been scored against the new contract rules. Bridge teachers will now have to provide a preliminary course in arithmetic or furnish adding machines.

New York City, with a population of 7,000,000 and a budget of $557,000,000, both larger than a majority of the countries of the world can boast, is peeved to find its mayoralty contest smothered by a national election.

A grapevine message from California says that the Prohibitionist candidate for the Senate who was smart enough to get his name on all three tickets may give Huey Long lively competition.

New York brokers and Brazilian growers are going to spend $1,000,000 advertising coffee. Why not combine with the bakers and "let's have another piece of pie" at the same time.

Heard over the radio the Communist boos might be confused with other booze arguments.

At this stage it does not seem possible that anything can fill the hole left by the absence of campaign talk next week. PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MICE, ABSOLUTELY FREE.

"Want a pair of mice," says Janet, "in a week or two?
Build a cage and I will give two of mine to you.
Got to ask your mother first? I can tell you now
Mice are something parents absolutely won't allow!

"Here's the way to do it. I have many a mouse to spare,
Come and look at them today and pick yourself a pair.
They're all furred out and ready. Yes, they're at the proper age,
So go and get some grown-up man you know to build a cage.

"But don't you tell your mother, and don't you tell your dad
And don't you sit around and say that mice you wish you had.
For though they're just as pretty and as cute as they can be
It seems white mice are something every grown-up hates to see.

"If you ask them may you have them 'No!' is what they're sure to say,
But if you take them home with you perhaps they'll let them stay.
That's how I had to do it. Now my cage is full of mice
And I wish you'd take a couple for you'll find them very nice."

Leper of Old Was a Menace to All, but He Had the Grace to Shout "Unclean!"

By ROBERT QUILLEN

IF some stranger should appear on the street carelessly swinging a club and thus should injure scores of people so seriously that none could return to his work for a period of 24 hours, the law would regard him as a public enemy not to be trusted at liberty.

Yet at this season of the year such public enemies begin to appear in ever-increasing numbers and nothing is done to restrain or discourage them because their weapon is a familiar thing called a common cold.

People refuse to take the common cold seriously because it is common, yet it costs America more than any other disease and the complications that follow it take a dreadful toll of life each winter.

In recent years, men of science have done their utmost to find the cause of colds and perfect a cure, but so far all of their efforts have been fruitless.

The little knowledge gained is largely negative.

There are no colds in isolated districts where there are no germs. A cold can be "caught" only by contact with some one who has it. Exposure seems to cause colds because most of us carry the germs while in normal health and anything that lowers our resistance or irritates the delicate membranes of our respiratory system gives the germs an opportunity to multiply.

Vaccines give no protection.

Sun lamps give no increase of immunity.

No salve or ointment, drops or fumes or any other medicine yet discovered will effect a cure.

The most effective medication, based on the assumption that an acid condition of the system precedes or accompanies the cold, is common baking soda and calcium.

Anything that increases health decreases colds; anything that impairs health increases colds.

The cold season is beginning now and will reach its peak in January. The average person will have one or two colds during the season and lose from one to three days. Colds and respiratory disorders will account for 35 per cent of all disease this winter, and the cost will be somewhere in the neighborhood of $500,000,000.

To avoid your share of colds, spray your throat and nostrils with some germ killer each time you come in from the street.

If you develop a cold, go to bed. That is the cheapest and quickest way to treat the cold and the only decent way to treat your neighbors.

Uneconomic Banks.
Brooklyn Eagle.

The economic policies committee of the American Bankers Association reports that in eleven years more than 10,000 banks have been eliminated by suspensions, mergers and voluntary liquidation; the process having been begun eight years before the Wall street crash of October, 1929. And it finds that this has "made the country's banking structure generally stronger than any of the sweeping plans for legislative reforms could have done."

We have no reason to doubt the statistics or the conclusion. A glance over the list of hundreds of little banks, to which the R. F. C. was persuaded to loan relatively small sums, may be held to indicate that the strengthening process has not gone far enough yet.

In any number of little towns there are two or three banks where one, fairly and properly run, would serve every purpose. And there are plenty of other towns where no bank at all is economically justified. The old plea of local accessibility means little in these days when almost every farmer has a motor car, and 50 miles to a bank means only a couple of hours.

The next Congress will be charged with the duty of bringing the Nation through one of its greatest crises. No matter which party wins the Presidency, the halls of Congress during the next year or so will be crowded and cluttered with nostrums and panaceas of every sort and kind.

Therefore, it behooves the voters to choose carefully the men to whom they intrust their interests at Washington during the next two years. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Would Apply Military Law to Organized Crime, Which Is Described as Conspirative Treason.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Relative to an article on Bandoleriams in The Post of October 30 I would like to call Dr. David P. Barrows' attention to certain points.

While the law referred to might work well in the Philippines, its passage and application in the United States is subject to somewhat different conditions. The Philippines are practically a unit in the matter of criminal law, but in the States each State has its own laws against crime. Hence the procedure proposed in that article, while intriguing, would require the passage of uniform laws by forty-eight legislatures, which seem difficult, if not impossible of accomplishment. It would certainly entail considerable delay and afford our criminal element a grand opportunity to throw a carload of wrenches into the machinery. After that we would have to wait on the action of Congress to apply it to our possessions.

Organized crime is really a conspiracy against the Government; actually an act of treason, and should be defined and treated as such. If organization for the commission of crime against the United States laws, or the laws of any State or possession of the United States could be tried under military law by a court-martial with suspension of all civil rights, and in case of proven guilt with the sentence executed within twenty-four hours, I believe that organized crime would prove less attractive.

If organization to commit crime, or for the purpose of securing the acquittal of those guilty thereof, or for extending, knowingly, aid or comfort to such criminals could be recognized and defined as treason, then the President, or any governor could proclaim a State of martial law and make quick work of disposing of the criminal and organized crime would become rather unpopular.

I believe gangsters are the enemies of the United States and that they, and their abettors should be handled by military law and military methods. HOMER B. HARLAN.

Legion Spokesman Warns Against Shift of Tax Burden to Local Property Taxpayers if Federal Relief of Disabled Veterans is Cut Down.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read your editorial of October 29, "Relief of Veterans," purporting to analyze the American Legion's defense against the drive for reduction of Federal funds for World War disabled.

It is regrettable that in your analysis of the legion's statement, you omit reference to the chief legion point, which is:

The public should realize that disabled men must be cared for, and that should the efforts of veterans' opponents be successful, the result would not be actual tax relief, but a shift of disabled veterans' maintenance from Federal income taxpayers to local property taxpayers—to the class already enduring the greatest tax burden.

The legion grants The Washington Post its American right to champion either side of the veterans' controversy. But we object to the misrepresentation of our viewpoint caused by the omission referred to.

Sets "Stroller" Right as to the Wadsworth Family.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your "Stroller" seems to have steered the wrong course in his coasting down Massachusetts avenue on Saturday last. He writes, "just on the other side of the Circle workmen are swarming over the elder Senator Wadsworth's old home, vacant many seasons, but once a highlight in social life of the Rooseveltian era."

It would be difficult to crowd more misstatements in a paragraph. In the first place there is an intimation that there have been two "Senator Wadsworth," whereas there never has been but one. The "elder" was a member of the House of Representatives for nearly twenty years. His son served for twelve years in the Senate and next Tuesday will, in all probability, be elected to the House in which the "elder" served so long. Then, again, neither of the two Wadsworths who were in Congress during the past 50 years ever lived in that house in which "workmen are swarming." That residence was erected by Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth of Ashantee, N. Y., who is related by marriage to the two "Jims," one of whom resided during the latter years of his life on K street, and the son of the former senator, has his home in a house which is the site of the present Hay-Adams House. Three-Way Traffic at Intersections the Cause of Pedestrian Fatality. Should Have Special Light.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Just a line in regard to the traffic toll as published in The Post of October 29. The present traffic laws are directly responsible for the increase of jay-walkers in crossing our streets between intersections. One has but to watch traffic in but one direction, while at crosswalks you are run down by automobiles going on both lights at the same time; sometimes in three directions.

Why is it the pedestrian is the "forgotten man?" Has he no rights above the ground? If, as in some of our more up-to-date cities, the pedestrian were given the amber light to cross the streets on, jay-walking would cease and the 98 deaths for 1932 would be reduced nearly 100 per cent. Let our distinguished traffic director give it a trial and see.

ROAD REPAIRS ASKED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Three Changes in Zoning Sought for Brentwood and Berwyn Heights.

Requests for three road improvement and three changes in zoning, in Berwyn Heights and Brentwood, occupied the Prince Georges County Commissioners at their regular meeting yesterday.

Lee Van Horn and a delegation of members of the Lanham-Severn Road Association appeared before the board to ask that a portion of this route be placed on the 1933 construction budget. Their request was filed. Another delegation asked $1,000 to pave the Branchville-Glenn Dale-Marlboro road with gravel, but no action was taken on this request. The board appropriated $550 for a bridge over Kings Branch, in Nottingham District.

A petition asking that lots 23, 24, and 26, in block 10, Berwyn Heights, be changed from residential to commercial was approved, subject to a 50-foot setback. The change was asked by W. P. Magruder.

E. V. R. Sweet asked for two changes in Brentwood, both from residential to commercial, and both were granted. One concerned lots 17 to 23, in block 7, while the other was for a change for lots 3, 4, 5 and 6, in block 9. Approval of the latter request was subject to a 10-foot setback.

Albert L. Fowler, of Spauldings District, applied for a position as constable in that district. His application was filed.

Tittmann, Miss Ruth Tuckerman, Miss Elizabeth Walker and Miss Priscilla Watson.

Luncheon was served in the Palm Court of the hotel, a large centerpiece of red dahlias being used for table decorations, with a wreath around the entire table of the same flowers combined with fern.

Very beautiful five-year diaries, each one with a lock and key, and the name of the guest engraved on the leather cover, were used both as place cards and as a gift from Miss Sykes to her sister debutantes.

Mrs. Sykes aso had guests with her at luncheon in the presidential dining room. Those in her party were Mrs. Pat Harrison, Mrs. William Laird Dunlop, jr., Mrs. Helen Ray Hagner, and Mrs. Blake Lowe, of Baltimore.

Judge Sykes, who is vice chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, is now in Madrid as chairman of the American delegation attending the International Radio Telegraph Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. David H. Blair have issued invitations for a dinner on Friday evening, December 9, at the Willard preceding the first meeting of the Friday Evening Dancing Class.

Mrs. Jack Hayes has issued invitations for a luncheon at the Chevy Chase Club on Monday, November 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre are returning from their summer home at Manchester, Mass., tomorrow, and will be at the Ambassador in New York before coming to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Smith will entertain at dinner Friday evening, November 11, at the Mayflower for Mr. Louis Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. Johnson. Later they will take their guests to the Armistice Ball at the Mayflower.

Mrs. George R. Shields and daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Shields, are spending three weeks in Long Beach, Calif. They will return to Washington the later part of November.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Frothingham, of Biltmore Forest, N. C., are spending a month at the Grafton. Mr. and Mrs. Frothingham formerly made their home in Washington. The latter is the sister of Justice Peyton Gordon.

Dr. George E. MacLean has returned to the city after a summer in England and attending the "Home-Coming" of the State University of Iowa, where he was a guest of honor.

Miss Helen Barrier, of Greensboro, N. C., was married to Mr. Nathan Hale Kendall, of Washington, on Saturday. The wedding took place at Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church. The Rev. Nolan B. Harmon, jr., performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kendall left immediately after the ceremony for Niagara Falls and will make their home on their return at 1401 Ingraham street.

Miss Loretta A. Javins To Be Married in Connecticut.

Miss Loretta A. Javins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nevils Javins, formerly of Washington, now of Pasadena, Calif., whose marriage to Mr. Victor Robert Eckels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Eckels, of Bridgeport, Conn., will take place in St. Paul's Church, Bridgeport, Conn., Monday, November 14, at 10 o'clock, will have Miss Marie Charles Noone as her maid of honor.

Mr. Eckels will have his brother, Mr. Ralph C. Eckels, jr., as best man.

The ushers will include Mr. Walter P. Crandall, of Washington.

Miss Jean C. Brewood, of Washington, will play violin solos.

A wedding breakfast and reception will follow at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lansing. A number of prenuptial festivities have been planned for the bride-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Maginnis, of Brookline, Mass., are at the Powhatan.

The Art and Archaeology League announces the first meeting of the season at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, on Saturday afternoon, November 12, at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, who is in charge of the Bicentennial historical loan exhibition of life portraits of George Washington and his associates, will speak in the auditorium on the subject of the exhibition which she has assembled. A visit to the exhibition with Mrs. Hoes will follow her address.

The Democratic Victory ball on Friday at the Mayflower will have an interesting group of box holders, recent subscribers being Mrs. Mary R. Elkins, Mrs. Franklin H. Penworthy and also, among some of the universities and schools of the city, the Democratic Club of Georgetown University.

Additional patronesses of the Victory ball include Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, Mrs. William F. Dennis, Mrs. J. R. Hildebrand and Mrs. Wilton J. Lambert.

A variety of entertainment will be offered in connection with the Victory dance to be held tomorrow evening at the Beaver Dam Country Club by the Young Men's Democratic Club of Prince Georges County, Md.

There will be musical selections by Miss Eleanore Owings, Miss Thelma Schilling and Mrs. Dorothy Brown; Caesar L. Aiello, Charles L. Ervin, J. Burroughs Waters and J. Burroughs Waters, jr., and a portrait of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be unveiled by Miss Helen Louise Duckett and Miss Mae Harris Clarke, who made their debuts the past season in Washington. George Jones will sing.

Prominent women of southern Maryland will serve as patronesses. Mr. Walter L. Green is chairman of the social committee of the club, which is in general charge of arrangements.

Many Take Boxes For Frohman Lecture.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, Mrs. Patrick Hurley and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams represent the official women of the Capital City who are sponsoring the forthcoming appearance of Mr. Daniel Frohman at Constitution Hall on the evening of Wednesday, November 16, at 8:15 o'clock, when he will speak to a brilliant audience on "Reminiscences of the Stage and Its Stars." Among other well-known women who are sponsors for the event are Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, Mrs. Henry Fitzhugh and Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley.

Among those who will occupy boxes and entertain guests for Mr. Frohman's first appearance "in person" in the city, are Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins, Miss Alice D. Goddard, Miss Janet McWilliam, Miss Lucille W. Wilkinson, Mrs. William A. Wilbur, Dr. Anna Pearl Cooper, Mrs. William M. Hannay, Mrs. Henry H. Haskell, Mrs. Theodore F. Shuey, Mrs. Frank W. Mahin, and others who have made reservations for the evening include Mrs. James K. McClintock, Mrs. E. R. McComas, Mrs. Frank Bunker, Mrs. Robert Sterling Yard, Mrs. Francis Goodwin, Mrs. Elwood Morey, Miss Rose Swart, Mrs. J. H. Branson, Mr. Harry C. Davis and Mr. Kirk Holmes.

Mrs. B. F. Cheatham represents the District of Columbia Council of Girl Scouts working for the success of the event, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley heads a committee of the District of Columbia Federation of Women Clubs, Mrs. William Lee Corbin is chairman of a large group representing the League of Republican Women. All three organizations are interested in the sale of boxes and tickets for Mr. Frohman's talk, which is given under the direction of Mrs. Lyman B. Swormstedt.

Judge T. T. Ansberry and Mr. John Paul Jones will be the speakers at the last town meeting of the season, to be held tomorrow at the Woman's National Democratic Club, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. John Allan Dougherty will preside. The club announces open house to all Democrats on election day. There will be club teas today and Saturday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock. All Democrats are invited.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia will entertain at a card party this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Medical Society Building. Mrs. Harry A. Fowler, president of the auxiliary, will preside, assisted by Mrs. Lewis Battle, Mrs. Eugene R. Whitmore and Mrs. Leroy Sawyer. Those who do not play cards are invited for tea at 4 o'clock.

Chemists to End 48th Parley Today

Pennsylvanian Is Slated to Be President of Association.

The Association of Official Agricultural Chemists will close its forty-eighth annual meeting today with election of officers and committee reports at the Raleigh Hotel. J. W. Kellogg, Pennsylvania State Chemist, is slated to succeed Dr. A. E. Paul, United States Food and Drug Administrator, of Chicago, Ill., as president.

Technical problems of agriculture from the chemist's viewpoint were discussed by a number of authorities yesterday. The contents of beers, wines and distilled liquors were given a complete discussion by A. W. Linder, of the Bureau of Industrial Agriculture.

Dr. A. F. Woods, of the Food and Drug Administration, brought greetings to the chemists yesterday afternoon from Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde. He told the chemists that because of the careful watch being kept on all Government departments with a view to reducing expenditures that it behooved them to make every effort to increase their efficiency.

Auxiliary to Hear Address by Bishop

Rt. Rev. W. B. Roberts, of South Dakota, Will Speak Tomorrow.

The Right Rev. William Blair Roberts, D. D., Bishop of South Dakota, will address the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Washington at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Church of the Epiphany.

Bishop Roberts was elevated to the post of bishop in September, 1931. He was born in Detfoit, where his father was in charge of a parish, and educated in the public schools of that city and at Trinity College, Hartford. He was ordained three years later.

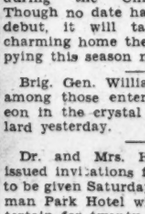
Bishop Roberts' first work was in volunteer service in the missionary field of South Dakota. He spent his entire ministry in that State except for 18 months with the A. E. F. during the World War. Up to the time of his election as Bishop of the District of South Dakota, his work was entirely with the 5,000 South Dakota Indians in the district.

Lieut. McCormick Ends 35-Year Police Work

Lieut. J. W. McCormick, of the Fifth Precinct, who retired yesterday from the Police Department after 35 years of service, was presented with a smoking stand, pipes and tobacco by his fellow officers at the precinct.

The presentation was made by Capt. H. H. Groves.

MUST WOMEN SUFFER?



Is it their lot to suffer cramps and backaches every month? Certainly not. The tonic effect of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has ended all that for many thousands of women.

Mrs. Schnepper's case is typical. She was always sickly. Tired. Gloomy. "Now," she says, "everywhere I go people tell me how much better I look. I feel like dancing for joy all the time."

Radios, $53.50

Recently $79.50

When the election returns come in, you can enjoy them all by radio, in your own home. We knew this set was an excellent value at its regular $79.50 price—so we bought all a General Electric distributor had. The 8-tube superheterodyne circuit has more selectivity and better volume than most sets sold at this price. New pentode tube and super-control that gives a mellow, natural tone. Automatic volume control. Pay as little as $7.81 down, $7.81 monthly for six months.

RADIO GALLERIES, FOURTH FLOOR

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

"NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL GOOD MEN" &C.

THE presidential campaign is practically over and it won't be long now before the voters know whether a Democrat or a Republican will fish the Rapidan for the next four years.

* * * *

The two candidates have been interfering with the regular radio programs to the best of their abilities for the past six months, and a careful inquiry reveals that the voters are now so befuddled that they are in ideal condition to vote wrong.

* * * *

It has been the first campaign conducted entirely by ear. All it needed was a commercial sponsor, and a master of ceremonies to announce that the platform was being explained by special permission of the copyright owners.

* * * *

The American people have been listening to the candidates ever since June, and their final judgment is that, while both tried hard, neither was quite as funny as Ed Wynne on the air.

* * * *

The Democrats believe they are far out ahead in the race, but this may be due entirely to the fact they take the fan mail too seriously.

* * * *

The questions before the voters are: Shall we have a new face in the White House window, or should Herbert Hoover be forced to serve an extended sentence?

Is a change in the White House personnel desirable or would a change in the administration throw too many presidential secretaries out of work?

Does America want a new administration at Washington, or does Mr. Hoover look just as good in hip boots wading a trout stream as anybody any other party has put up?

* * * *

BOTH candidates of the major parties want the job, which ought to give you a fair idea how serious the unemployment situation must be this year.

Mr. Roosevelt believes in fate. When he was a little boy his father took him to the White House to see President Cleveland. The President patted him on the head, and said, "My son, you may be President of the United States some day." But Master Roosevelt was a child who didn't scare easily.

* * * *

The Democratic candidate spent most of his adult life making nominating speeches for Al Smith, but finally decided to speak for himself and see if anybody cared, either way.

* * * *

He is running without the support of the Oyster Bay Roosevelts, who are careful to explain that he is only a fifth cousin. This appears to be close enough to satisfy both sides of the house, and just goes to show that family ties are thicker than consomme.

* * * *

President Hoover has had a four-year ordeal at Washington, but wants a chance to prove that he can still take it.

* * * *

It has been a great battle, if your radio wasn't working. And within a few days the White House mjikman will know whether to go on leaving the same amount or wait and see what the new occupant will have.

* * * *

GOING UP.

Col. Lindbergh is to make a flying campaign for Mr. Hoover. Isn't the campaign far enough over the people's heads already?

* * * *

OR HIS FOOTWORK'S SLOW.

Gene Tunney was too late to register as a voter this year. Off on his timing again.

* * * *

Helen Twelvetrees, picture star and wife of Frank Woody, is the mother of a baby boy. The question is whether to name him Branch, Forest or Boardman.

* * * *

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

WHERE in the past lengthy political demonstrations have been encouraged, both Senator Hebert, chairman of the Hoover meeting in Madison Square Garden, and Gov. Ely, at the Roosevelt gathering in Boston, frantically tried to quiet the cheering crowds so the speakers could avail themselves of the paid radio time.

President Hoover was anxious to end his speech precisely at 10:30 o'clock (in which he nearly succeeded, running over only five minutes) in deference to Gov. Roosevelt, who followed him on the same networks from Boston.

"If you do not let the President proceed," Senator Hebert implored as the audience cheered and sang, "millions of radio listeners will be deprived of hearing him."

In Boston, Gov. Ely shouted, "This radio time is costing money. Please be quiet so we can avail ourselves of it. Let Gov. Roosevelt go ahead."

There was a thrill for Washington listeners in the speech of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt. It was a surprise because when in the National Capital she was known as perhaps the most retiring of any of the First Ladies.

All the more unexpected was her speech introducing the President. It was a model in brevity and delivery. Its sincerity apparently affected deeply not only the President but the vast audience.

HERLUF PROVENSEN, the presidential announcer, could take a tip from Norman Sweetser, of the N. B. C., who after a brief introduction, while the crowd was cheering Gov. Roosevelt at Boston, said:

"This demonstration will continue for some time and I will let you hear it."

At Madison Square Garden—where President Hoover was accorded what was perhaps the greatest ovation he has received in his entire lifetime—Mr. Provensen, instead of permitting the radio audience to hear it for itself, spoke so loudly, so excitedly and so continuously against the noise of the crowd that it spoiled this portion of the broadcast for many.

An ovation such as greeted Mr. Hoover at Madison Square Garden told its story better than any announcer ever could hope to tell it. It wasn't necessary for Mr. Provensen, whose voice came through like that of a giant, to say, "Well, the crowd is still cheering the President of the United States," when the roar over the loud speaker could be heard all over the house.

At a big political rally there are some people who like to hear for themselves what is going on and maybe listen to the band play. They would rather do this than to hear an announcer rehash what they had previously read in the newspapers, as Mr. Provensen so frequently does.

It is with reluctance that this criticism is made, because Mr. Provensen is a splendid announcer, a conscientious worker, and thoroughly deserves the unique position he occupies as the presidential announcer.

An address by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is scheduled for 45 minutes tonight on WRC, beginning at 10 o'clock.

James D. Cox will speak in support of Gov. Roosevelt over the same station at 9 p. m.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson will deliver a Republican National Committee address via WRC at 8:30 p. m.

WMAL will broadcast a full hour concert by the United States Navy Band, under Lieut. Charles Benter, over WMAL at 8 o'clock tonight. The program includes Benter's own composition, "Submarine Force." Earle Miller, cornetist, will be the soloist.

Arthur Godfrey never lets an air mistake upset him. This was demonstrated again the other night during the Thompson Merry Dairymen program when he mispronounced the South American number, "Ay, Ay, Ay."

After the number had been sung Godfrey, with perfect ease, returned to the microphone, saying, "Leon Brusiloff tells me I just mispronounced that title. Well, 'Ay, Ay, Ay,' 'Eye, Eye, Eye' or "Oy, Oy, Oy,' it's a darned good song."

"Myrt and Marge" will celebrate their first anniversary on the air with their broadcast at 7 o'clock tonight. An elaborate program has been planned for the occasion.

Memorial to Barrows Dedicated at Ceremony

Williamsburg, Va., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—A sundial memorial to John Barrows was dedicated here today.

Mr. Barrows, coauthor of "Domestic Colonial Architecture of Tidewater Virginia," did much of the architectural work on the Wren Building and the governor's mansion in the restoration project here. The dial was given by his friends in Williamsburg. He died last year. Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin presided at the ceremonies.

New Contract Bridge Rules Intensify Systems' Battle

P. Hal Sims Emerges From Tournament Victories as Formidable Challenger of Ely Culbertson; Difference in Their Bidding Is Explained.

By TOM O'NEIL,
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Once again a great rivalry of systems exists in contract bridge, and it will be intensified by changes in rules which went into effect today.

Peace between the Culbertson and "official" systems, which had a prolonged test last winter, has been followed by marked success in tournament play of disciples of P. Hal Sims. Followers of Ely Culbertson also have had notable victories.

Culbertson, who announced his retirement from championship play after defeating Sidney S. Lens last winter, returned to the table for the Vanderbilt Cup competition last week. His team was eliminated in the semi-finals by a team using Sims' methods. Two teams playing the Sims system reached the final round. Mrs. Culbertson entered a team which was defeated by Sims' own combination in the round before the semifinals.

Before the tournament Sims expressed willingness to play Culbertson a special match. Culbertson did not accept, but evidently the end is not yet.

Here are the fundamental differences in the systems:

Opening bids of one—Culbertson, Stronger with Sims than Culbertson. tions; Sims, stronger in first and second positions.

One over one—Culbertson, a bid by partner of one of a higher valued suit over the opener's bid of one of a suit is merely an invitation to the opening bidder to bid again if possible; Sims, such an overcall is a force upon the opening bidder requiring him to rebid.

No trump—Culbertson, a suit is bid at the start of the auction whenever possible; Sims, preference is given to opening bids of no trump when a hand contains tenaces.

Hand valuation—Culbertson, precise values of all combinations of honors, with a minimum and probable requirement of 2½ honor tricks for opening the bidding, precise honor trick counting for determining game and slam possibilities; Sims, consideration of the construction of the hand rather than honors with differentiation between aggressive and defensive types of hands; valuation based on "primary" tricks like the old auction "quick" tricks, the standard of primary tricks for opening bids varying with the type and position of hand; consideration of losing tricks rather than honors and probable tricks.

Opening two and three bids—stronger with Sims than Culbertson.

Preemptive opening bids—Culbertson, a favorite opening when a hand contains one long, strong suit; Sims, such a bid forbidden.

Raising partner's opening bid—Culbertson, the maximum raise immediately if the suit bid by the opener best fits the responding hand; Sims, a raise of partner's suit immediately to game indicates slam possibilities; a raise to one less than game indicates willingness to play for game.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Stately and stunning is this white evening gown in flat crepe, trimmed with fringe and straps in a most unusual way. The sleeves are a combination bracelet and drape effect of the straps and fringe. Courtesy of the Maison Phillippe et Gaston, Paris.

A CERTAIN Hollywood actress in an interview lately stated that she "looked positively horrible in hats" and further said that for this reason she seldom wore one, even when shopping.

Now I ask you in the name of elegance!

First of all, it is just simply bad taste to go without a hat save where it fits the custom to be hatless. And secondly, there is absolutely no excuse whatsoever for anyone looking horrible in anything—let alone anything as simple as a hat.

Now we do not try to deny that certain things become some women more than others. I always thought Constance Bennett was a beauty until an unfortunate choice of an extremely decollete evening gown in one of her pictures disclosed a back of washboard thinness and arms of a slenderness which cruelly exaggerated already large-boned elbows. Otherwise this lovely and talented actress is delightful sartorially, wearing clothes particularly well—yet not for her thinness is the decolletage! Then I myself simply snuff out in sports clothes—how I do try to avoid them!

Yet in every single item or outfit that one wears for the appropriateness and good taste of it, on the occasions where it is demanded, a woman can select something that is becoming to her. Almost any evening outfit is becoming to me—but when it comes to sportswear, for the few outfits I have to have and must wear to the affairs and occasions that demand them, how I do trouble to select colors and styles and ideas of the most possible becomingness! But do I just casually refuse to wear sportswear when it is de rigueur, because it is not becoming? Hardly.

And a hat, after all—what else is a hat but a coiffure—of another material than hair? It is as silly to say that your hats are unbecoming as it is to say that your hair is unbecoming. The hair can be arranged unflatteringly, and hats can be selected that are not flattering. But hats can be selected that are, for any type of face. And the taste of the day decrees that one wears hats—to not do so indexes one as lacking in taste—a cardinal sin for an actress, my deahs.

* * * *

I tell you, the haute couture has returned! Look at this simply gorgeous evening gown that Phillippe et Gaston have designed—and that I sketched for you today. White, eh, stately and graceful, mysterious as a white flower in whiter moonlight! The fringe sways and lends the grace that only fringe can lend—and the sleeves are attached to arm bracelets of strass. And shoulder straps of—guess? Fringe!

Packing cases cost from 25 cents to $1.50—and one makes a table, another a wardrobe—two make a couch, and one large one and two small ones make a dressing table with shelves and drawers and everything! We have made about every article of furniture you can imagine, just out of packing cases, my deah. And then, so inexpensive were they or is it, maybe—and so much fun to make, and so useful—that we simply had to make you a leaflet with the detailed directions in it for making this furniture for yourself. For one can always use extra furniture—if not today, then the day will come when you can and will—and wish you had this leaflet. Better just send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the directions for making furniture out of packing cases.

Au revoir!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

A DANGER TO PERSIMMON EATERS.

HOW many readers of this column have heard of persimmon bezoar? Frankly, the writer never remembers hearing of it until recently. Yet there are physicians who know about it. A few are mentally alert enough to correctly interpret symptoms which point to it.

If a man has considerable burning in the stomach, has a great deal of nausea, spits up food but does not vomit; if his stomach trouble holds on persistently and he loses weight; if there are symptoms enough for cancer, ulcer or infected gall bladder, and yet the patient does not slip as is expected in cancer, or if no proof of either of these is found; if the patient gives a history of being a rapid eater and if he likes persimmons, then the question of persimmon bezoar should be considered.

If one is present, sometimes a ball can be felt in the stomach. If so, it may show at an X-ray examination. If bismuth solution or barium cream be swallowed while the stomach is being watched by X-ray, the liquid can be seen to divide and flow around the ball. The ball is loose in the stomach, for it moves from one place to another.

A fairly simple surgical operation permits the removal of the ball and cure follows. Therefore, in cases of bad, long-continued stomach trouble do not forget the possibility of a stomach ball and an astonishing dramatic cure by operation.

And now what is a persimmon bezoar? Bezoar is an old name given for balls found in the digestive tract of animals, including man. The word means antidote. It came into use in the days of long ago when material from such balls was supposed to be a magic cure for various diseases.

A persimmon bezoar is one that is composed principally of remnants of persimmons—much skin, some pulp and parts of seed. Persimmons contain more pectin and gum than any other fruit. Why the market is not flooded with persimmon jelly nobody knows. Furthermore, persimmon pulp requires a good deal of action by the mouth juices. If a man eats persimmons rapidly he swallows the pulp before the saliva can do much with it. The gastric juice stops the action of the saliva. The persimmon pulp serves as a binder for the skins and some seed remnants, and presently a ball has formed. This ball acts as an irritant, causing considerable nausea and some acidity. If left long enough it frequently causes ulcers.

NOT NECESSARILY.

G. C. writes: Do pains in and around the heart mean necessarily that a person has a weak heart?

REPLY.

No.

NO SINGLE TEST.

Mrs. A. J. K. writes: I have read much in the paper about the cure for tuberculosis, but would like to know how one can tell when he is cured.

An X-ray disclosed a cavity in my left lung, so my physician ordered me to stay in bed until my temperature went down to normal. After three months I got up and have tried to take it easy since then. Do you think I could be cured?

REPLY.

There is no single test for the purpose. Opinion is based on normal temperature, nearly normal pulse, return of endurance.

STARCH AS FOOD.

H. J. B. writes:

1. Is starch a necessity in the human diet?

2. Could a man thrive on proteins, greens, and starchless fruits?

3. Do lions get any starch?

REPLY.

1. Carbohydrate is. It is the cheapest food material and is also a good, easily digested, easily assimilated source of energy and heat. Starch is one of the carbohydrates and the one most used. Possibly we could get our carbohydrates wholly as sugars, but that would be troublesome, expensive, and otherwise unsatisfactory.

2. Each of the foods mentioned contains some carbohydrates. Vegetables and fruits always contain some starch. In very ripe fruits much of the starch has been changed to sugar. In coarser foods, including peels and stringy fibers, some of it has been changed to another kinsman, cellulose.

RAPID HEART.

J. L. A. writes: What is the cause and cure of rapid heart?

REPLY.

Among the causes are organic heart disease, disease of the heart nerves, fear, anxiety, goiter, excessive use of tobacco.

Leopard is one of the brighter spots among smart coat trimming. It possesses striking individuality by itself, and combined with bronzeen green—as in the coat sketched—it is outrageously beautiful!

BED BLANKETS.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

You expect bed blankets to last for a number of years. So you are anxious to get the very best blankets you can for the amount you have to spend. Should you choose all-wool, cotton, or a mixture of these fibers? What kind of a blanket should you buy? Since wool is more expensive than cotton, the price of a good all-wool blanket is higher than that of a part-wool or a cotton one. But there are several other factors besides price and material to consider in making your selection.

The warmth of a blanket results from the number of air spaces between the fibers. Its construction, therefore, has a great deal to do with its warmth and durability. The more nap a blanket has, the warmer it is, since this will hold more air; but the filling or crosswise threads are often greatly weakened when a very thick nap has been raised. An excessively napped blanket may not wear well and the yarns may tend to pull apart when subjected to strain. The serviceability of your blanket depends on the amount of pull it will stand, so ask your dealer for this information.

Cotton blankets lose their fluffy quality when laundered, so that they are not as warm as they were when new. As cotton is used to make the blanket less expensive, a part-wool blanket may contain very little wool. Insist on knowing the percentage of wool and cotton.

The weight of different blankets of the same size and construction and the same kind of fiber, that is, all wool, or part wool or cotton, is a significant indication of their relative warmth and durability. However, there is no advantage in comparing the weight of a cotton blanket with that of a wool one. It is advisable to compare the weights of different wool blankets.

Look particularly at the binding, which should be durable. A lightweight or weighted silk binding will have to be replaced long before the blanket wears out. The binding should be put on in such a way that it will not shrink more than the blanket when it is laundered.

Don't choose too short a blanket when you buy. Ordinarily, you want to tuck in from 12 to 18 inches at the foot and have the blanket reach well up over the shoulders. Check the width of your bed, too, and buy blankets 18 inches wider, so they will tuck in at the sides.

Properly made blankets stand laundering much better than those which are badly constructed, and should shrink very little if carefully washed. All colors should be fast. See if the label on the blanket tells you its size, the per cent of wool and cotton, the tensile strength of the warp and filling and the weight in pounds.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

GEORGINE, a faithful reader, writes in behalf of "all womankind who wear glasses."

Dear Miss Pierce—I read your recent columns on eyes, hoping you would have something special, something encouraging to say to unfortunates like myself, to all womankind who wear glasses. I know that many physicians feel glasses are not necessary, but I can not be without mine, and I feel that they absolutely spoil an otherwise passably lovely face.

* * * *

So we must hurry and write a cheering message to Georgine, and to all other women who, like herself, foolishly feel that glasses are a handicap. They need not be. When Georgine calls herself "unfortunate" she forgets that the great majority of people fall in her class. And if you're with the rest of the world, why worry?

Glasses are no longer (or at least need not be) the conspicuous, beauty-destroying things they once were. Optometrists have created various shapes to fit and flatter faces—full and profile. Then there are different types of glasses, created like clothes and perfumes for different occasions. Glasses become especially smart when one can afford to have two or three pairs, chosen just as important accessories to one's costume. Sturdy, framed type for sports, for instance, and for business. Then there are the lovely new fine metal frames for afternoon and for evening, either the pince-nez or oxford types, with narrow frames or completely frameless.

Choose Becoming Types.

When purchasing your glasses, choose becoming styles and be as careful in their selection as you would in a chapeau. Use the hand mirror. Examine yourself full face, and especially profile, because protruding from you face, they give the profile a hard look. Although the large shell frames are passe, they are usually quite becoming to brunettes with large faces and features, so if you are a tall, striking type you can afford to be individual. For blondes or faces with delicate features, the new narrow pinkish gold rims are preferable.

Chapeaux and Coiffures.

Hats, coiffures and make-up can do much to call attention away from one's glasses. The center part, for instance, or the severe, sleek arrangements emphasize facial contours and glasses. A soft, waved hairdress, over the ears, down on part of the forehead and near the temples, offsets any hard lines and is particularly flattering to the face that wears glasses. Likewise, a brimmed hat, particularly medium-sized brim tilted up on one side and down on the other, are kind to the beglassed face. Turbans, berets and tiny toques are very hard and should be avoided. The lips should be emphasized and the eyelids touched ever so lightly with shadow, the lashes touched with mascara and curled back so they will not rub against the glasses.

There, Georgine, I hope we've helped you, and all womankind who wear glasses.

Adventists Open Session Tonight

Publishing Officials of Denomination to Meet in Takoma Park.

Seventh Day Adventists publishing leaders and officials from the Atlantic, Columbia and Lake Union conferences will open a four-day meeting at 7:30 tonight at Takoma Park. This convention will be the first of three to be held in the United States, the other two to be held at Nashville, Tenn., and at Mountain View, Calif.

E. E. Franklin, chairman of the publishing department of the general conference, will be chairman at tonight's meeting. The Rev. W. H. Branson, the newly elected president of the North American division conference, will be the principal speaker. Three sessions will be held daily.

Delegates are due from every local conference in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, New York, the New England States and the District of Columbia. Representatives of the Review and Herald Publishing Association, which has charge of the distribution of Seventh Day Adventist literature, will take a prominent part in the daily proceedings.

Flags Are Displayed: Designed by Students

Flags designed last spring by local high school students in connection with the contest held by the All-States Officers Society are now on exhibition at the Federal-American Bank & Trust Co. Building, Fourteenth and G streets northwest.

The public is invited to view the prize winning designs, which are displayed in the main banking room. They will be kept on display until next Monday.

Traffic Is Problem On Skyline Drive

Parleys Set This Week to Discuss Regulation of Cars in Park.

Harrisonburg, Va., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—William E. Carson, chairman of the State Conservation and Development Commission, this week will hold conferences with National Park Service officials, and government engineers to discuss methods of meeting the traffic problem which has already arisen on the new Skyline drive, in the Shenandoah Park area.

Mr. Carson, basing his estimate on the number of visitors to the drive during the present temporary opening, predicted that when completed and opened for the entire distance the drive would not be able to carry the traffic. He said traffic engineers had advised him that the drive would have to be widened or a parallel drive built, and that roads leading to the park area would have to be widened.

Mr. Carson said it is probable that between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 visitors will come to the park next summer.

G.O.P. Women's Forum To Hold Final Meeting

The women's division of the Hoover and Curtis Campaign Club will hold its last forum on the Republican party platform tomorrow morning at the Republican Club in Scott Circle. Mrs. Charles Alger will conduct the forum.

Planks to be discussed by authorities on the subjects are those relating to welfare work and children, the Home Loan Bank System and one called "Democratic Failure." Mrs. John W. Frizell, Mrs. Marion Butler and Mrs. William Bradley will be the speakers.

Site for Foxhall School Approved

Commissioners Expected to Award Contract This Week.

Contract for construction of an elementary school in Foxhall Village is expected to be awarded this week by the District Commissioners as the result of a letter received from Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou advising them of final approval by the Board of Education of a site already purchased on Foxhall road between Volta place and Q street northwest.

Award of the contract has been held up by opposition by some Foxhall Village residents to the location. Following a conference between these citizens and others in favor of the site and the superintendent and school board members, it was decided to recommend retention of the purchased site.

Dr. Ballou, in his letter to the Commissioners, said that in the opinion of the school board the interests of education would best be served by immediate construction of the school. Provided this work is started immediately, the school can be made available by September, 1933. The Commissioners discussed the matter yesterday, but action was postponed.

President Likened To Lincoln by Hyde

Tells Missourians Critics of Today Are Like Those in Crisis of 1864.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Herbert Hoover was likened to Abraham Lincoln by Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, in a Republican campaign address here tonight.

"The shadow of Herbert Hoover in history," Mr. Hyde said, "will grow longer from this hour."

"In 1864," he continued, "after three and one-half years of war and strife the people branded Lincoln as a failure. They called him an incompetent, a failure, a baboon. Men cried aloud for a new leader, yet we know now that Abraham Lincoln was the greatest leader of the nineteenth century.

"Today men call Herbert Hoover a failure, an incompetent. They cry aloud for a new leader. Yet Herbert Hoover is the greatest leader of the world today. Today the enemies of Herbert Hoover bark at the heels and snarl at his efforts. From his enemies there come criticism, doubt, misrepresentation, calumny, sneers and glib generalities. They beat their breasts and utter fine sentiments, but they do not point the way."

What Today Means to You

"SCORPIO."

IF November 2 is the date of your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger hours are from 12:30 p. m. to 1:45 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 5:45 p. m.

Do not expect the gods to fulfill your desires on this November 2. Fate will not be too kind and luck will seem to run against you. Endeavors based on right desire and accompanied by hard work will bring about satisfactory results. Directness and great forcefulness will be apparent in all activities. The head will rule the heart in all affairs of a romantic nature.

The child born on this November 2 will be possessed of great pluck and courage. Coupled with these characteristics will probably be found a great desire for physical activity and a love of adventure which will lead him into more than a few childish scrapes. These will be of harmless nature, however, so no fear need be entertained. The child will be very level headed and will have a keen sense of fair play.

Born on November 2, people will look at you and what you have accomplished and will be inclined to remark, "He's a lucky devil!" As a matter of fact, there is little luck in your life. Your successes are due to long and careful planning, sane judgment, and plenty of hard work. Your faculties and qualities are such that you could successfully fit yourself into any number of life callings. Your talents would lend themselves most readily to some phase of commercial life. As a holder of some governmental office or as a teacher you would do equally well. Whatever you do, however, will be well done. You are a very dependable person and a desire to be prompt to a degree is almost an obsession with you.

You may follow several pursuits in the course of your life and in all of them you will have more than slight success. Your life will be a quiet one but you will not in any sense of the word lead a routine existence. Money will not flow into your pockets in great streams, but you will always have it when needed. Both men and women born on November 2 are essentially home lovers and enjoy greatly the joys that are to be derived from parenthood. The women usually marry early in life, while the men are inclined to "hold off" till they are well established in business.

Successful people born on November 2:

Harris M. Plaisted, governor, lawyer.

Horace H. Furness, author.

James H. Hazeltine, sculptor.

John Cudahy, merchant.

Warren G. Harding, twenty-ninth President of the United States.

Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of Treasury.

Bids on $75,000,000 Treasury Bills Invited

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mills yesterday invited bids on $75,000,000 in 91-day Treasury bills, to be dated November 9.

Tenders will be received until 2 p. m. Friday at the Federal Reserve banks and branches.

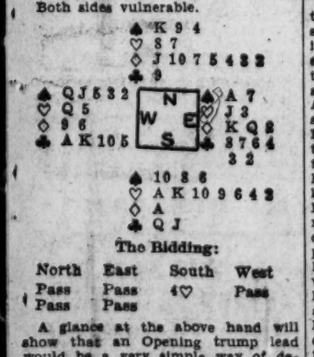
A LONG SHOT.

ALTHOUGH very often, due to the fact that you are not able to read Declarer's hand perfectly, you can not put up the best defense, you may be able to find an alternative play, which, because you have out-guessed the Declarer, will set him at his contract. If you have your wits about you to make an unusual play, although possibly not good enough to deceive an astute opponent, it may be able to put one over on a less wide-awake and clever Declarer.

The hand below illustrates a very remarkable play, which was a winning one and which would win against probably the majority of opponents. It should not win against a really intelligent Bridge player, however.

North—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The Bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	4♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

A glance at the above hand will show that an Opening trump lead would be a very simple way of defeating the contract, as the club ruff in Dummy could then be stopped. The Opening of the spade Queen, provided it is covered in Dummy and then the third round ruffed by East, would also do the trick. However, West, Mr. Willard S. Karn, of New York City, made the natural Opening of the club King, on which Declarer, another leading star, played the Knave. On the bidding, a spade shift certainly did not seem indicated, and Mr. Karn decided his best hope would be to lead a trump, and at least stop one club ruff. Of course, he had no way of knowing that Declarer had only two clubs. He thereupon led a low heart. East played the Knave, and the trick was won with South's King. The Queen of clubs was now led for an immediate ruff. West, after a slight hesitation, did not cover, and Declarer saw no reason to ruff what looked like the high club. Of course, the Queen held the trick and a diamond was discarded from Dummy.

Declarer now decided to try to get to the board and possibly finesse the second round of hearts, and accordingly led the spade 10. Mr. Karn covered, false-carding with the Queen, the King was played from Dummy, and East took the trick with the Ace. Declarer's worries as to three spade losers were, of course, now over. East now had a problem as to what to return. He was uncertain about the spade situation, and though he had hopes of a diamond trick, he knew that if that were forthcoming he could not lose, and he did not need to immediately lay down the diamond King. He therefore quite properly decided to cooperate with his partner and lead his low heart, which might indicate to Declarer that he wanted to stop a third club ruff and was possibly willing to sacrifice his heart trick, as he suspected, as did West, that Declarer had placed the heart Queen in his hand. On the low heart return, South, knowing the astuteness of his opponents, had quite a problem. Frankly, the failure to cover the club Queen should have tipped off the situation to him—in other words, that West wanted the trump left in Dummy so that South, himself, could finesse again a possibly guarded Queen in the West hand. However, he was outwitted in this particular hand and decided to finesse the heart, which he did, and lost the trick. The contract was defeated 1 trick—two spades, a club and a heart being lost. Incidentally, South did not have an absolutely lay-down problem on his hands, as East and West might very well have put up the same defense with the Queen-Knave and one heart in the West hand, and East conceivably might not have covered the Queen of clubs to preserve his tenace holding, seeing that a discard in Dummy would be useless. He should have made the right play, but the defense did give him a difficult guess.

OF course small daughter must have a guimpe dress.

It's a darling vogue.

Several little guimpes can be worn with this dress. They give such lovely variety at a very small extra cost.

When choosing your material, remember that tweeds and tweed-like cottons are exceedingly voguish in dark blue mixture. And it will tone so nicely with a yellow linen, light blue dimity or a red and white gingham check guimpe.

It is as simple as A, B, C to make it. Style No. 2720 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

Size 10 requires 1⅞ yards, of 39-inch material for dress with 1⅛ yards of 39-inch material for blouse and 2¼ yards of ruffling. Price of pattern 15 cents.

Our Fall and Winter Fashion Magazine contains the most attractive selection of new patterns for women and children; a three-lesson Beauty Course, fashion hints and also Christmas gift suggestions that you can make and stretch your Christmas budget. DISCOVERED!... a new and really remarkable way to economize!

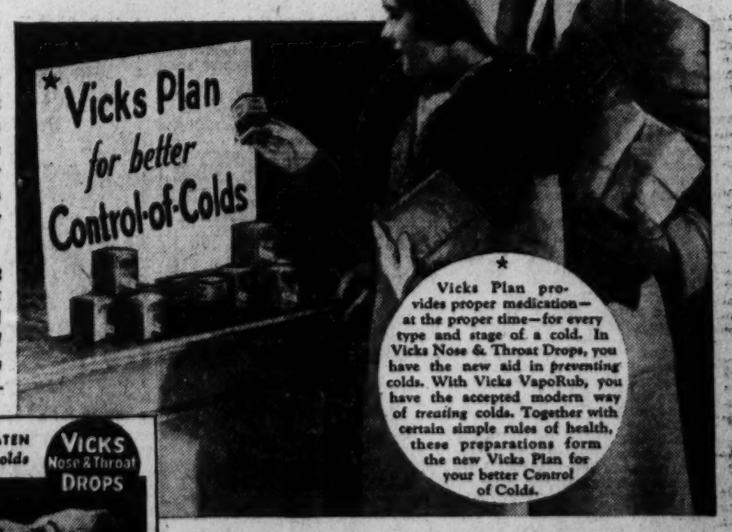
Cuts Costs of Colds More than Half!...



★ Vicks Plan for better Control-of-Colds
★ Vicks Plan provides proper medication—at the proper time—for every type and stage of a cold. In Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, you have the new aid in preventing colds. With Vicks VapoRub, you have the accepted modern way of treating colds. Together with certain simple rules of health, these preparations form the new Vicks Plan for your better Control of Colds.

EVERY INDIVIDUAL—every family—is interested now in ways to economize. Especially in cutting off expenses that are needless—that bring neither comfort, nor pleasure. Savings that give you more time and money for the things you want and need—in return for things that rob you of both. Here, at last, is a way for you to do just that...with the new Vicks Plan for better Control-of-Colds.

Last winter—in extensive clinics among schools, colleges and homes—Vicks Plan cut the number and duration of colds in half!—reduced the costs of colds more than half! The satisfaction of hundreds of thousands of enthusiastic users—all over the country—confirm these clinic results.

To follow Vicks Plan this winter—as fully explained in each Vicks package—can help you save your part of the country's billion-dollar-a-year colds bill—in time and money alone!

BRIEFLY, HOW VICKS PLAN WORKS

At that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation—Nature's usual signal that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose Drops at once! They soothe irritation and aid Nature's functions in throwing off the infection that threatens. They prevent development of many colds. If a cold has developed, VapoRub is the proved dependable treatment. Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, its double action—continuing throughout the night—brings quicker relief. Use of the Nose Drops during the day adds to comfort—helps shorten the cold.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT is an odd coincidence that a day after this column has applauded Daniel Frohman—soon to be heard locally in an informal talk on reminiscences of the theater—for his long and conscientious administration of the activities of the Actors' Fund of America, of which he is president, there comes to hand a letter from Robert Campbell, secretary of the Actors' Fund, making known that on Friday afternoon, November 18, at the National Theater, a special charity matinee for the Fund will be given by the "Cynara" Company, at popular prices.

In commenting upon the project, Mr. Campbell writes, in part, as follows:

"I am confident that for our worthy charity we can depend upon you for cooperation. It has been many years since the last Actors' Fund Benefit in Washington, and this is the first of the special matinees which have been in vogue for four years in New York and other cities.

"According to the Actors' Equity contract, when a play has run for 20 weeks or more, the company is obligated to give a special matinee for the Actors' Fund."

It should be unnecessary to expatiate upon the worthiness of this charity or remind the theater-going public of its obligation to support a foundation of such widespread benefit to the aged and infirm of the acting profession as the Actors' Fund of America. It is the actor's one safeguard against the inevitable encroachments of old age and physical infirmity—the profession's means of caring adequately and comfortably for its own in the twilight of life.

Under the sagacious administration of Daniel Frohman and his associates—among whom are numbered many of the most notable figures of the theater—the Actors' Fund is so efficiently managed that all but a fraction of 1 per cent of its cash resources go directly to the amelioration of suffering and hardship among those for whom the Fund was created.

As one who was in charge of local publicity for a majority of the Actors' Fund Benefit performances given in Washington during the last decade of their scheduled presentation in the Capital, I recall vividly many of the personalities who contributed to the success of these worthy enterprises, among them, of course, Mr. Frohman himself and Oliver Jones, his executive assistant; Jack Hazzard, Elsie Ferguson, Elsie Janis, Mary Nash, Cyril Maude, Ray Samuels, Arthur Deagon, Burr McIntosh, Florence Nash and many, many more who were accustomed to contribute their time and talents year after year to the furtherance of the charity nearest their hearts.

It will be recalled by many of retentive memory that audience interest was divided one year between those on the stage and Dame Lloyd George and the then Miss Megan Lloyd George, visitors in Washington, who occupied a box as guests of Mr. Frohman.

Mr. Campbell should find a ready response to his appeal when he arrives in the city late this week, or early next, to perfect details for the "Cynara" benefit performance.

Without any need of binoculars, it should be easy within the next day or two to discover that election night performances will be continued in all of the Loew houses in Washington until it is definitely decided who is to be President of the United States for the next four years.

City Manager Carter Barron of the Loew interests in the Capital, has expressed an inflexible determination to keep the shows at the Fox, Palace and Coumbia going full tilt until a final decision is arrived at, via the ballot box and the news service wires. Programs, I am led to believe, will not be interrupted too much by the returns, which will be communicated to those present by flashes as fast as they are received—which, as the evening grows on, may be pretty fast!

Something of the disadvantage habitually suffered by those communities whose screen entertainment is subject to the arbitrary deletions of official censorship boards has evidently recently been impressed upon the consciousness of motion picture patrons resident in Washington. Within the past few days complaints have reached this desk of the emasculated versions of "Blessed Event" that have been projected upon the screens of certain of the neighborhood theaters.

From descriptions of the scenes affected and the manner in which they have been ridiculously denatured, it is a wonder that those viewing the butchered prints have been able to make any sense whatever out of a story that was, to be sure, pungent and peppy, but to the average mind not pernicious.

That these censored prints should occasionaly find their way to Washington screens is a circumstance that theater managers find it difficult, if not impossible, either to foresee or forestall. When bookings of any given feature are so heavy as to keep all prints of that particular aubject working, it is, I presume, inevitable that now and then an expurgated print to which the cuts have not yet been restored will find its way to local screens from recent adventures in nearby States where censorship laws are in effect.

No, there is nothing that can be done about it—especially when the print reaches the theater just barely in time to make the scheduled hour of showing!

Jean Harlow, having felt—and not without some justification—that playing "Nora" immediately following "Red Dust" would be slightly overdoing the rough stuff, begged off from her assignment to the Anita Loos fable of the gun moll who talked out of turn and was taken for a ride. Her viewpoint was acceded to by the studio executives and "Nora," accordingly, has been abandoned, at least for the time being, with Miss Harlow probably devoting her platinum talents to a revival of "Twelve Miles Out," soon to be remade, instead.

There have been rumors, of late, of a new type of vaudeville show said to be headed for Washington, and, the new issue of Variety, out yesterday, seems to confirm them in substance.

The idea is to arrange a route of ten full weeks and enough split weeks to make a total of at least fourteen weeks of continuous playing time, for touring vaudeville units, presented in the manner of revue entertainment, but without chorus and spectacular settings, twice daily at a $2 top. Surrounding two or more "names" will be seven or eight acts of standard specialty people.

The first of these vaudeville "productions," to be handled through the William Morris office, according to tentative plans, will be headed by Eddie Cantor. George White has another in prospect that will bear down on such names as Harry Richman, Bert Lahr and others of almost equal prominence and popularity.

The ten weeks already in prospect include Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, the last of the route sounding more or less like an ad for the Big Four Railroad!

Well, it wasn't so long ago that worse shows than that were packing them in at $2 top over on Fifteenth street. The time may be ripe again. And it may not be so long until we'll find out!

So the Loew executives accorded the press a preview screening of "Rain," the United Artists' release in which Joan Crawford, borrowed from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, assumes the role played on the stage by Jeanne Eagels and in the silent picture, presented as "Sadie Thompson," by Gloria Swanson, in the Palace Theater last midnight, thus failing to observe the unities by at least sixteen hours. Boy, did it rain yistiddy morning!

Oh, about the picture? How can I tell? As this is written I haven't seen it yet, but with Miss Crawford surrounded by Walter Huston, Beulah Bondi, William Gargan, Guy Kibbe, Walter Catlett, Matt Moore and the likes of them, it can't be so terrible! In fact, I suspect it will be pretty swell—that is, if you go for Mr. Maugham's gossamer whimsies of the South Seas in a big way!

Wonder what they'll do when it comes time for Sadie to say the naughty word? Of course, she will still have to get good and sore at the Reverend Davidson and give him that plenty bawling out

But probably not sore like the Eagels, if you know what I mean!

Only 20 Words Are Required To Win Round Trip to Paris

No Strings or Obligations Attached and Rules Are Simple.

Just twenty words—no more, no less—to win yourself a round trip to France aboard the steamship Paris, of the French Line. Just think of it—only a few words to win a glorious trip to France.

Imagine the thrill you will get in leaving Washington on one of the twenty-passenger airliners of the Eastern Air Transport System on the first lap of a marvelous pleasure trip—visiting New York, where you will make the Edison Hotel your temporary home.

With the cooperation of Warner Bros'. Earle Theater, Eastern Air Transport System, the Edison Hotel and the French Line, The Washington Post is presenting this wonderful opportunity to make a dream of a lifetime come true.

The free trip to France and return will be awarded to the reader of The Washington Post who submits the most logical twenty-word interpretation of the unusual and very dramatic ending of "One Way Passage," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone picture featuring Kay Francis and William Powell, which opens Friday at the Earle. The ending to this unusual romance can be interpreted literally or symbolically! What is your interpretation?

There are no strings or obligations of any kind attached to this offer. Here are the simple rules:

1. No employe of a Warner Bros. theater, The Washington Post, the French Line, Eastern Air Transport System or relatives of any employe of these firms is eligible.

2. The answer must be sent to the "One Way Passage" Editor of The Washington Post, postmarked not later than midnight, seven days following the closing of the picture. That is, November 17.

3. It will not be necessary to purchase an admission for the showing of "One Way Passage." You may use the synopsis.

SYNOPSIS

Dan Hardesty and Joan Ames meet in Hong Kong's most famous international bar and fall in love at first sight. They are passengers on the same liner bound for San Francisco, but each hides from the other the sentence of death that hangs over them. Joan has an incurable heart ailment. Dan faces a death penalty at San Quentin.

Eluding officers, Dan has one glorious day with Joan at Honolulu. He plans to escape on a tramp steamer bound for Mexico. On the way to boat, he tells Joan of his trip. The shock brings another heart attack and Dan forfeits his chance for freedom in order to get the woman he loves safely back to the steamer. En route to the American coast she proposes that they meet New Year's Eve in Auga Caliente and Dan, hiding his grief, accepts with a cheerful smile. Later she learns from a steward what awaits Dan when he arrives. When he says good-bye, they both repeat their pledge to meet below the Mexican border. At that supreme moment neither can say "good-bye."

East Falls Church Home Hit by Fire

Woman Escapes Flames as $10,000 Damage Is Done to Residence.

Fire of unknown origin practically destroyed the home of Mrs. Maude B. Adams in East Falls Church, Va., yesterday afternoon causing damage estimated at $10,000.

Mrs. Adams was in an upstairs room with the door closed and as she started downstairs smoke and flames drove her back into the room. She ran to a small porch adjoining the room and climbed onto a shed roof over the kitchen. Her screams attracted the attention of neighbors who rescued her from the roof and spread the alarm.

The flames appeared to be confined to the interior walls, when help arrived and most of the furniture was carried from the blazing structure. Fanned by the high winds the flames made rapid headway, and is was almost two hours before the volunteer fire departments from Falls Church and Cherrydale had the fire under control. The house was owned by Harry Keyser, prominent attorney of Falls Church and Washington.

Al Smith Says Slump Is Gaining Momentum

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, asserting the "depression was like a snowball going downhill," said today that New York City's expenditures for relief work will exceed $100,000,000 this year.

Smith, speaking at a meeting of the unemployment relief committee headed by Harvey D. Gibson, said that every day brought a large increase in the number of persons seeking aid, "very reluctantly, because they have reached the end of their resources." In 1929, he said, the city spent $31,000,000, in all charitable work; in 1930 it was $37,000,000 and in 1931, $64,000,000.

Shooting at Liquor Suspects Assailed

Prince Georges Constable Rebuked for Firing at Auto.

Use of firearms to stop fleeing liquor or traffic offenders is not justified, the Prince Georges County commissioners yesterday told Constable Ralph Knight after a hearing on charges that he had fired at two automobiles whose occupants he wanted on traffic charges.

State's Attorney Alan Bowie, who also attended the hearing, told Knight that his pistol was to be used only to apprehend a felon or in self-defense. Appearing against Knight yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Roach, of 1433 Spring road northwest, who said that Knight shot two tires off their car on the Defense highway. Knight told the commissioners he had only fired into the ground.

A letter from Lawrence C. Waters, of Lanham, complaining about shots fired by Knight at the car of Edgar Harras, of 1922 N street northwest, was also received and considered by the commissioners.

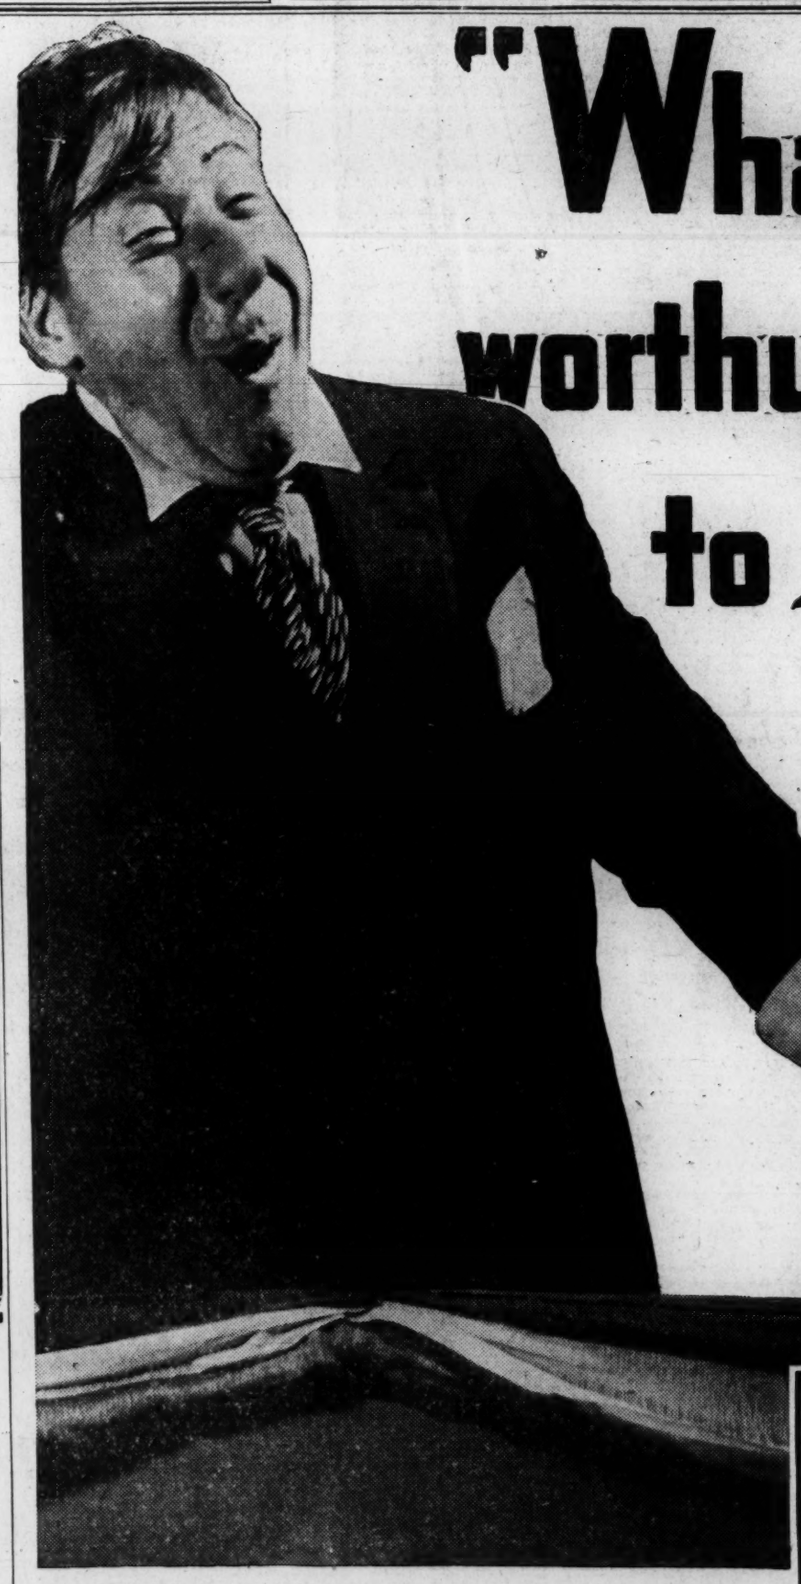
"What has my worthy opponent to Say about that?" asked the HON. I. SAVE-ON GAS



"IF economy is his watchword, he sure needs watching. His theme song is 'I Promise You'.

"But I come from an economical family. I was born on Christmas Day just to save a birthday present. When I wanted ice-cream, my pappy used to tell me ghost stories to make me shiver.

MARYLAND RELIES ON SPEED AGAINST VANDERBILT

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

AT the age of 29, Jack Hagerty, Georgetown's new head coach, admits that he is slightly weary of football, albeit he has fallen to vigorously with his new charges at the Hilltop.

Four years of football in prep school, four more years on the gridiron at Georgetown, and seven successive seasons with the New York Giants professional team have stripped football of its novelty for Hagerty. It's almost an exact science now, to Hagerty.

There have been better football players at Georgetown than Hagerty since the days of Harry Costello and Johnny Gilroy, but there have been none to match his ball carrying. Flavin and Plansky could do several things on the football field, including kicking, passing and blocking, that Hagerty rarely attempted, but when it came to running back punts, picking his way through a broken field, or dancing down the sidelines, Hagerty was in a high class by himself.

Catholic University's supporters have been boasting since the start of the season of the manner in which Coach Dutch Bergman's charges have been tackling the opposition, but they didn't dream that the Cardinals' ability in that direction would land the team a new mascot.

In the midst of practice at the Brookland stadium the other day, the squad was suddenly startled by as pretty a piece of broken field running as any gridiron had ever witnessed. John Jankowski left his back field position to bring down the runner with an illegal flying tackle, but when the deed was done, C. U. had its new mascot—as bewildered a possum as ever dashed out of the woods into the clear. Br'er Possum will be on display Saturday at the Wake Forest game.

Using the famous Minnesota shift which was the basis for most of Iowa's offensive plays last Friday night, the Colonial Freshmen romped through the varsity defense with ease in a practice scrimmage during the week and cast Coach Pixlee in deep gloom at the thought of the efficiency of the shift. But it developed that the Iowa varsity couldn't gain half as much ground with its own shift as the G. W. Freshmen did in practice.

"The College Game Is Easier," is the title of an article by Red Grange in the current Saturday Evening Post, and the famed Illinois redhead, now carrying on as a professional with the Chicago Bears, makes many interesting comparisons between college and pro football.

"I believe," says Grange, "that in blocking the collegians have an edge on the pros; that in ball carrying it is about a toss-up; that in tackling and in general defense the professionals are far superior; that in headwork and in cool sureness, in utilizing every ounce of immense brawn, the professionals have a marked advantage."

On a championship college eleven there are usually one or two outstanding linemen, Grange says, and if the line averages 185 to 190 pounds, it is considered exceptionally heavy. But on a winning professional team every position in the forward wall is filled by a man mountain who is as agile and heady as he is big and powerful. Nearly every pro team puts up a front wall that averages 210 to 215 pounds or more.

The greatest tackle Grange ever saw—or was pulverized by—was Cal Hubbard, of the champion Green Bay Packers, who is nearly 6½ feet tall and weighs 270 pounds.

Quaker State's Two Unbeaten Teams Crash Head-on.

Penn Record Shows Nothing to Match Defeat of Irish.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Two of the greatest football teams ever turned out by the State of Pennsylvania will crash head-on at Philadelphia Saturday when the unbeaten Pittsburgh Panthers and the University of Pennsylvania Quakers battle at Franklin Field.

It is only natural that Pitt's 1932 eleven should be the favorite to win this renewal of hostilities with Penn after a lapse of seven years. Coach Jock Sutherland's team was strong and fast enough to bowl over the highly touted Notre Dame Ramblers in the biggest upset of the season.

The Quakers, although unbeaten and untied this season, can boast of no conquest approaching the magnitude of the Pitt victory over Notre Dame. They have rolled up 153 points against their opponents' 13, almost the same figures as Pitts' aggregate, 150 points against 13. But Penn's only "formidable" opponents were Navy and Dartmouth.

Sutherland Developed Entire New Line.

Pittsburgh downed West Virginia, conqueror of Marquette; Duquesne, victor over West Virginia; Army, one of the strongest teams in the country; tied Ohio State, Big Ten contender, and beat Notre Dame. The scoreless tie with Ohio State is no disgrace, because the Buckeyes were one of the most promising aggregations in the Midwest.

This excellent record indicates that Jock Sutherland has got a mighty good team this season. The work of Pitt's line, alone, is proof of his magic as a wall coach. It's a brand new line. The entire seven-man wall which faced Notre Dame last year was graduated in June. Moreover, it's the lightest line Pitt has had in five years. But it clicks to perfection.

Pitt's attack and some of its defense is built around Warren Heller, the triple-threat half back. The brilliant development of Mike Sebastian at left half back will enable Heller to be even more active in defense work.

Army Drills Lightly For Harvard Game.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Army's football squad took only a light workout today after rain turned the plains gridiron into a quagmire. The scrimmage machines were used by various back-field combinations. It appears that the Cadets will have scarcely any rehearsals for Saturday's game with Harvard. The squad leaves Thursday morning for Cambridge.

Stan Purnell Out Of Tiger Line-Up.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Stan Purnell, regular right half back, will not be in Princeton's line-up when the Tigers face Lehigh Saturday. Purnell suffered a painful side injury against Michigan and will be out until the Yale game, Coach Fritz Crisler announced. Steve McPartland, a junior, probably will take his place.

Violets Preparing For Georgia U.

New York, Nov. 1 (U.P.).—New York University's Violets went through a stiff drill today on rain-soaked Ohio field. Most of the workout was devoted to defense against formations expected to be used by Georgia Saturday. Virtually the entire squad swung into this dummy scrimmage.

Harvard Optimistic In Indoor Drill.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Harvard went optimistically through an indoor workout in preparation for the Army game although five players missed the brief contact work. The absentees were Jack Crickard, Irad Hardy, Warren Casey, Johnny Dean and Bill Francisco. It was learned today that Johnny Grady, Crickard's replacement, will be available along with all the others except two centers, Roger Hallowell and Frank Casales.

Donovan in Line-Up At Dartmouth.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Rain forced Dartmouth to hold its first indoor drill of the season. Only one change was made in the line-up. Johnny Donovan, out with an injured shoulder since the Lafayette game, took the place of the injured Ronald Morton in the back field.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Brown's practice was limited to a blackboard drill outlining the defense to be used against Holy Cross. The Bruin squad is at full strength.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Joe Crowley, Yale half back who suffered a wrenched elbow in the Dartmouth game, was discharged from the infirmary today but is not expected to practice before next week. The Ells had their second day of complete rest.

JOHNNY OLIVER COACHING.

Johnny Oliver, quarter back and stellar passer for Catholic University's football teams of 1928-1931, has been made assistant coach at Fitchburg (Mass.) High School, his alma mater.

Catholic U. Game Puzzles Fans in Contest

THE Catholic University-Wake Forest game and the Northwestern-Ohio State battle are causing the greatest division of opinion among fans in the third of The Post's weekly football selections contest, according to the indications from the first few hundred selections received by the contest editor.

Capital fans are not underestimating the Wake Forest Team, despite the brilliant record of C. U., and opinion on the outcome is almost evenly divided. Ohio State rules a slight favorite to beat Northwestern with both teams likely to score, according to the bulk of the predictions.

The winners of the contest will be The Post's guests at the George Washington-William and Mary game a week from Friday night. The winner receives four box seats, with two grand-stand seats for second place and one grand-stand seat for third.

Merely clip out the list of games printed below, insert the probable scores and mail or send your selection to The Post's football contest editor before Friday at midnight. That's all.

Maryland	vs. Vanderbilt

TECH MEETS CENTRAL TODAY

Hardell Team Seeks Fifth Consecutive School Title.

HELD over from yesterday because of rain which made footing in the Central Stadium uncertain, Tech and Central will play today at 3:30 o'clock, John Paul Collins, president of the High School Athletic Association, announced.

Tech spent a half hour warming up yesterday and displayed such pep and vigor as to cause Coach Hardell to think his antioverconfident campaign, which he has waged singlehanded, has been successful.

Victory today will net Tech its fifth consecutive high school grid title.

The day of grace was welcomed by Central, which put in another hard day polishing up the assortment of tricks it will use against its dearest rival. News to the effect that Billy Richardson, hard working little half back, would be eligible to play, heartened the squad considerably.

Tech Anticipates Air Attack.

Regardless of its performances in previous games, Central can be depended on to wage a real battle today. Tech has exhibited a stronger team, both offensively and defensively, but in determination it is far behind the Blue.

Tech reinforced its aerial defense in recent drills in anticipation of a Central forward-passing attack. This and a "spread" play, intermingled with a few line bucks, are all Tech expects. Hardell, however, fears it may be plenty.

Straight football, with plenty of emphasis on the power plays, will be used by the Maroon and Gray unless the going gets rough. Then Mr. Max Brinkman is expected to enter the game and open up the team's vaunted, and rightly so, passing attack.

Dixie Leaders Face Rough Schedule

No Team Will Finish Season Unbeaten, Is Possibility.

Tennessee Is Facing Supreme Test in Vanderbilt.

By DILLON GRAHAM.

ATLANTA, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Football experts today gave serious consideration to the possibility that for the first time in several years no Southern Conference eleven may finish the season unbeaten.

A survey of the teams to be played by the four undefeated squads—Tennessee, Virginia Poly, Auburn and Louisiana State—shows at least one dangerous opponent in the path of each.

Tennessee probably faces the most severe test against a powerful Vanderbilt eleven in Nashville, November 12. The Volunteers have thrashed Vanderbilt for the past four seasons and the Commodores will be ripe for revenge.

Vanderbilt has one of the most experienced teams in the conference. The Commodores appear to be a "clutch" team—one that seldom extends itself unnecessarily but always has just enough speed to win.

Dixie Roberts Called Best Running Back.

In Dixie Roberts, Vandy has probably the hardest running back in the South, and he is supported by a well-balanced back field. Gracey at center and Leyendecker at tackle are bulwarks in a heavy forward wall.

Tennessee also engages Kentucky, Mississippi State and Florida. The latter two should be fairly easy, but the Wildcats always have held a jinx over the Knoxville Club and the scene may be dramatically laid for the Blue Grass eleven to exercise it on Thanksgiving Day.

Virginia Poly apparently has but one formidable foe left, but Alabama may carry enough ground and air offense to trip the Gobblers at Tuscaloosa next Saturday. Virginia and Virginia Military seem impotent to stop the flying squadrons.

Georgia Is Hurdle For Auburn.

Florida, Georgia and South Carolina remain on Auburn's schedule. The Plainsmen may have some trouble with Florida and South Carolina, but Georgia offers the big problem. The husky sophomore team from Athens has served its apprenticeship under fire and finally has worked up a smooth, slashing attack. In another fortnight it may be one of the best and capable of giving Auburn an even worse scare than did Mississippi. These teams meet in Columbus, Ga., November 19.

The major batte for Louisiana State comes around Thanksgiving against Tulane. Capt. Lawrence "Biff" Jones' Tigers have pointed all season for the annual State engagement with the big Green Wave, and seem to have enough strength to give Tulane a serious argument if not to gain a triumph. South Carolina must be met by L. S. U. Saturday.

Cagle Will Replace Hagerty With Giants

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Christian Keener (Red) Cagle, the former Army football raider, will call the signals and play safety on defense for the New York Giants Sunday when they meet Red Grange and the Chicago Bears in New York.

Cagle takes the place at quarter back of Jack Hagerty, who left professional football to become head coach at Georgetown University.

Memphis Seeks V. P. I. For Post-Season Fray

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—The Virginia Polytechnic Institute football team will be asked to play here December 3 or December 10 in a post-season contest, with the proceeds going to charity.

D. G. Robson, of Memphis, president of the V. P. I. Alumni Association, announced he would telegraph college officials tonight in an effort to interest them in such a game.

The St. Vincent de Paul Society, a charity organization, is cooperating with Robson on the plans.

Stanford Firm for Warner Despite Two Recent Defeats

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Stanford University has not lost confidence in the Warner brand of football despite two straight setbacks and on the campus and in alumni circles the sentiment is for "Old Pop"—Coach Glenn Scobey Warner.

The 13-6 defeat last Saturday by the University of California at Los Angeles was accepted in the same spirit as the 13-0 loss to Southern California a week before, as "the breaks in football."

About the only reaction to the defeats was confined to grumbling on the part of a few alumni. Graduate Manager Alfred R. Masters, highest authority of the board of athletic control, the student-alumni body that controls athletics at Stanford, said today:

"We always have a few chronic kickers. Every college has them. They grumble whether the team wins or loses. We are for Warner, win, lose or draw. Stanford outscrimmaged U. S. C. and U. C. L. A., and made more first downs. They were just tough games to lose."

Masters pointed out Coach Warner had renewed an agreement not long ago to remain at Stanford for five years, until 1937. As Warner is a member of the faculty there is no written contract between him and the board of athletic control.

Warner has the privilege of severing connections at any time. After last season he was reported to have had offers from several Eastern institutions. Last August he renewed his agreement with Stanford.

Stiff Games Ahead.

Two formidable opponents remain on Stanford's conference schedule with Washington to be faced Saturday and California, November 19, following which Coach Warner will take his team East to meet the University of Pittsburgh November 26.

Since Warner came to Stanford in 1924 his teams have lost but one intersectional clash. Stanford was beaten by Notre Dame, 27-10, January 1, 1925, and tied 7-7 by Alabama in 1926, and 0-0 by Minnesota in 1930. Victories include two each over Army and Dartmouth and one each over Utah, Pittsburgh and Minnesota.

Vanderbilt's Famed Dixie Roberts, Back Field Ace

One of the most highly publicized players in the South since "Shipwreck" Kelly graduated from Tennessee will make his appearance in the Capital Saturday when Vanderbilt brings Dixie Roberts for the game with Maryland. Roberts' kicking and ground gaining have established him as an all-American possibility.

G. U. LINE-UP SHIFTED BY HAGERTY

Makes Good Promise of New Start for All Players.

JACK HAGERTY, Georgetown's new football overseer, touched off his second successive bombshell of his two-day regime yesterday when he made good his promise that every player on the squad, regardless of the weight of his reputation, or his general seniority, must win his particular berth all over again.

The new coach, in a quiet speech before the start of a strenuous scrimmage session, said that every position on the varsity team is wide open—and ready to be taken by any player able to take it. He promised the lowliest sophomore reserve as much chance of playing against West Virginia next Saturday, as Capt. Ray Hudson.

Kelly Injured At Detroit.

Mingling reserves with well-known senior stars, Hagerty, Dubofsky and Brickman, Inc., sent Georgetown through its first scrimmage of the current dynasty yesterday. It was a spanking three-hour workout, atop the Hilltop's wind-swept field, and the boys stepped sprightly—both to keep warm and gain favor in the coaches' eyes.

Among those missing yesterday were Al Kelly, who is out for three more days as a result of an ankle injury suffered in the Detroit game; Gildo Russo, Stan Alenty and Mike Lione, all of whom are expected to take up the grind of winning their positions over again before Saturday.

Hagerty was impressed yesterday by the work of Bernie Donoghue, quarter back, who not only ran his team well, but showed the best defensive skill on the field. Among the backs he remarked on the great speed of Charlie Parcells.

Dubofsky Has Troubles.

"Mush" Dubofsky, whose small job it is to make a line out of a horde of almost inexperienced aspirants, had his troubles yesterday trying to de-teach the Notre Dame system of upright gait for linemen, in favor of the newly installed Warner system, where the linemen get down on all fours and spring up and at 'em like those toy leap frogs which jump when you clap your hands.

No announcement of Georgetown's opening line-up will be made until just before the West Virginia game. Rough workouts will be continued this week, with frequent skull practices to minimize the danger of going into the Mountaineer game with a hybrid squad—half Notre Dame and half Hagerty-Warner.

West Virginia Eleven Wary of Hilltoppers.

Morgantown, W. Va., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Defensive aerial tactics occupied the West Virginia Mountaineers today as they prepared for the meeting with Georgetown here Saturday.

Both the Lou Little and Knute Rockne systems were explained to the squad by Coach Earle Neale, who said he placed little credence in reports that John Hagerty, Georgetown's new mentor, has eliminated all phases of the Notre Dame system.

Wilbur Sortet, star end, who suffered a broken leg in practice prior to the Pitt game, was in uniform today for the first time since his injury. He will not be used Saturday, however.

Gallaudet-Eagles In Only Local Tilt

When two teams with such abominable football records as Gallaudet and American University meet, it is a foregone conclusion that something resembling a real football game will be played. Gallaudet's Blues have not won a football game in two years and American has won one, and so the boys should be in a fine frenzy to win.

The game should not only prove which is the better between the teams but also which is the worst club in Washington, although their high-powered colleagues — Maryland, G. W., C. U. and Georgetown—have occasionally been applicants for the latter title.

American and Gallaudet meet Saturday at American. It is the only intra-city game of the year and demands much attention because of that fact. It is the first strictly local football game since G. W. and C. U. played their 1930 affair—a game to end all games between the two.

INJURIES HIT COLONIAL ELEVEN

Stewart, Doose and Dike to Miss North Dakota Battle.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S football team will face the unbeaten North Dakota State Bisons Friday night at Griffith Stadium with three noteworthy players out of the game, and two other stars on the uncertain list of physical eligibles.

Zuzu Stewart, the District's outstanding guard, remained in the university hospital yesterday with a badly bruised leg, received in scrimmage before the Iowa game and further agitated in that tussle. Chris Doose, charging young Texan full back, was not in uniform yesterday and no sudden return to good shape is expected of him. Tom Dike, who featured the Alabama game with fine tackles of the bruising Southern backs, also will be out.

Johnny Fenlon and Lee Carlin, who, in form, could make anybody's football team, are still favoring their bad shoulders. Carlin has yet to see real action this year, having broken his collarbone on the third day of the training season at Camp Letts.

Kriemelmeyer Gaining Varsity Berth.

Otts Kriemelmeyer, one of the three local boys on the Colonial outfit, continued his fine play yesterday in Doose's place at full back and probably will be back with the first squad Friday night. Wally Wilson, dependable reserve lineman, is slated for Stewart's place.

Coach Jimmy Pixlee, realizing that the absence of Doose may dissolve the rhythm of the All-Texas back field of Doose, Baker, McCarver and Parrish, yesterday spent much time with another complete quartet—Paul McKinnis, 185-pound full back; Joe Carter, regular half back last year, but a quarter back yesterday; Joe Edwards, 190-pound half back, and Hank Strayer, former regular half back.

NAVY SQUAD DRIVEN BY MILLER

Year's Hardest Drill Staged as Columbia Game Nears.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1.—Buckling down to preparations for the season's big home game with Columbia University on Saturday, Navy gridders today were put through one of the stiffest kind of scrimmage sessions, more extensive, in fact, than any of the workouts of the current campaign. And that, too, on a gooey turf as the result of a deluge of rain during the early morning hours and last night.

Conditions were so bad on the regular practice field that the scene of activities was shifted to the drill grounds, as it was not desired to cut up the turf in Thompson Stadium, where all varsity games are played.

Punting Stressed Today.

Rip Miller, head mentor, was not satisfied with the performances of his charges in covering kicks in the Pennsylvania game last Saturday, so today's program was opened with a drill in punting, with the first and second string ends and other linemen being sent down field, while the large group of backs took turns in handling the kicks. This was followed by a brisk drill in signals and formations, after which the first and second teams were put through the paces of a hard offensive and defensive scrimmage against shock troops of Squad B. The regulars handled the muddy ball, and otherwise performed in a manner that was pleasing to the coaches, scoring four times against the strong scrub outfits. On the other hand, the attack of the opposition was generally smeared, although on one occasion the varsity goal line was invaded.

"Bill" Clark, Garner, Iowa, youngster, was calling signals for the varsity most of the time in place of Larry Becht, of Kalamazoo, Mich., who has had the call on the post since the beginning of the season. Clark has been flashing some good work along general lines lately, and he is perhaps the best punter of the squad. Whether this shift will be made permanent is conjectural, for it is known that Miller likes the general style of Becht's work and he is particularly valuable as a blocker.

Walkup's Condition Improved.

Injury to the chest and shoulder muscles of Ben Walkup, heaviest and speediest of the back-field quarter, suffered in the Penn game, is coming along nicely, it was said today, but extreme doubt was expressed that he would be available for service against Columbia. "Buzz" Borries, was in his place at right half.

Annual Tennis Supper Will Be Held Tonight

The annual buffet supper of the Washington Tennis Association will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at Wardman Park Hotel, with hundreds of local tennis enthusiasts expected to attend to speed the parting net season and be present at the announcement of the 1932 rankings.

Speeches by well-known players and other entertainment is on the program. All tennis players desiring to attend tonight's buffet supper have been invited by the local tennis body. William O. Shreve, secretary of the Washington Tennis Association, is taking reservations at National 5165 today. The tariff is $1.

Swift Attack Chief Hope Of Byrd

Widmyer Improving as Receiver of Nelson's Passes.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

A RAPID-FIRE aggressiveness, utilizing the great speed of the Maryland back field in a hope to offset the thumping all-around play of Vanderbilt, is the plan of the Old Line board of strategy for Saturday's big Southern Conference game at Griffith Stadium.

Maryland will place its somewhat shaky hopes in the swift heels of Earl Widmyer, Ray Poppelman and Paul Kiernan, a trio of ace ball carriers whom the veteran Al Woods, quarter back, will send through plays which are planned to bring out their greatest effectiveness.

If Maryland's plan of speed-attack is answered by some Vanderbilt defensive coup, Coach Curly Byrd probably will send Dick Nelson, leading forward pass expert of this sector, into the battle in an effort to open up, and possibly confound, the big Vandy forces. Nelson, a former Tech High School boy, has a firing arm that is deadly in the extreme, and Widmyer, perhaps the fastest back in the United States, is daily improving as a receiving medium for the Nelson-spun spirals.

Roberts, Poppelman Hold Interest.

Much interest will surround the appearance of two players on the field Saturday—Dixie Roberts, Vandy's great ball runner, and Ray Poppelman, the Maryland veteran who was kicked off the team for striking a freshmen, but who returned at the insistance of the entire squad and won the V. M. I. game for the Terps last Saturday.

Roberts represents some of the classiest football form seen here in several years, and is being boosted far and wide as All-American caliber. The all-around back, who scored four touchdowns in 30 minutes against Maryland last year (to turn an even 12-12 game, at the half, into a 39-12 rout at the end), is eagerly awaited by local fans, many of whom seek to compare him with John "Hurry" Cain, Alabama's All-American full back.

Vanderbilt Rules Heavy Choice.

There actually will not be much difference in weight between Saturday's contestants, but Vandy is handily favored to continue in the ranks of the unbeaten. Only one team has tied Vanderbilt this year, and that is Tulane. Otherwise it has trounced such nationally known squads as Mercer, North Carolina, Western Kentucky, Georgia and Georgia Tech.

Jockey Allen's Death Is Belied by Telegram

Greenup, Ky., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Relatives of Roy (Hard Rock) Allen, 18-year-old jockey, were wondering tonight whether he was dead or alive.

Several days ago the body of a youth in Laurel, Md., was identified as Allen's. He had died from poison liquor, police said. His parents prepared to have the body removed here.

Tonight, however, a telegram signed with Allen's name was sent from Covington, Ky., to his mother, Mrs. Mary Allen, of Riverton, near here. It read: "That was all a mistake; letter follows."

Petrolle Makes Weight For Canzoneri Fight

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Any question of Billy Petrolle's ability to make the lightweight limit for his 15-round title battle with Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square Garden Friday night was dissipated today.

Answering the skeptics who have seen him fight best at 139 pounds, Billy hopped on the scales at his traning quarters, at the direction of a deputy State athletic commissioner, and weighed 136½ pounds. With two more days of work and the usual drying out process, the Fargo veteran said he might go as low as 134, a pound under the class limit.

Commissioners will weigh Canzoneri at his training ground at Pompton Lakes, N. J., tomorrow, but the duty is considered a formality. The champion rarely scales above 133 pounds.

Kincsen Fails In Stretch Challenge

Winner Sets All Pace, With Gastonbury Out of Money

Louis D'Or and War Glory Score for Favorite Players.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., Nov. 1.—Always a bridesmaid but never a bride in Maryland this fall, the veteran mare, Con Amore, today accounted for the feature race on the program of the Maryland Jockey Club—the Country Club, a mile and 70 yards test for 3-year-olds and upward. It was the seventh start in Maryland since the bangtails opened in September at Havre de Grace, and six times Con Amore has been in the pay-off circle. The daughter of High Cloud had placed twice and showed four times, always close to fast horses.

Today the sloppy footing agreed with Con Amore and she ran a brilliant race under the equally brilliant handling of the half-mile sensation, Pat Remillard. True, the margin of victory was only a head, but that counts most magnificently in the mutuel department. The mare was a well-played second choice at a $6.50 ticket.

Con Amore Leads From Start.

It was a thrilling race to watch, although Con Amore led from flagfall to the wire. The big mare had to battle Arras and Glastonbury for the lead going to the clubhouse turn and won. Martis was laying just off the leader's saddle post for most of the trip up the back stretch. Kincsen, which was to be second, was far back at this stage and Cabezo, which later threatened, was third. In the stretch, it appeared that Cabezo, with Hanford up, might take the purse. In fact most eyes were on the duel between that pair and Con Amore when Kincsen staged a closing rush on the outside which would have taken the big money in another jump. Cabezo hung at the end to lose the place by half a length.

A crowd in the neighborhood of 7,000 turned out for the day's sport. F. Ambrose Clark's Louis d'Or, backed into favoritism, scored a handy victory in the Wicomico Steeplechase, winning by a length from Lord Johnson, which in turn had a four-length advantage over Daniel Soot. It was an interesting jumping race and after San Miguel and Berrilldon Flash fell at the first fence, there were no further mishaps despite the soggy course. Daniel Soot gained an early lead with Quick March and Some Hero closest to the pace.

Winner Responds
With Rush.

On the last turn, however, Daniel Soot began to tire and Lord Johnson, which had been prominent after the first two jumps, moved up on the leaders. Louis D'Or, held back for a mile, came up with a rush to take the lead and show the way to Lord Johnson. Daniel Soot was a staggering third.

War Glory was the second favorite to step down, taking the second race, a sprint for maiden juveniles, by three lengths from Metaurus and Canon Law. Morocen and Metaurus had tries at setting the pace before War Glory came up rounding the stretch turn to win going away.

W. Studley turned in a neat piece of riding to take the third with Camp Prince, made the choice in the last-minute betting. He saved plenty of ground at the first turn while in front and then gave his mount a breather while Rubio set the pace. Turning for home, Studley brought Camp Prince around and then went back to hugging the rail. Pencader closed fast for the place ahead of Frigate Bird.

White Thorne triumphed over a field of ten in the fourth race, leading home a half sister, Espinetta. The third money went to Bolilee. Sweet Chariot set a sizzling pace and on the far turn was leading by five lengths. White Thorn moved up and Espinetta chased him home. Sweet Chariot slowed to a walk in the stretch and could not save the show from Bolilee.

Young Firpo to Box Reed at Alexandria

Young Joe Firpo, Italian lightweight sensation of New York and recent conqueror of Benny Bass, will battle Jimmy Reed, Erie, Pa., puncher, next Monday night at Portner's Arena in Alexandria in the ten-round feature of the weekly fistic card.

Firpo, fast stepping to the top as a contender for championship honors, had Bass on the floor twice in their match, according to reports. He has beaten, among others, Tommy Grogan, Harry Biltman, the Perlick Twins, Pat Igoe, Tony Herrera, Harry Dublinsky and Lew Massey.

Reed's last fight at Portner's was with Ray Bowen. He won a ten-round decision after a bruising battle.

Three other sixes and one four will be arranged. Matchmaker Frankie Mann stated.

SOCCER GAME SUNDAY.

Colonial Heights Blacks soccer team will meet the Gathersburg team at the latter's field Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All Colonial players are asked to gather in front of the Arcade Market at 12:30 o'clock today.

with Bill Benniags

DEAR AL: PIMLICO RACE TRACK.

The $40,000 added Pimlico Futurity which has kept many of the Nation's leading 2-year-olds in training will be run Saturday, and appears to be an open race. Two of the youngsters counted upon as probable favorites have been retired for the season. They are W. R. Coe's Ladysman and William Woodward's Happy Gal. Repaid appears to be the choice with Sun Archer sure to be well backed despite that disappointing race at Laurel last week. The Darb complicated matters by winning in Kentucky.

By Law went to the post in the second race yesterday and would have paid $4,586.10 for a $2 ticket had he won. The youngster ran an even race—twelfth and last all the way. That's all for today.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—LUCKITE jumped and ran consistently at Laurel and turned in a victory in a field no better than this. Appears to be the logical pick. SHYLOCK defeated the top fellow the last time and may turn the trick again. LAUFJUNGE is a classy old fellow and can not be counted out in this company.

SECOND RACE—FLORA CANTER will appreciate the going and has performed capably in her last two starts. Looks like brackets. FAIR BILLY is primed for a surprise. This may be the spot. TOWN SQUARE is dangerous.

THIRD RACE—LITTLE AMERICA has a world of speed and don't mind showing it each time at the post. She appears to be a little over her head at first glance here, but I believe she can take these. A LA CARTE has a smackering of class and should place. BRIGHT BIRD is stepping up another peg, but he's speedy now and a drying out track is his specialty. Scratches would give him excellent chance.

FOURTH RACE—SUN CAPTOR will be at home in the going and looks best to me. BOLD LOVER will be in front and may stick it out here. POMPET for third. Dangerous on this kind of a track.

FIFTH RACE—MASKED KNIGHT another good one on an off track can handle VILLAGE VAMP in this. MAGYAR comes from Canada and can hardly be chased out of the money.

SIXTH RACE—BRANDON ROSE raced well at Laurel and seems primed for another purse. ALCMAN and KNEE HIGH appear to be the ones to beat.

SEVENTH RACE—SYRIAC should romp home with this gang behind him. Is as fit as hands can make him. FAYLIN loves the track. MARSE ROBERT for the show.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LOUIS D'OR, $4.40, $2.80, $2.50; LORD JOHNSON, $3.30, $3.20; DANIEL SOOT, $3.70.

LOUIS D'OR, reserved for the first mile, improved his position rapidly when urged, came determinedly in the final half mile and, wearing the leaders down at the final fence, drew out gradually to the finish. LORD JOHNSON, steadied close to the leaders and saving all possible ground, shook off DANIEL SOOT, but was weakly ridden at the end. DANIEL SOOT sprinted into an easy lead, fenced well at all of his fences, but weakened in the last half mile. QUICK MARCH raced well placed and had no excuses. BRASH was never a serious factor. MELITA went well. SOME HERO tired. OESEL raced poorly. LIGHT PLUME was pulled up after the ninth fence when his rider lost his stirrup irons. SAN MIGUEL fell at the fourth and BERRILLDON FLASH fell at the first fence.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000. The Questionnaire. For maiden 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 1:35. Off at 1:38½. Winner, Glen Riddle Farm's ch. c. (2), by Man o' War—Annette K. Trained by G. Conway. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:14 2-5

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WAR GLORY, $6.10, $4.00, $3.10; METAURUS, $7.80, $6.10; CANON LAW, $12.10.

WAR GLORY, at home in the going and kept close to the early leaders, came around the outside when moving to the front, disposed of METAURUS under pressure and drew out steadily. METAURUS raced gamely in submission to the finish. The first five furlongs, saved ground, but weakened during the final furlong. CANON LAW, inclined to bear out in the first three furlongs, was steered to the inside and finished with good courage. POMPOSITY, hard ridden the entire trip, came wide into the home stretch and lost all chance. SHAFFELL and CHATTERPOL could not improve their positions. LEZEV closed a good gap. MOROCEN tired after five furlongs.

THIRD RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,000; claiming. The Roland Park. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 2:08. Off at 2:11½. Winner, John Marsh's dk. b. g. (4), by Campfire—Princess II. Trained by P. Feiter. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:42 2-5, 1:47 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CAMP PRINCE, $7.10, $3.70, $2.70; PENCADER, $3.50, $2.50; FRIGATE BIRD, $3.20.

CAMP PRINCE, a stout factor after being displaced, responded strongly when put to a drive, crowded RUBIO and PENCADER badly at the stretch turn, and continued gamely to last long enough. PENCADER, reserved for the first six furlongs, moved to the inside midway of the final turn, drew on even terms with the leaders, overcame interference, but finished wide approaching the finish. FRIGATE BIRD, outrun early, came with good courage in the final test. RUBIO, steadied when assuming the lead, was badly squeezed back when CAMP PRINCE crossed over when going to the front and he tired steadily after being taken up. ALL ROWES raced well. SEA FOX tired.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 2:39. Off at 2:42½. Winner, Mrs. J. H. Whitney's dk. gr. or rn. c. (2), by Espino—Miss Braxted. Trained by J. W. Healy. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:42 2-5, 1:49 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WHITE THORN, $25 20, $9.90, $6.60; ESPINETTA, $9.10, $5.40; BOLILEE, $5.00.

WHITE THORN moved into a forward position when midway of the back stretch, reached the leaders stoutly and, moving to the front when straightened into the home stretch, had enough left to stall off ESPINETTA. Latter improved her position while saving ground early and closed with good courage. BOLILEE, lost ground entering the home stretch, but could not menace the leaders. SWEET CHARIOT sprinted into a commanding lead, saved much ground, but tired fast in the last five-sixteenths mile. ABSOLUTE went very wide for the entire journey. WAHOO was held safe. TREMENDOUS showed a very poor effort. GRACE R. had speed for a half mile and quit badly. She can do much better.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Country Club. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:15½. Off at 3:17½. Winner, J. W. Y. Martin's b. m. (5), by High Cloud—Billet Doux. Trained by A. Hutchins. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:41 4-5, 1:46 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CON AMORE, $6.50, $3.90, $2.70; KINCSEN, $8.00, $3.80; CABEZO, $4.50.

CON AMORE, partial to the footing and sent into the lead at once, stalled off early contention from MARTIS, responded stoutly when forced to a drive and just lasted to stall off KINCSEN. Latter, going in improved fashion, gained rapidly after being outrun for the first five furlongs, lost ground coming into the home stretch, but was wearing the winner down at every stride approaching the finish. CABEZO, a strong factor the entire trip, outstayed GLASTONBURY. Latter, allowed to drop out of contention, finished gamely on his own courage while on the inside of the leaders MARTIS tired. ARRAS was pulled up when beaten.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:43½. Off at 3:45. Winner, J. B. Wise's ch. f. (3), by Blazes—Mahala. Trained by J. H. Johnson. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:43, 1:50 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLAMING MAMIE, $8.30, $3.80, $2.80; GAY PARTY, $4.60, $3.70; MARCASITE, $4.20.

FLAMING MAMIE, suited in the going and allowed to settle in her best stride after reaching a forward position, moved up on the outside of the pacemakers, assumed command in the closing furlong and outstayed GAY PARTY in a hard drive. GAY PARTY, hurried to the front, shook off MY FERGUS and fought it out stubbornly when challenged. MARCASITE, prominent throughout, made a strong effort when straightened into the home stretch, but was inclined to bear in, and had to be passed back slightly. FAIR BILL closed stoutly on the inside from a slow beginning. THE TATTLER showed a good effort while losing ground. AMERICANA and TRIPLE THREAT had no mishaps.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:14. Off at 4:17½. Winner, H. E. Simpson's blk. c. (6), by Sun Briar—Olga Virginia. Trained by P. B. Codd. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:49 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUNVIR, $9.20, $5.60, $3.20; MUD, $4.50, $2.70; TOTEM, $3.60.

SUNVIR, well handled, was permitted to go out into the firmer footing when reaching the back stretch, went to MUD without effort and was well in hand all the last furlong. MUD, suited by the footing, raced NIGHT PATROL into defeat and held TOTEM safe. Latter closed with good courage under his weight. NIGHT PATROL, badly ridden, was rushed off his feet in effort to overtake MUD and had nothing left when put to a drive. REGAL FLAG broke slowly and was never a factor. PAPYOGRAPH was done early.

C. U. ATTACK GROOMED BY BERGMAN

Aerials and End Runs to Be Used Against Wake Forest.

THAT old standby of hackneyed sports writing, "the varsity worked out against the freshmen, who were equipped with enemy plays, and were stopped cold," must be recorded once again to describe yesterday's practice session at Brookland Stadium in which Catholic University's first squad failed to score on the beefy freshmen after nearly an hour of offensive work.

As a result of seeing his first stringers fail to go places against the close-knit plays in which the freshmen emulated Wake Forest, Coach Dutch Bergman has about decided to stress aerials and sweeping end runs Saturday to open up the vast Wake Forest line and sure tackling secondaries.

Wake Forest Noted For Defense.

Wake Forest has long since justified its claim of being one of the best defensive teams of the South. Only nine points have been scored against it all year—and all these in one game by Duke. It beat South Carolina by a score of 6-0, the same as Tulane beat the Gamecocks. It held both North Carolinas to a 0-0 tie.

Vinny Fraatz, regular left end, will not be in the game Saturday as a result of the hip injury he suffered against Holy Cross. His place will be taken by Johnny Ball. Otherwise the team is in excellent shape.

That C. U.'s already well-known blocking skill is not being allowed to lag was evidenced near the end of yesterday's drill when Bergman ordered every player on the squad to take ten full-blooded rolls at a line of sandbags.

Gusto, Gallant Sir To Meet at Latonia

Star 3-Year-Olds Entered for $40,000 Stake on Saturday.

Cincinnati, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Gusto and Gallant Sir came to town today to battle for the Latonia championship stake of an estimated $40,000, and, incidentally, uphold the honor of their respective sectors, the East and West.

It will be the next to the last running of the Latonia championships. The race, the stewards have announced, will be dropped after next year's running, for which nominations already have been received.

It will be, too, Gusto's big chance to become leading 3-year-old of 1933, and retain his standing as the top money winner of the year.

Gusto has a victory in the American Derby to his credit, and N. W. Church's Gallant Sir has the Maryland Handicap. Against them will be running, it seemed today, a field composed of C. V. Whitney's Mad Prump, W. R. Coe's Osculator, J. Fred Adams' Rehoboth, H. P. Headley's Big Beau, the Dixiana Stables' Cee Tee, and R. H. Eastman's Cathop.

Strong Swavely Team To Oppose Gonzaga

Unbeaten last year, Swavely has run its string of consecutive victories to twelve. It has victimized such teams as Episcopal High, Shenandoah Valley and Severn School this year, all by large scores. Last season Tech fell before the Manassas crew, 13 to 0.

Smarting under the 22-20 defeat handed them last week by Georgetown Prep, the boys tutored by Orrel Mitchell hope to make a strong comeback. The loss of Mal Luebkert, full back, who broke his leg in the Georgetown Prep game, robbed Gonzaga of one of its finest players.

Stocks Continue Declines; Trading Volume Increases

Loss of 1.5 Points Recorded on Day's Turnover of 522,435 Shares.

Stocks were a trifle more active than yesterday, but volume of trading was still back at the early summer levels, and with buyers aloof, net losses of 1 to 3 points were frequent. Neither shares nor wheat had enough vitality to cut down their early declines appreciably. In this respect both markets differed from Monday's.

Rail equities looked particularly soggy, although their complaint appeared to have originated in the same situation that affected utilities and industrials, namely, the sluggishness which characterized trading. Santa Fe and Union Pacific lost 2 and 3 points, respectively, but there was a similar range of losses for American Telephone, American Can, U. S. Steel preferred, Case, Allied Chemical, Coca Cola, Eastman Kodak and Corn Products.

The usual extra dividend of 25 cents a share for holders of Standard Oil of New Jersey helped oil shares a little, although Socony Vacuum slumped a point and a half when its own quarterly payment was cut in half, or to 10 cents from 20. Estimates of current crude production pointed to a sizeable decrease. Also, oil company earnings for the third quarter make favorable comparisons with a year ago, when deficits were the rule.

With sales aggregating 522,435 shares, the market bettered its record of the previous session by a substantial percentage.

Wall street's financial news budget was meager. Another foreign government was forced to default on dollar bond issues. Jugoslavia found the burden of exchange restrictions and lean revenues too heavy a handicap.

Reporting member banks of the Federal Reserve system revealed a further sharp contraction in loans, mostly those of security description. On the other hand, investments rose $113,000,000, most of the addition being in holdings of Federal securities.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Tues.	Mon.
Advances	60	108
Declines	314	203
Unchanged	93	129
Total issues traded	467	440

Stocks.

Inertia continued to handicap stocks. An average loss of 1.5 points was recorded, as the day's dealings increased slightly to 522,435 shares. Rail equities, industrials and utilities were affected alike by sluggishness in trading. Important financial news was lacking.

Bonds.

Prices yielded one-tenth of a point in dull and soggy trading. Dealers and investors stood aside and let the market drift. Rails were the softest spot in the session. Their losses, however, were held within a range of 1 point. Utilities and industrials finished even. The sales volume totaled $6,007,000.

Curb.

Selling drove prices down. All leading issues showed effects of the heavy tone. Buyers remained apathetic. Losses in utilities ranged around one point. Oils eased in spots. Gulf lost one point. Mining issues were dull. Copper investments sagged. The turnover was 100,000 shares.

Wheat.

Restrictions on Canadian grain shipped through the United States and other handicaps caused wheat prices to sink to new world lows. Serious difficulty was seen in the handling of Canadian wheat now on hand in Unitd States ports and elevators. Corn and oats followed in the downward trend. Provisions advanced. December wheat sold at 43¼ to 43⅜ cents.

Cotton.

Opening advances were lost under reactions, due to hedge selling and December liquidation. Lows for the day were established in late trading. December contracts sold at 6.02. The general market was down 3 to 5 points. Liverpool reported that calling absorbed liquidation in that market.

BONDS YIELD GROUND IN SLUGGISH DEALING

Average Loss of One-Tenth Results as Sales Rise to $6,007,000.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Dullness again permeated the bond market today, with most prices displaying a somewhat soggy appearance as traders and investors generally stood aside.

The turnover was only slightly greater than that of yesterday, when the aggregate was the smallest in the past two years. Sales totaled $6,007,000, par value, and the average of 60 domestic corporate bonds dropped one-tenth of a point.

Important news developments, either constructive or otherwise, were lacking. The British labor and unemployment situation was still rather disturbing and the domestic economic picture was not altogether clear. The weakness of commodities and the expectation of a further decline in freight car loadings did not improve sentiment.

The railroads were the softest of the listed categories, although they usually held their losses to around a point. Owing to the wording of the stock exchange announcement, there was some confusion regarding trading in Nickel Plate 6s which were supposed to have been stricken from the board today. The exchange explained that these notes would be off the list "at the close of business today." Only four of the securities changed hands at an advance of one-half a point. The deposit certificates of the same issues, which will remain on the list, gained three-quarters of a point.

The heaviest of the carriers included some loans of Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Frisco and Southern.

The utilities and industrials finished about even. Some of the oils again firmed, including issues of Shell Union, Sinclair, Richfield and Pan-American of California. Bonds of North American Edison and New York Edison improved. International Telephone and Postal Telegraph loans eased.

In the foreign group the Australians provided the principal activity with gains of more than a point. The Argentines also advanced. United States Government obligations were moderately firm.

Dried Fruit Prices Firm.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Increased price firmness has developed in the past week in several items in dried fruits.

U. S. Increase of Gold Yield Leads All Other Countries

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Estimates of the American Bureau of Metal Statistics indicate that production of gold in the United States during the current year has increased at a faster rate than in any other major producing country.

During August the American output amounted to 241,000 fine ounces, valued at $4,981,470, the bureau states, which was comparable with 174,000 ounces, valued at $3,596,580 produced last January an increase of 36 3-10 per cent.

The second largest percentage gain was shown by Australia and New Zealand, where production advanced from 69,000 ounces in January to 81,008 ounces, a gain of 17 4-10 per cent.

Canada continues to rank as the second largest world producer, with South Africa first and the United States third. The Canadian production during the current year has increased to 263,000 fine ounces in August, against 234,000 ounces in January, up 12 3-10 per cent. The South American output advanced from 948,000 ounces in January, to 991,000 ounces in August, a per centage increase of 4½.

The entire gold production for the world during August is estimated at 2,010,000 fine ounces. While the increased rate is not expected to continue during the remainder of the year, the bureau estimates the output for 1932 at about 23,000,000 ounces, which would compare with 21,335,000 ounces in 1931, 20,300,000 in 1930, 19,585,000 in 1929, and 15,445,000 in 1922.

Wheat to Utilize Ports of Canada

U. S. Shipping Route Now Made Difficult, Grain Dealer Explains.

Montreal, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—The opinion in grain trade circles here today was that the bulk of Canada's wheat exports to the United Kingdom will hereafter go through the Canadian ports of Vancouver, Halifax and St. John in the winter months, as a result of the British government ruling to grant preference to Canadian grain only when exported from Canad by direct consignment.

One prominent Montreal grain dealer explained it was practically impossible to ship Canadian grain through a United States port on a through bill of lading.

The reason, he said, was that there were three rqutes by which grain might be carried to a United States port—by lake vessel, rail or ocean vessel—and having regard to the usage in such shipments a through bill of lading could not be drawn up.

Silk Trade Gains; Big Cargoes Ready

11 Ships Are Listed to Sail With 40,000 Bales From Japan.

San Francisco, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Awakening to pour about $1,000,000 worth of its gossamer filament into America during this month, the Oriental silk industry is beginning to shake off a long sleep induced by the depression.

A parade of swift liners across the Pacific and a procession of the fastest transcontinental trains will take approximately $30,000,000 worth of raw silk from the picturesque farms and villages of the Far East to the roaring mills on the Atlantic seaboard this month.

Eleven ships are scheduled to bring 40,000 bales to San Francisco, most of this from Japan. Four vessels will carry approximately that amount to other Pacific Coast ports. Shippers, attributing the renewed activity to better conditions in industry, said the movement was heavier than it had been for some time and that prices had improved appreciably.

4th Reserve Area Reports Recovery

General Business Gains Noted in Cleveland District.

Cleveland, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—An upward trend in general business, the first in four seasons, was noted today in the Fourth Federal Reserve District by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

Improvement in general business, the bank stated in its monthly review, continued for the latter part of September and the first half of October both in the Fourth District and the entire country.

"The expansion in most lines," the report said, "was greater than seasonal and was encouraging since, at this time in the three preceding depression years, the trend of general business was downward despite the fact that there is usually some improvement in the fall."

R. A. Wilbur Is Chosen Atlas Company Official

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Rollin A. Wilbur, of Cleveland, a former president of the Investment Bankers Association and for fifteen years associated with the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, was today made a vice president of the Atlas Corporation, an investment trust of the general management type.

Mr. Wilbur practiced law in Cleveland and Salt Lake City, and in the summer of 1931 was appointed deputy superintendent of banks of Ohio in charge of the Toledo banking situation and assisted in the rehabilitation program affecting more than $100,000,000 of assets of banks in that city.

Decline in Steel Buying Laid to Election Drive

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Buying of steel has slipped slightly, according to the American Metal Market and sellers attribute the decrease wholly to the election influence.

According to this theory, says the Review, there should be an increase in buying soon irrespective of the outcome of the presidential contest.

CURB SLUMPS AGAIN UNDER SALES WHIP

Small Losses Mark Deals in Leaders; Turnover, 100,000 Shares.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—A few tricklers of selling were sufficient to give the curb market a heavy tone today, as buyers remained apathetic.

The turnover was only roughly 100,000 shares, but that was 20,000 shares above yesterday's. A number of preferred stocks gained a point or so in small transactions, but more active issues were mostly lower.

Losses of around a point appeared in Niagara Hudson, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, and Electric Bond & Share. Columbia Gas preferred dropped 4 points in an odd-lot transaction. Pennsylvania Water & Power, however, gained ¾. It reported net for the first nine months equal to $3.65 a share.

Oils eased a little in spots. The news of the Standard of New Jersey regular extra dividend of 25 cents was counterbalanced by halving of Socony-Vacuum's quarterly payment, making it 10 cents. Gulf lost a point, and Standard of Indiana, which was traded in fair volume, lost ¼ of a point.

Among industrials, losses of 1 to 2 points appeared in Aluminum Co., A. O. Smith, and Seiberling Rubber. Ford of Canada "A" sagged ¼, and Ford of France traded at 3½, off ¾.

Mining issues were dull. Lake Shore, Canadian gold mining issues, advanced a fraction, while Newmont Mining, which has extensive copper investments, sagged a fraction.

Trading Mark Set In Eggs and Butter

958 Carloads Change Hands in Chicago in One Day.

Chicago, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Trading records for the past four years were broken on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange today when 958 cars of eggs and butter changed hands. The trading involved 6,432,000 pounds of butter and 7,476,000 dozen eggs, the combined monetary value being in excess of $2,750,000.

Egg futures closed heavy, only little changed from the previous close. The November delivery closed at 19⅜ cents a dozen, off ¼ cent, and December at 20⅝, up ⅛. Butter was about ⅜ cent higher.

The heavy volume of trading resulted largely from the desire of traders to avoid accepting deliveries on November contracts, which started today.

Ortiz Rubio Sees Mexico At Door of Prosperity

Pasadena, Calif., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Mexico is on the threshold of an unprecedented area of prosperity because at no time has it reached the stage of overproduction, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, former President of Mexico, declared in a public address here last night at a gathering sponsored by the Los Angeles University of International Relations.

"Not being overburdened by debts or by an excessive number of unemployed," said the former president, "my country has suffered less than others. Our unemployment problem is scarcely abnormal—for our unemployed total only 225,000 out of a population of 16,000,000. As soon as economic conditions resume normality, a boom of heretofore unparalleled proportions is bound to come to Mexico."

WHEAT SINKS LOWER ON BRITAIN'S RULING

New World Lows Reached; Other Grains Decline; Provisions Gain.

Chicago, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Confronted by new restrictions on grain shipments from North America, wheat today, the fourth time within a week, smashed through the world's low price record.

Great Britain's House of Commons, 247 to 55, voted that wheat consigned from a United States port and certified to have been grown in Canada should not be entitled to British Empire tariff preference. This was taken to mean serious difficulties about Canadian wheat now on hand in this country, and also that Canadian shippers, in order to benefit by free entry to wheat sent direct to Great Britain, would rush every bushel possible across the sea before a winter freeze-up closes the St. Lawrence River.

Wheat fell as low as 42⅞ cents a bushel in Chicago, and closed unsteady ⅝ to 1¼ cents under yesterday's finish; corn, ⅜ to ½ down; oats, unchanged to ¼ lower, and provisions showing 2 cents advance.

Stop-Loss Selling.

Stop-loss selling flurries went hand in hand with the fresh overthrow of bottom price records. Rallies that followed were of only fractional extent, ascribed chiefly to speculative buying here against simultaneous equal sales at Winnipeg. Meanwhile, reports were current telling of urgent pressure to sell new crop Argentine wheat abroad, together with distress selling by Canada. Weakness of securities contributed to the unsettlement of grain, and so likewise did estimates that the available supply of corn in the United States is the largest since 1923-24.

Adding to the downward impetus of wheat values was the fact that closing quotations at Buenos Aires had collapsed to below 40 cents a bushel. Word that Canada had managed to dispose of more wheat overseas as a result of price slashing failed to act as a stimulus here, although the total was put at 1,000,000 bushels. Traders also virtually ignored estimates of 4 to 6 per cent reduction of winter wheat acreage in the United States this season.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Rye as well as wheat established a new low price record.

Provisions developed firmness owing to expectance that Chicago stocks of lard would show a substantial reduction.

COTTON PRICES SAG UNDER HEDGE SALES

December Closes at 6.02 in 3-to-5 Point Declines of General Market.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Small opening advances in cotton today were followed by mild reactions under a continuation of moderate hedge selling pressure and December liquidation, the lows for the day being established in the late trading.

December contracts sold off from 6.10 to 6.02 and closed at the latter figure with the general market finishing barely steady at net losses of 3 to 5 points.

The opening was 2 to 5 points higher. Heavy rains were reported over the eastern belt and portions of the central and western belt, accompanied by light to heavy frosts in northern Mississippi Valley and western sections. The South continued the principal seller.

New Low Prices.

The decline again carried prices into new low levels for the movement with the lows for the day representing reactions of 7 to 9 points from first quotations. Final prices were at or within a point of the lowest.

According to market observers, the trade buying orders, while on a scale-down, has been sufficient to absorb offerings and give the market a fairly steady undertone. However, in the absence of outstanding demand the market displayed practically no rallying power.

Liverpool cables reported calling absorbing liquidation, but business in cloths was difficult owing to delivery and labor uncertainties. Exports today, 50,207, making 2,077,901 so far this season. Port receipts, 89,309; United States port stocks, 4,302,420.

Alberta to Escape Loss On Wheat-Shipping Rule

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Alberta will not be directly affected to any great extent by the exclusion from British preferential arrangements of Canada wheat shipped through American ports, George Hoadley, minister of agriculture and acting premier, said today.

Hoadley pointed out, however, that the London ruling calls for intensive study on whether or not there is sufficient storage in Canada to take care of all the export grain without making use of American terminal facilities, and also the extent to which capital expenditure might be necessary to provide additional storage.

Sugar Futures 1 Point Up.

New York, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Sugar futures were quiet today. Prices held steady on covering and some support from Cuban interest, which was sufficient to absorb moderate commission house selling and hold prices at or within a point of the previous close. The general list at 2 p. m., net unchanged to 1 point higher.

GEN. SIBERT RESIGNS HOOVER DAM OFFICE

One of Leaders in Building of Canal Quits Because of Salary Abolition.

(United Press.)

Maj. Gen. William L. Sibert, retired Army engineer who labored seven years to push construction of the Panama Canal to completion, resigned yesterday as chairman of the Colorado River advisory board of engineers.

He left his important work on the Hoover dam because an act of Congress deprived him of any salary—the only one of the engineers involved who would have been so situated. The economy bill provided that any Army officer whose retirement pay was more than $3,000 annually could not receive the $50 a day the Government usually pays consulting engineers. Sibert is in that classification. The remainder of the engineers on the board are civilian employes, unaffected by the economy bill.

Sibert, 72 years old, had charge of building the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal. As a major general, he led the first division of the American expeditionary forces to France, and was recalled in 1918 to take charge of the chemical warfare division.

He retired in 1920 and subsequently was appointed to the Alabama State Dock Commission, building the concrete docks at Mobile, largest in the world. Then followed his appointment to the Colorado River board.

Sibert has a large farm near Bowling Green, Ky., where he formerly rode to hounds. He is an ardent bridge player.

Brother of Wales Seen Ingrid's Pick

Princess' Engagement to Prince George Due to Be Announced Soon.

London, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—A rumor went the rounds today in London and Stockholm that the engagement of Prince George of England and Princess Ingrid of Sweden will be announced here November 11 at a get-together of the British and Swedish royal families.

The occasion would be a dinner in London celebrating the fiftieth birthday of the princess' father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf. The possibility was seen that the Prince of Wales may be the lucky man, but rumors which linked his name with the Swedish princess months ago have died.

There is a growing conviction that the Prince of Wales really is determined to remain a bachelor and the fact that his younger brother has seen a lot of the princess lately has made him the popular favorite. Photographs showing Prince George, who will be 30 years old December 20, in company with Ingrid, who is 22, appeared frequently during her recent visit with relatives here and when Prince George went along with his elder brother to Sweden last month. The Princess Ingrid now is visiting her grandfather, the Duke of Connaught.

Dickinson Tells Illinois Tariff Protects Farmer

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Senator L. J. Dickinson (Republican), of Iowa, in a campaign speech here tonight commended the Hawley-Smoot tariff act as "essentially an agricultural tariff" and asserted the Democratic party was hostile to farmers.

Mr. Dickinson's address as released through national Republican headquarters said that for "three years the Democratic party has maintained in New York and Washington a highly paid propaganda bureau for the purpose of discrediting the Hoover administration and creating public sentiment against the Hawley-Smoot act."

Tire Explosion Proves Fatal.

Honolulu, Nov. 1 (A.P.).—Injuries received Monday when he was struck by the rim of an automobile tire which blew up while he was inflating it, today caused the death of Frank Atkins, 56. Mr. Atkins' skull and jaw were fractured and he received other face and hand injuries.

Fox Hunters' Event Postponed by Rain

Horse Show Will Be Held Today at Rockville Fair Grounds.

Rain that saturated the Rockville Fair Grounds and surrounding countryside yesterday caused postponement of the second day of the National Fox Hunters' Association program. The horse show that was scheduled for yesterday afternoon will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Judges will be Victor Noyes, of Baltimore, and Dr. R. E. Humphrey, of Middleburg, Va.

The second division of the $1,000 Twelfth Chase Futurity, which was to have been run yesterday morning, will be run this morning and tomorrow afternoon. Hounds will be cast near Holland Farm, about two miles from Olney, this morning.

The annual ball of the National Fox Hunters' Association was held last night at the Wardman Park Hotel. The fox hunters will be guests of the Rockville Chamber of Commerce this afternoon at the fair grounds at an oyster roast. A bench show will be held Friday at the Wardman Park Hotel, headquarters of the fox hunters' convention.

Trustee's Sale of the Valuable Nine Story and Basement Brick and Limestone Building, Known as the Smith Building, Located at 815-817 Fifteenth Street Northwest, Suitable for Banking and Office Purposes.

Because of default in the terms and conditions of and by virtue of a certain deed of trust executed by The F. H. Smith Building, Inc., a Delaware Corporation (formerly The F. H. Smith Building Corporation), dated April 14, 1927, recorded among the land records of the District of Columbia in Liber 6075 at folio 27 et seq., and at the request of over twenty-five per centum of the holders of the bonds secured thereby, the undersigned substituted trustee, by appointment of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in Equity Cause No. 52494, will offer for sale at public auction, in front of the premises, on WEDNESDAY, THE THIRTIETH DAY OF NOVEMBER, A. D. 1932, AT FOUR O'CLOCK P. M., the following described land and premises, situate in the District of Columbia:

Lot 62 in The F. H. Smith Building Corporation's combination in Square 320, as per plat recorded in Liber No. 86 folio 84 of the records of the office of the Surveyor of the District of Columbia; Also, part of Lot 38 in S. P. Brown's subdivision of lots in said square, as per plat recorded in Liber R. W. folio 136 of the aforesaid surveyor's office records; said part of lot being described as follows: Beginning for the same on the north side of a 20-foot wide alley, 20 feet west of the southeast corner of said lot and running thence north 39.33 feet, thence west 5 feet to a 10-foot wide alley, thence south along said last mentioned alley 34.33 feet to an angle therein, thence southeasterly 7.07 feet to the place of beginning; together with the improvements, consisting of "The Smith Building," and all furnishings, fittings and fixtures which the said substituted trustee under said deed of trust is authorized to sell and convey.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase price to be paid in cash on or before the 31st day of December, 1932, balance in two equal installments, payable on or before one and two years from date of sale, respectively, with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per centum per annum from day of sale, said interest payable semiannually, and to be secured by first deed of trust on the property sold; or all cash at the option of the purchaser. The said trustee will receive no bid from any one offering to bid who shall not at or before the hour of sale, or any adjournment thereof, deposit with said trustee, as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, a deposit of $15,000, either in cash or certified check on a local bank or trust company, made or indorsed payable to the undersigned trustee, or in lieu thereof bonds of the par value of $30,000, in form transferable by delivery, secured by said deed of trust, said bonds to have all unpaid coupons attached thereto. The deposit of any unsuccessful bidder will be returned to him immediately after the sale. In case any successful bidder shall fail to complete his purchase by December 31, 1932, in accordance with the said terms of sale, said deposit may be forfeited at the option of the said trustee. Said trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids and withdraw the property from sale. Adjustments with respect to taxes, assessments, insurance, rentals, income from operation of property, interest and all other adjustments shall be made as of the date of sale. The trustee, however, will continue to manage and operate said property and collect the income therefrom from date of sale to date of transfer upon existing terms as set forth in said deed of trust. After settlement of sale said trustee will not be responsible for any bills or expenses incurred in the management or operation of said property. All conveyancing, recording, examination of title, and notarial fees at the cost of the purchaser. Terms of sale to be complied with by the 31st day of December, 1932, otherwise the trustee reserves the right to resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser, upon the foregoing terms, after advertisement of such resale to be published three times per week for two successive weeks in two newspapers published in Washington, D. C.

MRS. HOOVER PLANTS TREE AT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL CELEBRATION

Gordon Institution's Fifth Anniversary Observed With Ceremony.

While several hundred youthful voices sang out their school song, Mrs. Herbert Hoover yesterday planted a young oak tree at the Gordon Junior High School, Thirty-fourth and Wisconsin avenue northwest, commemorating the fifth anniversary of the institution.

The First Lady spread the earth around the roots of the young oak with a spade made by students of the West Side school in their art metal shop. Then presents for herself and for her grandchildren, Peggy Ann and Peter Hoover, now in California, were presented to Mrs. Hoover. Patricia Chanaka presented a clown doll, James Lake, a metal desk tray, and Arthur Hoffman, a model plane.

Other Notables Present.

Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Chapin, wives of the Secretary of the Navy, the Postmaster General and the Secretary of Commerce, respectively, attended the ceremony.

Other notables present included Commissioners Luther H. Reichelderfer and Herbert B. Crosby and Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools. Isaac Gans, civic leader, was also among the throng of parents, teachers and children.

Music by School Band.

The school's band furnished accompaniment for the singing of the school songs. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts were lined up in military order around the First Lady as she planted the tree and saluted gravely as she passed.

Mrs. Hoover indicated a genuine enjoyment of the program and good-naturedly lectured photographers after the ceremony for clicking their cameras as the exercises took place.

Forecast for the District of Columbia—Fair Wednesday and Thursday; somewhat warmer Thursday; gentle winds, mostly south.

Maryland and Virginia—Fair Wednesday and Thursday; somewhat warmer Thursday and in west portions Wednesday.

The tropical disturbance is apparently of moderate intensity and is moving westward over the Caribbean Sea with center tonight some distance southwest of Puerto Rico.

The eastern disturbance is now central over Maine and moving rapidly northeastward, Greenville, 29.64 inches. It has been attended by moderate to heavy rains in the Eastern and Southeastern States and by strong shifting winds and gales along the Atlantic Coast north of Cape Hatteras. A disturbance of wide extent and marked intensity is moving inland over British Columbia and Washington, Tatoosh Island, 29.36 inches, and it is causing rain and strong southerly winds in the North Pacific States. A minor disturbance is moving southeastward over Minnesota, Minneapolis, 30.02 inches. An area of high pressure is moving eastward over the Ohio and Lower Mississippi Valleys, Parkersburg, W. Va., 30.32 inches, and another high pressure area extends from the Arctic region southward to the Dakotas, Coppermine, District of MacKenzie, 30.58 inches. Still another high pressure area is over Newfoundland, Cape Race, 30.60 inches. The temperature has risen in northern New England and rather generally west of the Mississippi River and has fallen from the lower lake region southward to the Gulf and South Atlantic Coast.

General forecast for the Atlantic States, the lower lake region, the Ohio Valley and Tennessee—Fair weather will prevail almost generally during the next two days, except for light local rains Wednesday night from the lower lake region eastward to Maine. The temperature will rise in the lower lake region Wednesday, in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the Appalachian region Wednesday and Thursday, and in portions of the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic States Thursday.

D.A.V. PUSHES FIGHT ON FURLOUGH ORDER

Chapter of Veterans' Group Insists Grant's Plan Is Unfair.

Insistence by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, that his method of furloughing building guards on a basis of total income from Federal sources is the most just to all employes concerned, drew further strenuous objections last night from Disabled American Veterans.

Federal Chapter, No. 6, of the D. A. V., dispatched a letter to Col. Grant last night asking that he rescind his order because it is unfair to war veteran employes who are receiving compensation.

Chief objection is made to the fact that Col. Grant's order reduces the compensation for service-connected disabilities by exactly 13 per cent and distributes this 13 per cent of the compensation of service-connected disabled men among nonveterans.

Col. Grant told the veterans' organization in a letter to which last night's letter is an answer that he was faced with the problem of saving 21 per cent of the office pay roll. This would have to be done, he explained, by imposing a money forfeiture equal to 13 per cent of the total income of each man or applying the 21 per cent to the office pay of the entire force. The former procedure was decided upon, Col. Grant said.

The D. A. V. protests that a nonveteran on the guard force is thus paid more because fellow employes injured in war service contribute to this increased payment. The veteran charged that the order is a violation of the sentiment of President Hoover asking that compensation due to war-incurred disabilities not be touched.

POSTOFFICE TO HIRE 2,000 EXTRA IN D. C.

100,000 Throughout Nation to Be Employed in Christmas Holiday Rush.

The Postoffice Department will provide temporary employment for 2,000 of Washington's jobless during the Christmas holiday season, and 5,000 already have applied for the jobs. Approximately 100,000 will be put to work throughout the country.

No more applications will be received, Assistant Postmaster W. H. Haycock announced yesterday. In awarding available work to those most in need, the department is following a precedent set last year when the surplus jobs were devoted almost exclusively to unemployment relief.

Postmaster General Brown has so advised postmasters throughout the country. Pay, which last year was at the rate of 65 cents an hour, will drop to 60 cents this year, through application of the 8 1-3 per cent economy act reduction.

The department will start putting the temporary employes to work December 15. The rush is expected to continue for about ten days. Few women will be employed, due to the character of the work.

Approximately 1,200 extra clerks will be employed, 650 carriers, 75 laborers and 50 automobile jumpers and drivers.

Council Honors Welfare Leader

Miss Gertrude H. Bowling Presented With Framed Resolution.

Miss Gertrude H. Bowling, director of the Instructive Visiting Nurse Society of the District, was presented with a framed resolution of appreciation yesterday afternoon by the health committee of the Council of Social Agencies for her many years of service as chairman of the latter organization. Miss Bowling retired as chairman in May and was succeeded by Dr. Joseph W. Mountin.

The resolution extolled Miss Bowling for "her many years of capable direction, intelligent leadership and unfaltering devotion in the advancement of public health in the District of Columbia." The resolution was presented by Willard C. Smith, who for part of the period of Miss Bowling's service was president of the Council of Social Agencies.

Dr. Mountin announced appointment of Miss Lucia Murchison as chairman of the committee on hospital social service. Miss Murchison is the director of the hospital social service department at Children's Hospital. Mrs. E. R. Grant, president of the association for the prevention of tuberculosis, told the association that cuts in health service are not real economies and that increased appropriations were necessary.

Hot Wire Cools Off Boy

Amateur Electrician, 14, Knocked Unconscious While Enlightening Himself on Workings of Switch, But Is Soon Revived at Hospital.

The zeal of 14-year-old Charles Barrick to solve a few problems in electricity was somewhat cooled last night when he was knocked unconscious as his hand came in contact with a high-tension wire while repairing a light fixture in his home at 615 Seventh street southwest.

Charles studies electricity at the Abbot School. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Barrick, said he recently developed an interest in the subject, and after classes came home to work over lamps, sockets and any electrical fixture he believed needed repairing.

Mrs. Barrick said she warned Charles to be careful. But last night while she was in another room of their home, he decided to learn just what was behind a switch on the wall. Mrs. Barrick said she suddenly heard him cry out, and, rushing to a front room, found him unconscious on the floor.

A doctor from Emergency Hospital soon revived the youth and, although not seriously hurt, Charles was ordered to bed. He plans, however, to exercise a little more caution in conducting his "home work" from now on.

HEARING ON 3-CENT SCHOOL FARE IS SET IN COURT TOMORROW

Appeals of Traction Firms From P. U. C. Order to Be Argued.

A lively legal skirmish on the 3-cent school-fare controversy is expected in District Supreme Court tomorrow when a hearing is held on the merits of the appeals of the two street railways and the Washington Rapid Transit Co. from the Public Utilities Commission order issued twenty months ago.

Congress Act Challenged.

People's Counsel Richmand B. Keech and William A. Roberts, special counsel of the Public Utilities Commission, are prepared to argue for a motion to dismiss the suits as well as on the merits of the disputed order. Whatever be the decision of the Supreme Court, the case doubtless will go to the Court of Appeals.

The litigation goes deeper than an appeal from a commission order; it actually is a challenge of the act of Congress of February 25, 1931, directing the utilities body to order a school fare of not more than 3 cents. The street railways contend that the act is unconstitutional both as to its nature and because it has reputedly added to the losses of the carriers.

Order Kept in Effect.

Despite the fact that the railways and the bus company filed their appeals in June of last year, Mr. Keech and Mr. Roberts have been able to keep the order in effect until the delayed hearing. Whether it will continue in operation after the Supreme Court decision will likely depend on whether the commission is sustained.

It is expected that the commission will contend that it has authority to require the 3-cent fare even though it is not profitable to the carriers. Argument is expected to center about the legal technicalities.

Woman Finds Mother Overcome by Fumes

Overcome by the fumes of a drug which she used to gain relief from a heart attack, Mrs. Emma Trevey, 38, 1317 Four-and-a-half street southwest, was found lying in a coma on a lounge in her home, by her daughter yesterday afternoon.

She was given first aid by the Fire Rescue Squad and removed to the Emergency Hospital where her condition is said to be undetermined.

Heavy Loot Toll Taken From Cars

Visitor From Cottage City, Among Victims, Reports $55 Clothing Loss.

Nellie Burton, of Cottage City, Md., reported to police that clothing valued at $55 was stolen from her car yesterday afternoon while it was parked near Eighth and K streets. The clothing included a coat valued $50, a hat worth $4, and sweater worth $1.

The theft of a robe valued at $15, and overcoat worth $45 from his automobile was reported by Paul E. Spahn, of Long Island, New York. He said a window was broken while parked at North Capitol and E streets northwest.

David N. Thomas, of 2737 Devonshire place northwest, reported the loss of clothing valued at $75 from his car parked at 924 G street northwest. The clothing included a suit, two shirts, a pair of pajamas, and a pair of shoes.

Oaklawn Receiver Sought in Petition

First Half of Fiscal Year's Taxes Not Paid, Say 42 Note Holders.

Forty-two holders of notes secured by the Oaklawn Apartment House at 3620 Sixteenth street northwest, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to issue a rule, returnable November 4, requiring the owners of the building to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed to take over the building.

The allegation was made in the petition that the first half of the fiscal year's taxes had not been paid, and that note holders had been informed that not all of the $385,000 of the first trust could be met on the date of maturity.

The court also was asked to decree a judicial foreclosure, if that appeared to be the best way of preserving the interests of the note holders. Those named as defendants were Howe Totten, David L. Stern and four trustees. The note holders represented local churches, insurance companies and citizens. Attorneys Peele, Ogilby & Lesh and Jerome P. Barnard appeared for them.

2 Held as Police Seize Rum Cargo

Ring Being Trailed as Result of Raid on Adams Mill Road.

Police are trailing a large liquor ring which is said to be operating here, and which was said to have been unearthed through the capture of a large liquor cutting and aging plant and 500 gallons of alleged whiskey, in a house at 3201 Adams Mill road northwest, yesterday afternoon.

Two men who gave their names as Daniel E. Loving, 23, and Marshall Toney, 26, both of 68 U street northwest, were arrested as they left the Adams Mill road address, with a truck load of alleged liquor. They were charged with illegal possession.

The raiding squad led by Policemen Harry Bauer and George C. Deyoe, entered the house and discovered the mixing plant and a quantity of liquor. The raid followed a three-weeks' vigil by liquor agents who suspect the men of being linked with a gang of whisky operators.

Comdr. Settle, Balloon Champion, Arrives Soon

A native Washingtonian, who holds the world's balloon record for distance, Lieut. Comdr. T. G. W. Settle, will visit his family in Washington after Friday for a few days before returning to duty as senior inspector of the U. S. S. Macon, world's largest dirigible, being built in Akron, Ohio.

Commander Settle, son of Mrs. Joseph A. Settle of the LaFayette Hotel, won the James Gordon Bennet trophy in September against balloonists from eight foreign countries. Commander Settle, a presidential appointee to the Naval Academy, graduated second in the class of 1919.

Post Staff Marks Notable Progress

Advertising Men Observe Recent Advances at Gala Dinner.

The significant progress made by The Washington Post during the last two months was reviewed by the advertising staff at a dinner held last night in the ballroom of 2400 Sixteenth street, formerly known as Meridian Mansions.

Through the courtesy of Carter Barron, local manager of Loew's Theaters, entertainment was furnished by members of the stage presentation now appearing at the Fox, and included a number of popular songs by Miss May Joyce. Members of The Post advertising staff also burlesqued the sales accomplishments of various brethren and a scheduled ten-round bout between Robert Joyce, billed as the "Mount Rainier Terror," and Irving (Can He take It) Meyer, was called a draw.

The entertainment program was supplemented with piano selections by Roderick Dunlap, a member of The Post advertising staff, who is frequently heard on radio programs from local stations.

U. S. AIRPORT LEASE URGED BY CHAMBER

McMillan Bill Is Indorsed; Support of Chest Asked in Resolution.

Indorsement of the McMillan bill providing for the leasing and operation of the Washington Airport by the Federal Government was given by the newly elected board of directors of the Washington Chamber of Commerce last night. This action was taken on recommendation of the aviation committee, of which John S. Wynne is chairman.

Ninety per cent of the eligible institutions in Washington have subscribed to the home-loan bank and a 100 per cent representation is expected within a short time, Edwin C. Baltz, chairman of the home-loan bank committee of the chamber, reported.

A resolution presented by John H. Wilkins, calling on citizens of Washington to meet the present emergency in the District by giving generously to the Community Chest and asking business establishments to display flags during the Chest campaign, was adopted.

Reporting on the industrial exposition held last week, George A. G. Wood and Alfred L. Stern told the directors it was one of the most successful ever held. Col. Edward G. Bliss announced that the fire prevention week program had been carried out with great success. Approval was given the recommendation of the transportation committee that the Potomac River be developed for traffic, freight and recreation purposes. Thomas P. Littlepage, newly elected president of the organization, presided.

Parents Are Awarded $3,000 in Son's Death

Damages of $3,000 were awarded yesterday by a Prince Georges County Circuit Court jury to Edward and Bertha Curtis, whose son was killed in a railroad accident near Marlboro several years ago.

The couple, who were represented by Attorneys Landale G. Sasscer and J. Wilson Ryon, had asked $15,000 of the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington railway.

Federal Bridge League Opens Its First Season

The first season of the newly organized Federal Bridge League was opened last night at the Carlton Hotel, with fifteen teams of four persons each drawn from Government personnel and the National Federation of Federal Employes participating.

Prizes to the victorious teams have been donated by the federation. The league schedule will end next May.

TRAFFIC TOLL

An order issued by Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, yesterday warned motorists against speeding up to pass street cars when they slow up to stop. Officers were instructed to arrest violators of the regulation requiring motorists to stop 8 feet from the nearest exit of street cars.

Statistics indicate that there were 37 more deaths and 204 more injuries up to date than during the corresponding period of 1931. The total number of accidents has decreased by 407. The figures are:

	1931.	1932.
Deaths	66	103
Injuries	3,012	3,216
Accidents	7,077	6,670

"Be Careful!"

Judge's Car Falls Victim To Prankers

Those prankish youngsters who opened the air valves in all the tires on the automobile of Judge Isaac R. Hitt of Police Court yesterday caused the judge to be one hour late in arriving.

Judge Hitt parked his machine in front of his home at 3909 McKinley street northwest, and when he went out yesterday morning, in the rain, to start it, he found all his tires deflated.

Garage mechanics later told him that even the spare tire had been "de-aired."

Mrs. Worrell Paid Honor by Citizens

American Flag Presented to President of Group in Columbia Heights.

An American flag was presented to Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the Columbia Heights Citizens Association, at a meeting of the association last night, by Mrs. Lucia Ramsey Maxwell, author of patriotic treatises, in recognition of Mrs. Worrell's service as president of the League of American Civil Service.

Mrs. Maxwell, in a presentation speech, eulogized the services of Mrs. Worrell, declaring she has "worked courageously and efficiently for the welfare of Government employes."

Responding, Mrs. Worrell said that no greater honor could come to her than to receive such a gift from "my friend and coworker—a woman devoted to her flag and her country."

CHOIR FROM VIENNA WINS WASHINGTON, PRAISE IN CONCERT

Ensemble Tone One of Rare Beauty; Solo Passages Also Applauded.

Twenty-two singing boys from ancient Vienna, members of a choir which was founded in 1498 in the then Imperial Chapel, visited Washington yesterday and gave a memorable concert at Constitution Hall under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene.

The organization is called the "Wiener Saengerknaben." It has included in its membership through the centuries many notable singers and composers and other musicians. Recently the Saengerknaben was given a testimonial by His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, after the choir had sung for him in the Vatican in which he stated "their voices are as flutelike and sweet as those of angels in Paradise."

This opinion was well borne out in yesterday's concert. The sweet-voiced lads were accompanied to Washington by the Rev. Joseph Schnitt and their musical director. After the concert yesterday they were entertained at supper by the Austrian Minister and Mme. Prochnik, who occupied a box at the concert.

Tribute to America.

As a special tribute to this country, the Saengerknaben opened its program yesterday with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," in English. The audience rose spontaneously to its feet when the lads sang the National Anthem. They sang it well, too, their beautiful voices taking the high notes of the song easily and the audience gave them an ovation at its conclusion.

The ensemble tone of the choir is one of rare beauty. Many of the numbers yesterday were sung a capella, that is unaccompanied, and the absolute pitch maintained was a treat, while the vocal effects produced were as varied and as well defined as those possible from a pipe organ without, of course, the bass tones, the boys having soprano and alto voices only.

That all the members of the choir are soloists was demonstrated by the fact that boy after boy sang solo passages easily and without any apparent effort. The diction in German and Latin was delightful and the folk songs were much enjoyed, as were the sacred selections taken from the world's great masses and oratorios. One of the most attractive numbers was the chorus of "The Messengers of Peace," from Wagner's "Rienzi." This elaborate composition was handled with skill and precision.

Voices Blend Admirably.

A quintet sang "Ascendit Deus," a capella, bringing out all the richness of Gallus' work, the five voices blending admirably and the rest of the singers providing a hushed accompaniment of beauty.

That the singers have histrionic as well as vocal ability was brought out in the presentation of "Bastien and Bastienne," by Mozart, with the entire ensemble in court costume. The tiny figures seemed like miniature actors and actresses and their acting was vivid and finished. The eternal boy escaped through the impersonation of a feminine character when the lad, taking the part of Bastienne, caught a bouquet thrown from the orchestra pit at the conclusion of the opera number, with the skill of a Babe Ruth or Walter Johnson. The audience laughed heartily.

Good luck, singing boys, so far from your homeland. May another Haydn and Schubert arise from your ranks to add fresh luster to your 500-year-old laurels as an organization.

Woman Fractures Hip in Fall.

Mrs. Emma L. Allmond, 62, Carrcraft, Del., suffered a fracture of her right hip yesterday when she tripped and fell while crossing Connecticut avenue at DeSales street. She is said to have stumbled over a sewer covering. She was treated at Emergency Hospital.

GIRL IN 'FAIR' STATE AFTER BRIDGE JUMP

With Legs Broken and Internal Injuries, She Has Chance to Survive.

Describing her condition as fair, Emergency Hospital physicians yesterday gave Miss Delphia Pollard, of Cathedral Mansions, 3000 Connecticut avenue northwest, a fighting chance to survive the 100-foot fall she took when she leaped from the railing of the Taft Bridge to the Rock Creek Valley below.

Miss Pollard, who is 25, was seen to walk to the bridge rail and jump early yesterday by a passing taxicab driver, who attempted to stop her. He discovered her below, still alive, and when he asked her why she did it, she replied, "Wouldn't you like to know?"

At the hospital she was treated for fractures of both legs and abdominal injuries. Her fall was thought to have been broken by the limbs of a tree. The young woman has been living with her brother-in-law and sister. She is from the southern part of North Carolina, and had been employed as a manager of laundry until about four months ago.

Man Is Ordered Held For Jury in Stabbing

Charged with murder Sunday night, George Alfred Gaither, 20, colored, of 206 I street southwest, was ordered held for the action of the grand jury in a verdict yesterday by the coroner's jury after an inquest in the death of Walter Garner, 32, of 27 Fifteenth street southeast, who was stabbed several times during an altercation at 487 Cullinane court southwest.

According to homicide squad detectives, Gaither signed a full confession to the murder, and his statements were corroborated by several witnesses to the altercation. Three colored men and a colored woman were also charged with murder, being held by the jury as accessories after fact.
